Silencer 'Only Slightly Effective,' Witnesses Say

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Defense witnesses testified Friday that a silencer made by Duane Pope was only slighty effective in reducing the loudness of the .22-caliber pistol allegedly used by Pope to kill three employes during the June 4 bank robbery in Big Springs.

The testimony, which rounded out the second week of the Federal District Court trial for the Kansan's life, was an apparent defense attempt to refute earlier prosecution allegations that the silencer was as effective as any commercially made.

Franklin Kjeldgaard, the government's prime witness and the only survivor of the holdup, has told the jury that he heard only "hissing sounds" as the gunman pumped bullets into his body and those of his uncle, Andreas Kjeldgaard, 77, Glenn Hendrickson, 60. and Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan, 35.

'Professional' Quality

An FBI agent Warren Johnson has testified that the home-made silencer was of "professional" quality. His remarks were ultimately stricken from the record by Judge Robert Van Pelt on the grounds that Johnson did not qualify as an expert.

Lincoln gun expert Allen J. Mart said he ran tests on the gun and used a sound meter to test loudness with and without a silencer.

Under questioning by defense attorney Robert Crosby, Mart testified that although the meter recorded a reduction of sound when the silencer was used, the actual sound was "almost as loud as without a silencer."

Readings Analyzed

Mart's readings were in turn analyzed by Waldo E. Minford, ass't professor of electrical engineering at the University of Nebraska

Minford testified that tests showed the silencer reduced by 30% the loudness of the pistol shot when high velocity ammunition was used, 25.5% in the case of low velocity ammunition.

The testimony was seen as a defense effort to counter suggestions that Pope expertly prepared for the shootings attributed to him.

However, both Mart and Minford admitted under cross-examination by U.S. Atty. Theodore Richling that the sound of the gun would be reduced by pressing it tightly against a human body, as evidence already admitted indicates was the case.

"Would the sound be less if this gun with the silencer was pressed into the back of a 35-year-old woman and the trigger pulled?" Richling asked Mart.

'Would Be Muffled'

Mart replied, "It would be considerably muffled."

Most of the trial day was given to testimony of McPherson (Kan.) College faculty members who pictured the recently graduated Pope as a student who dutifully carried out assignments but contributed little if any to classroom discussion and barely met the requirements for graduation.

Dean of Academic Affairs Merlin L. Frantz told jurors that Pope was placed on academic probation at the end of his freshman year until the middle of his junior year and that the youth's transcript showed Pope scoring 107 on an intelligence quotient (IQ) test where 100 is the mean.

"He was dependable, conscientious and a boy with a ready grin," Frantz said of Pope.

Testimony revealed that Pope once took a course which discussed the causes of homicide.

The Rev. Robert E. Keim, instructor of a criminology class Pope was enrolled in, said the course "tried to discover some of the conditions that lead persons to deviate behavior and the different influences that make people do things that are at odds with society."

He said Pope received a "C"—an average grade — in the course

Job Corps Youths Riot In Michigan

Kalamazoo, Mich. (UPI)—State, county and local police merged on Kalamazoo Friday night to break up a riot which caused extensive damage to the city's main street.

Police said 150 youth from the Fort Custer Job Corps Center about 20 miles east of here rioted while on an excursion to the city.

More than 50 police were used to break up the hour-long melee between the youths and local citizens

Sargent Shriver, Job Corps director, was in nearby Battle Creek to dedicate the Fort Custer Job Corps Center Friday.

The fighting apparently started on the north end of town at a school building and moved downtown.

Kalamazoo police said several plate glass windows were broken out of stores along Burdick St., the city's main thoroughfare

The youths were taken to a high school dance in town where they went on a rampage smashing classrooms and breaking windows along the Kalamazoo Mall. The excursion followed the dedication of the youths' new center by Sargent Shriver.

Soviets May Aid Indians' Fourth Five-Year Plan

Moscow (AP)—Premier Alexei N Kosygin met Friday with finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari of India, who is here to discuss Soviet aid.

A Soviet announcement said they talked "in a friendly atmosphere." An Indian embassy spokesman said later Krishnamachari discussed with Kosygin two main subjects:

Economic and technical cooperation in the Indian fourth five-year plan beginning April 1 with Soviet aid, and increasing trade so India can repay Soviet loans.

ANTI-RED SPEED IS NEEDED

. . . Wilson Says

London (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson declared Friday Britain must solve the Rhodesian problem quickly to stop adventurous communist nations from seizing a foothold in Africa.

At the same time, Wilson told the House of Commons that Prime Minister Ian Smith and his white Rhodesian ministers are using "their first taste of power to erect all the sickening apparatus of a police state."

The house heard Atty. Gen. Elwyn Jones warn Smith and his ministers that their defiance of Britain's authority is treason. Although Britain has abolished the death penalty for murder, an act of 1814 providing death for treason still is on the books.

Delicate Time

Whether such punishment would be contemplated for Smith and his associates if and when Britain reasserts its authority in Rhodesia was a subject none in authority wanted to discuss at this delicate stage.

Wilson told an attentive house the communists can be discouraged only by a bill before them that demonstrates "we are not bluffing" in cracking down on Rhodesia, which declared its independence Thursday.

The house gave first reading to the measure, which imposes sanctions, cuts off financial and economic ties, abrogates Rhodesian passports and in other ways isolates Smith's regime.

In Zambia, formerly Northern Rhodesia, troops were sped to the border with Rhodesia following President Kenneth Kaunda's state of emergency proclamation.

Crash Outside Seward Claims Omahan's Life

Seward—An Omaha man was killed and his brother seriously injured in a head-on collision on U.S. 34 two and one-half miles east of Seward Friday night.

The State Safety Patrol identified the dead man as Paul D. Fritz, 56, of Omaha. Injured with severe head and leg injuries was Leonard H, Fritz, 31, also of Omaha.

The Patrol said a car driven by Paul Fritz was passing another at the time of the crash. The car collided with one driven by Thomas McCormick, also of Omaha. The Fritz car was eastbound.

Leonard Fritz was listed in serious condition Friday night at Seward Memorial Hospital.

LITTLE CONNIE GULPED A NICKEL

Three-year-old Connie Culver gave her mother a start when she exclaimed, "My nickel's gone!" Her mother, Mrs. Gene Culver of Boulder, Colo., sped her to Community Hospital where physicians recoved the coin. Later Connie posed by the X-ray that shows the nickel at the top part of her windpipe. Connie plans to turn the nickel into ice cream which she figures will go down easier.

U.N. Council Is Unanimous

. . . AFRICANS STEAMED UP

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council, without a dissenting vote, Friday condemned the declaration of independence by the "racist minority" in Rhodesia. It called also on all countries to withhold all aid and recognition from the regime headed by Prime Minister Ian Smith.

The action came at an urgent session of the council, where the United States announced the slapping of an arms embargo and other tough measures against Rhodesia in support of British efforts to end the rebellion in their Central African colony.

French Abstain

The council vote was 10 to 0. France abstained on the grounds that the issue was not international dispute but primarily British.

The vote foreshadowed even tougher council action.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg disclosed the U. S. measures at the meeting, where African spokesman demanded use of military force by Britain to bring Smith's government to its knees.

But British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart ruled out force, and Goldberg made no specific mention of this. He said Britain might be asked to take "other appropriate steps as may prove necessary."

Ticked Off

Goldberg listed these additional U.S. measures:

—Withholding of establishment of any quota for the importation of sugar from Rhodesia in 1966.

—Suspension of action on all applications for U.S. government loans and credit guarantees to Rhodesia and discouragement to potential American investors in that country.

—Discouragement of all American private travel to Rhodesia.

"We are also considering what further steps might be taken," he added.

1,800 Americans

About 1.800 Americans live in Rhodesia, mostly missionaries and some businessmen and diplomats. American investments there now total about $56 million, mostly in mining enterprises.

Goldberg called on the entire U.N. membership to endorse all the economic actions taken by Britain against Rhodesia, to refuse to recognize the Smith regime, "and in particular to refrain from supplying it with armaments."

Stewart appealed to the council to condemn the Rhodesian independence declaration, withhold aid and diplomatic recognition, and to invoke the kind of penalties already announced by his country.

But for Africans urging use of military force he had these words:

"We do not believe that the use of military force can solve these problems. I invite those who ask for military force to look around the world today and see how many places violence and armed conflicts rage."

British Quality

He said to critics of his government, "Let me remind you of one quality of the British: Once we have decided on an action we do not hesitate to carry it through."

But Alex Quaison-Sackey, foreign minister of Ghana, asserted that Britain had only taken half-hearted measures against the Smith regime and added, "We demand here stronger and more effective measures to crush the rebellion."

At Jordan's request, the council invited South Africa and Portugal to take part in the debate. They were the only nations to vote against a resolution approved in the General Assembly Thursday night condemning the declaration of independence and demanding that Britain stamp out the rebellion.

The move reflected anxiety among Africans that the two countries might rally to Rhodesia's aid.

Northern Has Corps Investment

. . . BASE PROJECT MAY HELP MIDLANDS

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Northern Natural Gas Co. views its participation in the proposed urban Job Corps center for men at the Lincoln Air Force Base as an investment in the long-term growth of the Midlands.

"We can only grow as the area grows," J. O. Grantham pointed out.

Grantham, now manager of long-range manpower planning for Northern, would be director of the center.

Questioned as to why Northern would involve itself in such a major non-profit venture, Grantham noted that the company has "a big stake in the growth of the Midlands."

Area Development

Industrial and area development within Northern's marketing territory strengthens the company, he said.

Northern research has shown that "one of the factors which has been holding this area back in terms of industrial development is the need for technician manpower," Grantham said.

"We have not been turning out this type of manpower in sufficient quantities.

"So, Northern decided to see what might be done to improve this situation. Among other things, we decided to consider a Job Corps center, the first of its kind for the Midlands, to provide a reservoir of trained and trainable manpower.

Logical Team

"About this time, the availability of facilities at Lincoln Air Force Base become known, and we decided it would be logical to team up with the University of Nebraska on a job corps proposal."

Northern decided to adopt a non-profit approach partly because of the involvement of the University, Grantham said.

However, Northern (and the University) will be reimbursed for costs. The center would be operated by a non-profit organization known as Jobco.

A number of corporations have entered the Job Corps field as a business function for profit. Contracts for social-welfare programs have fixed profits between four and five per cent.

Stockholder Benefits

Northern's viewpoint is that its stockholders will derive benefits as the center helps push long-term growth in the Midlands, Grantham said. In those terms, the center represents an investment by Northern, he pointed out.

Excess funds derived from operation of the center will be "plowed back into non-profit ventures of an educational nature," Grantham said.

The budget for the center, once it reaches a peak of 2,000 corpsmen and 1,015 employes, would be about $12 million annually, Grantham estimated.

The estimate is based on projections of a fixed cost of about $6,000 per year per corpsman.

Actually, Grantham said, those costs represent a social investment which should result in future savings to the taxpayer.

The youths who would be trained each cost government an estimated $3,000 a year if they proceed through life without training and gainful employment, he noted. Among those costs are welfare payments and law enforcement.

"If we can turn him around and make him a good citizen, a consumer and a taxpayer, then we have reduced the costs to society," he noted.

If five per cent of the corpsmen were transformed into such useful citizens, Grantham said the center would break even in terms of costs to society.

But, he pointed out, early experience indicates that the centers are now "turning around" 70% to 80% of the corpsmen and transforming them into productive citizens.

'Most Sense'

Thus, he suggested, "of all the poverty programs, this one makes the most sense. This one is the most productive."

The Lincoln center would be the ninth urban job corps center in the country. Others are now located in Michigan, Texas, Indiana, New Jersey, Kentucky, Oregon, California and Massachusetts.

Northern remains convinced that it has "a good case" for establishment of the Lincoln center in terms of an ideal joint relationship with the University, excellent facilities and the air base and proven management capabilities, Grantham said.

It is hopeful the center will be in operation at Lincoln Air Force Base by sometime next summer.

British Quality

He said to critics of his government, "Let me remind you of one quality of the British: Once we have decided on an action we do not hesithat to carry it through."

But Alex Quaison-Sackey, foreign minister of Ghana, asserted that Britain had only taken half-hearted measures against the Smith regime and added, "We demand here stronger and more effective measures to crush the rebellion."

At Jordan's request, the council invited South Africa and Portugal to take part in the debate. They were the only nations to vote against a resolution approved in the General Assembly Thursday night condemning the declaration of independence and demanding that Britain stamp out the rebellion.

The move reflected anxiety among Africans that the two countries might rally to Rhodesia's aid.

Awards for student publications were given in three classifications with schools competing against others their own size. The presentations included:

Omaha World-Herald newspaper plaques: Class A, printed, The North Star, Omaha North, and The Rustler, Fremont, tied for first; honorable mention to the Islander, Grand Island. Class B printed, The Blazer, Fairbury; honorable mention to The Spud, Alliance. Class B, mimeographed, The Longhorn Notes, Kimball. Class C, mimeographed, The Hi Spot, Waverly.

KMTV (Omaha) yearbook trophy for Class A schools: The Rocket, Lincoln Northeast; honorable mention, The Shield, Lincoln Southeast.

Scottsbluff Star-Herald yearbook trophy for Class B schools: The Warrior, Schuyler; honorable mention, The Duke, York.

Omaha Sun newspapers yearbook trophy for Class C schools: The Viking, Waverly; honorable mention to The Rocket, Syracuse, and The Tutor, University High, Lincoln.

Scottsbluff High School received a certificate given by Gamma Alpha Chi, professional advertising sorority, for the best high school promotional or advertising project.

Three students received newspaper awards from the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute at Omaha for the best articles interpreting the health sciences. They were Mona Lyon of Madison, for the best news story: Judy McCoy of Neligh, best editorial, and Susie Jenkins of Lincoln Southeast, best feature article.

The Ridle Memorial Pin, presented to the outgoing NHSPA president, was given to Mrs. Verna Powers of Waverly High School.

McCook Teacher Voted School Press President

Mrs. Hope Rees of McCook Friday was elected president of the Nebraska High School Press Association at its 34th annual meeting at the University of Nebraska.

Verl Flack of Eagle, who teaches at Alvo-Eagle High School, was elected vice president, Miss Ellen Gast of Omaha North, treasurer, and Mrs. Marjorie Smith of Superior, secretary.

Mrs. Rees, who teaches at McCook High School, succeeds Mrs. Verna Powers of Waverly.

James Morrison, assistant professor of journalism at the University of Nebraska, will continue as executive secretary of the association.

A record 683 students and instructors attended the state convention.

C. J. Medlin, professor emeritus of journalism at Kansas State University, told yearbook editors they should treat all students fairly because yearbooks are kept forever.

J. K. Hvistendahl, a South Dakota State University professor of journalism, said high school newspapers should "focus attention on what is crucial and significant, what underlies the news."

Short Landing Blamed For Salt Lake Tragedy

Salt Lake City (AP) — A sleek jetliner, gliding through November's thin twilight to a landing at Salt Lake City, touched down short of a runway, bounced, skidded and twisted into a fiery nightmare, killing 40 of the 90 persons aboard.

"There's no doubt about it," said airport manager Joe Bergin of the Thursday dusk tragedy. "The plane hit the asphalt overrun area 300 to 400 feet short of the runway. The asphalt gives every indication of a hard landing."

Many of the 50 survivors—those capable of talking — seemed to agree. And there was no doubt about the existence of a yawning crater in the six-inch-thick asphalt coating at the end of the runway.

One airline official who declined use of his name said the nose wheel might have slammed into the ground, bent out of shape and caused the plane to serve.

United Air Lines, owner of the plane, said first that nose wheel failure was a possible contributing factor. Later a UAL spokesman here said it was probably failure of the main landing gear.

Until the actual touchdown, everything seemed normal. United Air Lines' Flight 227 from New York to San Francisco, via Cleveland, Chicago, Denver and Salt Lake made what most eyewitnesses said was a normal approach. The traffic control tower reported routine conversation with the pilot of the tri-jet Boeing 727.

The plane slammed down, bounced and hit again on the concrete runway and began swerving and skidding down the runway. Flames burst from the rear—"It looked like a big ball of fire came shooting out the back," said Don Cecala of Salt Lake City, who had landed his private aircraft minutes before.

Off Runway

The plane slipped off the runway onto a sandy patch while passengers scrambled through emergency exits to the ground. Some of those who didn't make it were heaped in the aisles, indicating they were heading for safety when panic jammed the exits. Others were strapped in their seats and, as one fireman put it, "were nothing but skeletons."

This was the second disaster in a Boeing 727 within a week. Last Monday night a 727 hit a hill while approaching the Cincinnati airport, killing all but four of the 62 aboard. Another 727 plunged into Lake Michigan last August.

But a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said, "At this point we can see no relationship between the three accidents."

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent a team to look into this one. A spokesman said it would probably take two weeks or more work at the scene.

BILL LINDERMAN

Rodeo Rider Is Presumed Dead In Crash

Denver, Colo. (AP)—Bill Linderman, 45, one of those presumed dead in the United Air Lines plane crash in Salt Lake City, was secretary-treasurer of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, with headquarters in Denver.

He was the first rodeo performer to win three world championships in one season. During his competitive years he was injured numerous times, including such serious hurts as a skull fracture and a broken neck.

Linderman was elected president of the cowboys' organization in 1951 and re-elected every year until he refused the post in 1957. He took the secretary-treasury position in 1962.

During his career, Linderman, who specialized in saddle bronco riding, won $439,451 in prize money and seven world titles.

C5A Probe Sparked By Talk Of Leak

Washington (UPI) — The Defense Department said Friday it was investigating to determine if information was leaked in advance about the award of the $2 billion C5A contract to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

On Sept. 29 and Sept. 30, the day of the official announcement, there was unusually heavy stock market trading among three firms in competition for the contract for C5A, the largest military jet transport plane in history.

Rep. Bob Dole, R-Kan., has been pressing for an investigation to determine if someone got an advance word that the big contract would go to Lockheed in Marietta, Ga.

Dole told the Pentagon earlier this month there is a probability that speculators with inside information may have profited from the government contract.

Replying to Dole, Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance said:

"We have directed that an investigation be conducted within the Department of Defense to determine the source of the premature release of this information."

This was taken to mean that the department considered there was indeed a leak. But a Pentagon spokesman denied it.

Dole noted that the stocks of Boeing and Douglas, the two losers, declined by several dollars a share in the two-day period before the public announcement. The Defense Department officially announced the award after the market closed at 2:30 p.m. CST. The Dow-Jones ticker carried word of the award at 2:09 p.m. the same day.

He said Defense Department investigators also had been working very closely with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with that agency's inquiry into the marketing aspect of the case.

CAUSE OF BIG BLACKOUT MAY EMERGE NEXT WEEK

Washington (AP) — Government and industry power experts expressed hope Friday that a detailed study next week of basic operating data of six companies and organizations may disclose the origin of last Tuesday's massive power failure in the Northeast.

As investigative sessions were recessed for the weekend, the six companies were asked to present their records so that a panel of experts can begin a study of them Monday morning.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, who is directing the sweeping inquiry ordered by President Johnson, was asked whether a final report could be made next week.

No Target Day

He said, "I don't have a target date. We will be in better shape to know after Monday or Tuesday."

Participants generally declined to discuss what is taking place behind the closed doors

It was learned, however, that one theory that keeps popping up is that trouble originated in the upper New York state-Ontario area where the Niagara power complex is the major source of supply.

It was explained that the "swing" of the power—the change from availability to deficit—as indicated by records was of such degree that major generating sources must have been involved

On Other Hand

But these same men noted also that this situation could have been a reaction caused by something that went wrong at some other point and affected facilities far removed from the point of origin.

An investigation of the power failure also is under way in Canada. Premier John Robarts said in Toronto that Ontario may sever its links with the North American Hydroelectric grid if the inquiry shows that further blackouts may be in prospect.

"Nobody seems to be quite able to say it couldn't happen again," Robarts told newsmen.

He said the present international hookup evidently has meant cheaper power for Ontario consumers.

Space Lab Astronauts Are Named

Los Angeles (UPI) — Six Air Force and two Navy pilots were named Friday as the first manned orbiting laboratory astronauts in a program to orbit man in a "shirt-sleeve" environment for as long as 30 days.

The eight are the first of 20 aerospace research pilots who will be trained in the $1.5 billion program which received a presidential go-ahead in August. The first manned flights will be in 1968.

Those Air Force pilots chosen were:

Maj. Michael J. Adams, 35, of Sacramento, Calif.; Maj. Albert H. Crews, 36, of Alexandria, La., originally chosen for the ill-fated Dyna-Soar project; Capt. Richard E. Lawyer, 33, of Inglewood, Calif.; Capt. Lachlan MacLeay, 34, of Redlands, Calif.; Capt. F. Gregory Neubeck, 33, of Washington, D.C., and Capt. James M. Taylor, 34, of Lewisville, Ark.

The Navy airmen picked for training at Edwards Air Force Base were Lt. John L. Finley, 29, of Memphis, Tenn., and Lt. Richard H. Truly, 28, of Meridian, Miss.

Tune Detective, Uncanny Spaeth, Succumbs At 80

New York (AP) — Sigmund Spaeth, who as the "Tune Detective" delighted radio audiences in the 1930s and 1940s, is dead at the age of 80.

His death brought to an end a career as author, editor, composer, lecturer and entertainer in the field of music in movies, radio and television.

Spaeth reached a peak of popularity, however, through an uncanny ability to trace the composition of popular songs back to earlier sources. As tune detective, he appeared, not only on radip, but also on the stage of Radio City Music Hall and other theaters.

As an example, Spaeth once dissected the old popular tune, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and found that it was composed of musical phrases from "Hallelujah Chorus," "My Bonnie Lies over the Ocean," "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls" and "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party."

LETHAL BARGE . . . held by huge strongback after being raised.

Tense Drama Of Chlorine Barge Ends In Safe Climax

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—A silt-coated barge and its lethal cargo of chlorine was lifted gently from the muddy bottom of the Mississippi River Friday, ending a tense drama begun by Hurrican Betsy.

The million-dollar salvage operation, two months in the planning, went off without a hitch.

Two hours were needed to raise the rust red barge from 60 feet beneath the surface. Another hour was required to inspect it to make certain the four white tanks containing 602 tons of chlorine were not damaged.

Stream Home

The the area's 30,000 residents were told the threat that had been with them constantly since the barge capsized and sank during the hurricane was ended. The thousands who evacuated the area began streaming home.

The barge had taken shelter here from the hurricane Sept. 9-10. It was one of scores sent to the bottom

President Johnson, warning that there was enough chlorine aboard to kill 40,000 people if released in a concentrated area, ordered an all-out effort to find and raise the barge.

More than 300 divers, sailors and other military personnel fought the tricky river currents to locate the barge just offshore from the Louisiana State University campus. The hunt took only days, but preparations for the lift took nearly two months

Divers Hampered

A derrick—tall as a 24-story building—was set up at the site and divers worked for days fastening heavy steel cables around the barge. They were hampered by the currents, sticky mud and absolute darkness 60 feet beneath the surface.

More than 100,000 gas masks were rushed to Baton Rouge, but were never issued to the public.

Two Army trains from Atlanta evacuated more than 700 sick and infirm to Pineville in central Louisiana. Two of the patients died enroute from what officials described as heart conditions.

All persons living within a five-mile radius of the barge were urged to leave home during the lift operation. Thousands did.

The bill for the salvage operation, expected to exceed $1 million, will be sent to the Office of Emergency Planning.

'Big Red 1' Troops Kill 146 Reds

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Hard-hitting troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division battled Viet Cong shock forces in heavy fighting 40 miles north of Saigon Friday and a body count revealed 146 of the Red enemy were killed, a U.S. military spokesman said Saturday.

He added that about 200 additional guerrillas were estimated to have been slain in the battle that erupted Friday morning and continued with sniper fire through the night.

Losses among the Americans, a 700-man reinforced battalion of the "Big Red One" division, were described as light.

The U.S. troops were bolstered by planes and artillery that slashed into the attacking enemy.

Site of the fight was on Highway 13 at the western fringe of the communist-controlled D Zone jungle.

The American detachment had deployed there Thursday night to secure the highway, scene of many bloody ambushes, when a Viet Cong battalion of perhaps 500 men attacked. Shells from mortars and rifles rained on the American troops, and the Viet Cong hung on tenaciously.

Late Friday night, a Viet Cong force attacked elements of the 1st Cavalry Division near Pleiku, about 240 miles north of Saigon, in an assault that lasted about an hour.

In the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, a young American civilian aid worker, Peter Hunting, 24, of Oklahoma City, Okla., was shot to death in a Viet Cong ambush while making a 20-mile drive from Vinh Long to Can Tho.

Cuba Sealift Starts Today

Key West, Fla. (AP)—A sealift of Cuban refugees stranded in their homeland by the halt of a hodge-podge exodus by small boats will begin Saturday.

The 85-foot excursion boat Skipper K, chartered by the U.S. government, sails from Key West to pick up the first load of some 2,000 Cubans waiting to leave.

The Skipper K will be joined Monday by another U.S.-chartered vessel, the New Pan American, a 75-footer en route to Key West from its home port of Biloxi, Miss. Each boat has a capacity of about 150 passengers.

The refugees are being moved from the small fishing port of Camarioca to the deep water port of Matanzas about 60 miles east of Havana, by the Cuban government. Camarioca was closed as a departure point Nov. 3, but the refugees remained in the camp there

The sealift was announced in Washington by Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer. He said it is expected to continue through most of this month.

A spokesman for the State Department's Cuban affairs office in Miami said the sealift hopefully would be finished before the air ferry of some 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month gets under way early in December.

"We would prefer not to have an overlap," the spokesman said

Harry Byrd Jr. Is New Va. Senator

HARRY FLOOD BYRD JR.

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Harry Flood Byrd Jr.—state senator, newspaper executive and orchardist—was named Friday to succeed his famous father in the U.S. Senate.

Virginia's Gov. Albertis S. S. Harrison Jr. made the appointment only a day after he announced at a similar special news conference the retirement of the 78-year-old senior senator.

Byrd Jr., 50, loomed as the most likely candidate for the post after the disclosure was made that his father was bowing out for health reasons after 32 years in the Senate.

Harrison praised the qualifications of the younger Byrd and said he was a man stepped in the political philosophy of his conservative father, who had been re-elected for a sixth term last year by a record vote.

"The philosophy of Sen. Byrd Sr. is known to the average voter in the most isolated hamlet," Harrison said and reviewed the retiring senator's views on fiscal responsibility and states' rights.

Byrd, ruddy-cheeked and vigorous—the hallmark of his father during most of his 50 years in Virginia's public life will serve under the interim appointment until after the regular election in November 1966.

At that time, Virginians will also elect for the full six-year term for the seat now held by A. Willis Robertson.

Robertson said he will run for re-election.

Russia Aims At Venus Again

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union launched another Venus probe Friday.

A 2,123-pound unmanned spacecraft was started on a journey of 3½ months toward the mysteriously clouded planet. An official announcement said everything was going well.

The only other announced Soviet probe of Venus, in 1961, failed.

According to Western space watchers, the Russians have also tried and failed at least six other times to send probes to Venus.

More than 100,000 gas masks were rushed to Baton Rouge, but were never issued to the public.

Two Army trains from Atlanta evacuated more than 700 sick and infirm to Pineville in central Louisiana. Two of the patients died enroute from what officials described as heart conditions.

All persons living within a five-mile radius of the barge were urged to leave home during the lift operation. Thousands did.

The bill for the salvage operation, expected to exceed $1 million, will be sent to the Office of Emergency Planning.

'Big Red 1' Troops Kill 146 Reds

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Hard-hitting troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division battled Viet Cong shock forces in heavy fighting 40 miles north of Saigon Friday and a body count revealed 146 of the Red enemy were killed, a U.S. military spokesman said Saturday.

He added that about 200 additional guerrillas were estimated to have been slain in the battle that erupted Friday morning and continued with sniper fire through the night.

Losses among the Americans, a 700-man reinforced battalion of the "Big Red One" division, were described as light.

The U.S. troops were bolstered by planes and artillery that slashed into the attacking enemy.

Site of the fight was on Highway 13 at the western fringe of the communist-controlled D Zone jungle.

The American detachment had deployed there Thursday night to secure the highway, scene of many bloody ambushes, when a Viet Cong battalion of perhaps 500 men attacked. Shells from mortars and rifles rained on the American troops, and the Viet Cong hung on tenaciously.

Late Friday night, a Viet Cong force attacked elements of the 1st Cavalry Division near Pleiku, about 240 miles north of Saigon, in an assault that lasted about an hour.

In the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, a young American civilian aid worker, Peter Hunting, 24, of Oklahoma City, Okla., was shot to death in a Viet Cong ambush while making a 20-mile drive from Vinh Long to Can Tho.

Cuba Sealift Starts Today

Key West, Fla. (AP)—A sealift of Cuban refugees stranded in their homeland by the halt of a hodge-podge exodus by small boats will begin Saturday.

The 85-foot excursion boat Skipper K, chartered by the U.S. government, sails from Key West to pick up the first load of some 2,000 Cubans waiting to leave.

The Skipper K will be joined Monday by another U.S.-chartered vessel, the New Pan American, a 75-footer en route to Key West from its home port of Biloxi, Miss. Each boat has a capacity of about 150 passengers.

The refuges are being moved from the small fishing port of Camarioca to the deep water port of Matanzas, about 60 miles east of Havana, by the Cuban government. Camarioca was closed as a departure point Nov. 3, but the refuges remained in the camp there.

The sealift was announced in Washington by Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer. He said it is expected to continue through most of this month.

A spokesman for the State Department's Cuban affairs office in Miami said the sealift hopefully would be finished before the air ferry of some 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month gets under way early in December.

"We would prefer not to have an overlap," the spokesman said.

Harry Byrd Jr. Is New Va. Senator

HARRY FLOOD BYRD JR.

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Harry Flood Byrd Jr.—state senator, newspaper executive and orchardist—was named Friday to succeed his famous father in the U.S. Senate.

Virginia's Gov. Albertis S. S. Harrison Jr. made the appointment only a day after he announced at a similar special news conference the retirement of the 78-year-old senior senator.

Byrd Jr., 50, loomed as the most likely candidate for the post after the disclosure was made that his father was bowing out for health reasons after 32 years in the Senate.

Harrison praised the qualifications of the younger Byrd and said he was a man stepped in the political philosophy of his conservative father, who had been re-elected for a sixth term last year by a record vote.

"The philosophy of Sen. Byrd Sr. is known to the average voter in the most isolated hamlet," Harrison said and reviewed the retiring senator's views on fiscal responsibility and states' rights.

Byrd, ruddy-cheeked and vigorous—the hallmark of his father during most of his 50 years in Virginia's public life will serve under the interim appointment until after the regular election in November 1966.

At that time, Virginians will also elect for the full six-year term for the seat now held by A. Willis Robertson.

Robertson said he will run for re-election.

Russia Aims At Venus Again

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union launched another Venus probe Friday.

A 2,123-pound unmanned spacecraft was started on a journey of 3½ months toward the mysteriously clouded planet. An official announcement said everything was going well.

The only other announced Soviet probe of Venus, in 1961, failed.

According to Western space watchers, the Russians have also tried and failed at least six other times to send probes to Venus.

Net Ag Income For U.S. May Hit $14 Billion

Washington (AP)—The government said Friday that net farm income this year should reach $14 billion and predicted profits for 1966 that could exceed the record high profits of 13 years ago.

The Agriculture Department summary said an estimated 8% rise in farm revenue cash flow over last year was due to sharply increased prices for meat animals, including chickens

And looking to next year, the department saw the likelihood of a further gain of from $250 million to $500 million in spendable farm income after outlays for goods and service, production and taxes. The 1952 high for realized net farm income was $14.4 billion.

The government based this "optimistic outlook" for 1966 agricultural economy on expected strong foreign and domestic demand for farm products and on direct payments to farmers that could be 25% above the $2 8 billion total estimated for 1965

The department said this steep rise in payments to farmers should be achieved without raising the costs of farm commodity programs to taxpayers generally.

The official forecast for 1966 indicated cash income from farm sales at about the 1965 level, and predicted rises in farm operating and overhead costs. But these, the government said, will be offset by larger crop marketings, higher federal payments and decrease in the number of farmers.

Gross farm income in 1965 may total a record high $44 25 billion, the government reported, and foresaw a 1966 gross of above $45 billion. Factors entering into this prediction included a smaller-than-average rise in production costs and prices paid for goods and services.

Final Trial Arguments Due Monday

. . . In Bribery Case

Omaha (AP)—Defense attorneys rested in the John B. Coleman case late Friday clearing the way for final arguments Monday.

The last of the three defendants to be heard, real estate man Ronald Abboud, did not take the stand in his own behalf The other two, former city councilmen Ernest Adams and Stephen Novak, had testified previously.

Each of the defendants is charged with soliciting bribes.

Coleman a Chicago investor, had told of alleged bribe demands made when he sought rezoning for an Omaha building project.

Mrs. Abboud On Stand

Ephraim Marks, Abboud's attorney, called only two witnesses They were Abboud's attractive wife and real estate developer Howard Larsen

Mrs Abboud told of frequent calls to her husband from Coleman.

Larsen said the going rate of profit for construction projects similar to the one proposed by Coleman is 10% of the gross.

Earlier testimony had been that Abboud was to get the contract for Coleman's project at a profit of 10 to 15%.

Larsen also testified that he had recommended that three houses on the tract for which rezoning was sought be demolished. There had been previous testimony about a request by Novak that he be given one of the houses.

In his appearance, Novak denied that he had asked or received bribes from Coleman, or had talked to others about it.

Asked if he was present when alleged payoffs were discussed he replied:

"I wasn't there when they talked about paying people"

Houston Trip

Part of Novak's testimony dealt with a trip to Houston taken by himself and C. R (Barney) Buttner. He said that during that trip he examined a townhouse development like the one proposed by Coleman and objected to only one thing Novak. a former plasterer. said some other material should be substituted for stucco which was used on the Houston building. He said Coleman's architect promised a substitution would be made

Novak testified he made it clear that if the change were made he would vote in favor of the rezoning required for the Coleman project

Mrs. Rowena Johnson, who acts as secretary for the City Planning Board, tesitifed that a rough draft of the minutes of that body showed that one of its members, Milton Livingston, had suggested that City Council and planning board members should visit projects elsewhere similar to the one Coleman had proposed for Omaha.

Buttner, Novak's companion on the Houston trip, was a member of the planning board at the time

Much of the testimony during the 14 days of the trial centered around tape recordings which witnesses testified were made with the aid of hidden microphones in Coleman's hotel room Tapes were played for the jury earlier in the week but they were not permitted to see transcripts made of the tapes made earlier by a court rporter.

Amadeus String Quartet Wins Standing Ovation

By RUTH ARDIS

Seldom has any concert heard in Lincoln brought forth the enthusiasm shown at Sheldon Gallery Friday evening as the world-renowned Amadeus Quartet of London inaugurated the first season of the Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music.

The standing ovation and continuing applause at the close of the concert was a tribute to the excellence of the chamber group.

The group consists of Norbert Brainin, violin; Sigmund Nissel, violin; Peter Schidloff, viola; and Martin Lovett, cello. In the seventeen years they have been playing together, the members have achieved an ensemble that is notable for its blend, technical perfection, and superb phrasing

Freshness

But more than this, they bring to their music a certain freshness and enthusiasm which is apparent to the audience. This zest was especially noticeable in their exciting performance of the Bartok Quartet No. 4.

The Bartok has a tremendous appeal through its uncanny dramatic sense. Seemingly the whole gamut of unusual devices were used by the composer to achieve these effects; percussive bowing effects, barbaric rhythms, and unusual pizzicato effects often made it seem that a large group was performing.

At other times, notably in the third movement, the upper strings displayed unusual delicacy and control in tonal shadings above the dramatic cello solo All the exacting demands of this tremendous work were played with ease and confidence by the group.

Master Composer

The concert opened with Mozart's Quartet in C Major, K 465. known as the "Dissonant" because of its bold harmonic scheme. This quartet is the last of a series dedicated to Haydn, and shows Mozart as a master composer of both the gay and the sad The contrapuntal lines were well balanced and the entire performance was delicately nuanced to the last detail

The lyricism and tenderness of Brahms' "A Minor Quartet" made this an excellent companion piece to the Bartok and Mozart Quartets. The splendid tone of the ensemble was most apparent in this work. However, sensitivity to both the lyrical and energetic aspects of the work and the fine rapport and balance of of the players were most responsible for their exciting performance.

As an encore the group played Schubert's "Quartett-Satz" Members of the Amadeus Quartet expressed their pleasure at the marvelous acoustics of the Sheldon Art Gallery and their enthusiastic reception by the audience.

Due to lack of freight cars and elevator storage space approximately 115,000 bushels of milo are piled on the ground at Friend. And Leonard Torson, manager of the Friend Grain Company, estimates near 15,000 bushels on the ground at his elevator.

Team To Inspect Mead Next Week

Minden (AP) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Friday a team from the joint committee on atomic energy will inspect the former ordnance plant site at Mead, Neb., Nov. 17, to consider its possibilities for a proposed 200 billion electron volt proton accelerator.

Sen. Curtis, a member of the committee, said he had been informed that the inspection team also will visit sites in Tennessee, New Mexico, Arizona, Oregon, Washington and Montana.

Members of the inspection team will be John A. Erlewine, assistant general manager for operations of the AEC, team leader; Paul Reardon, site evaluation accelerator physicist; Charles I. York, engineer, division of construction; and Dr. Bruce Cork, scientific representative, experimental physicist, Lawrence Radiation Laboratory.

Curtis said the $340-million project will involve a circular machine one mile in diameter, and will require about 200,000 kilowatts of power It will require about 3,000 acres of land and about seven years will be needed for construction The proton accelerator plant will require a staff of about 2,000

Curtis said that this accelerator, if constructed would be the world's highest energy "atom smasher." It is a basic research device to obtain scientific data on the constituent parts of the nucleus of the atom.

"It would accelerate the charged protons around a circular band to a speed of approximately the speed of light —186,000 miles per second," he said. "When the protons achieve their full energy 200 billion electron volts (BEV) they are directed by magnetic fields to hit targets of matter. The debris of matter, antimatter and energy in the form of gamma rays, etc., that is produced is then analyzed to obtain information on the basic sub-atomic structure of matter"

Net Ag Income For U.S. May Hit $14 Billion

Washington (AP)—The government said Friday that net farm income this year should reach $14 billion and predicted profits for 1966 that could exceed the record high profits of 13 years ago.

The Agriculture Department summary said an estimated 8% rise in farm revenue cash flow over last year was due to sharply increased prices for meat animals, including chickens.

And looking to next year, the department saw the likelihood of a further gain of from $250 million to $500 million in spendable farm income after outlays for goods and service, production and taxes. The 1952 high for realized net farm income was $14.4 billion.

The government based this "optimistic outlook" for 1966 agricultural economy on expected strong foreign and domestic demand for farm products and on direct payments to farmers that could be 25% above the $2.8 billion total estimated for 1965.

The department said this steep rise in payments to farmers should be achieved without raising the costs of farm commodity programs to taxpayers generally.

The official forecast for 1966 indicated cash income from farm sales at about the 1965 level, and predicted rises in farm operating and overhead costs. But these, the government said, will be offset by larger crop marketings, higher federal payments and decrease in the number of farmers.

Gross farm income in 1965 may total a record high $44.25 billion, the government reported, and foresaw a 1966 gross of above $45 billion. Factors entering into this prediction included a smaller-than-average rise in production costs and prices paid for goods and services.

"It would accelerate the charged protons around a circular band to a speed of approximately the speed of light —186,000 miles per second," he said. "When the protons achieve their full energy 200 billion electron volts (BEV) they are directed by magnetic fields to hit targets of matter. The debris of matter, antimatter and energy in the form of gamma rays, etc., that is produced is then analyzed to obtain information on the basic sub-atomic structure of matter."

Amadeus String Quartet Wins Standing Ovation

By RUTH ARDIS

Seldom has any concert heard in Lincoln brought forth the enthusiasm shown at Sheldon Gallery Friday evening as the world-renowned Amadeus Quartet of London inaugurated the first season of the Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music.

The standing ovation and continuing applause at the close of the concert was a tribute to the excellence of the chamber group.

The group consists of Norbert Brainin, violin; Sigmund Nissel, violin; Peter Schidloff, viola; and Martin Lovett, cello. In the seventeen years they have been playing together, the members have achieved an ensemble that is notable for its blend, technical perfection, and superb phrasing.

Freshness

But more than this, they bring to their music a certain freshness and enthusiasm which is apparent to the audience. This zest was especially noticeable in their exciting performance of the Bartok Quartet No. 4.

The Bartok has a tremendous appeal through its uncanny dramatic sense. Seemingly the whole gamut of unusual devices were used by the composer to achieve these effects; percussive bowing effects, barbaric rhythms, and unusual pizzicato effects often made it seem that a large group was performing.

At other times, notably in the third movement, the upper strings displayed unusual delicacy and control in tonal shadings above the dramatic cello solo. All the exacting demands of this tremendous work were played with ease and confidence by the group.

Master Composer

The concert opened with Mozart's Quartet in C Major, K. 465, known as the "Dissonant" because of its bold harmonic scheme. This quartet is the last of a series dedicated to Haydn, and shows Mozart as a master composer of both the gay and the sad. The contrapuntal lines were well balanced and the entire performance was delicately nuanced to the last detail.

The lyricism and tenderness of Brahms' "A Minor Quartet" made this an excellent companion piece to the Bartok and Mozart Quartets. The splendid tone of the ensemble was most apparent in this work. However, sensitivity to both the lyrical and energetic aspects of the work and the fine rapport and balance of of the players were most responsible for their exciting performance.

As an encore the group played Schubert's "Quartett-Satz." Members of the Amadeus Quartet expressed their pleasure at the marvelous acoustics of the Sheldon Art Gallery and their enthusiastic reception by the audience.

Special recognition was given to Lingo and J. C. Swinbank, Extension agronomist, both of whom recently retired.

Swinbank, a crops specialist, was nicknamed "Mr. Wheat" by members of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association. We Need All Kinds

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia announced his retirement after more than 30 years of public service, it created quite a stir. The announcement was felt the most, perhaps, in Virginia where Byrd has long had firm control of the Democratic party. The situation might be likened to Nebraska and the Democratic party here if Gov. Frank Morrison were to retire, a development no one expects, of course.

Beyond his state of Virginia, however, Byrd has extended his influence into the nation's capital, particularly through his chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee. The Virginia Democrat has long been known as the Senate watchdog, a man with a real obsession for economy. This has not always made him popular with the administration in the White House, and those in Washington with programs that need a congressional appropriation will probably smile a little at the thought of Byrd's not returning. But whether you agreed with Byrd or not, you would have to grant that his service has been valuable to the nation.

Watchdog Of Senate

With our form of government, we need people who present a variety of points of view. The record would not show many major programs that Byrd has defeated with his insistence upon economy. He was dedicated to economy for the sake of economy alone and was not often swayed by arguments of need. To save money was the greatest need, as he saw it.

But you can be equally sure that this nation's spending record would have been greater than it is were it not for Senator Byrd. The senator demanded that the fat be fried out of everything that came before his committee and that included the entire budget of the administration. Those who came to Congress with spending plans knew they had to tangle with Byrd on every penny they wanted.

The national budget in spite of Byrd's presence still has climbed to more than $100 billion a year but it would have been even higher without the Virginia Democrat. The Congress needs the kind of men represented by Senator Byrd, just as it needs the idealism of such men as Sen. J. William Fulbright and the understanding of such men as Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon is a thorn in the side of current U.S. foreign policy and his attitudes are not shared by us but his voice, in the end, is a constructive one.

The same thing can be said and is found on local levels of government. Sen. Terry Carpenter in the state Legislature is a thorn in just about everyone's side at some time or another but he has contributed a lot to state government. Even more than specific programs, Carpenter has demanded of others an awareness that produces better government. You don't slip anything by the Scottsbluff senator. He keeps everybody honest and that is a contribution all in itself.

Of course, such people as are mentioned here must have some ability, too, because a position outside the main stream of events is largely a waste in the hands of an incapable person. There are extremists, for instance, who have lost all effectiveness because they fail to appreciate the rules of logic, the art of politics and the power of compromise. This latter kind makes little contribution in their representation of a minority point of view

But to be without the Byrds, Fullbrights, Dirksens, Morses, Carpenters and other like them would be to be without dissent and that would mean life in a vacuum. Most of us have no difficulty appreciating those things and people who are in agreement with us but it takes a lot of courage to welcome the other side of the picture.

When someone takes issue with you, it is difficult to smile, to let him have his say and to persist in a calm manner with your own point of view. And yet, it is at least as important to do this as it is to be right. From a practical point of view, it is important because one who cannot tolerate dissent is likely to lose perspective and his powers of reasoning. Then, he has lost his argument, whether right or wrong.

Impetus For Alertness

But more important, disagreement is the stimulation that man needs to keep him alert and thinking. With unanimity of thought, there are no fresh ideas to bring men along the road of progress, very little chance of realizing and rectifying the shortcomings of things as they exist. This is one of the greatest weaknesses of the communist system; it doesn't allow for penetrating questioning of decisions that have been made and programs that have been inaugurated. As a result, when something is wrong, it must be lived with just the same and the loss if often viewed through time in terms of years.

This is why it is so important that no single political party in this country ever reach such eminence or success at the polls that it can afford to ignore the opposition. In resigning his public office, Senator Byrd reminds us all of the tremendous value of personal diversity that is an inherent part of our culture.

Time For New Determination

It seems as if it started only yesterday but the 1965-66 school year is already one-quarter completed. Throughout the public and private schools in Lincoln, the past week has been marked by parent-teacher visits in which the progress or lack of it on the part of students has been discussed and analyzed.

Some students by now have discovered that at their rate of achievement, they are not going to advance next year from the grade in which they are now working. Some of these students are undoubtedly giving a lot of thought to the future.

Unfortunately, one thing that might appeal to them at the moment is the thought of dropping out of school. They are old enough to get a job and can be earning money and living an adult life with a headstart on the rest of their classmates. Such a thought is a highly deceiving one.

Despite the differences in starting time, the college graduate earns nearly two-thirds more than a high school graduate. The high school graduate earns three-fourths more than those lower on the academic scales than that. The unemployment rate among current graduates age 16 to 24 is 8.2 percent while the rate for dropouts of the same age is 13.6.

Yet, during the current school year, it is estimated that 750,000 boys and girls will drop out of school without having attained a high school diploma. If you are one of them, you will be among the unfortunate. Rather than the time to quit, this is the time to change your ways, to work harder and to reach those acceptable grade levels that will mean so much to you in the years ahead.

The Canadian Election

The recent Canadian national election, now over, has all the appearance of a great and costly effort without any appreciable movement.

It was called by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson because his Liberal party lacked six votes in parliament to hold a majority, and to get anything done about its program it had to beg votes from the minority parties, which were not always forthcoming. Pearson believed that an election would give his party the majority required to give his "Great Society" program a stronger footing.

It didn't work out that way. His party gained two votes in the balloting but remained still four votes short of the minimum desired.

But at the same time former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative party picked up nine new seats to run its string to 99. The Liberals have but 129. They needs 133 for a majority in a House of 265 seats.

Curiously enough there is little difference in the programs of the Liberals and Conservatives. That was not the issue. The issue was one of which party could best fulfill the goals.

But the voting did not follow the issue. Rather it followed long standing regional lines.

In the Quebec region the French-British issue sent the people to the polls. In agricultural central Canada a natural conservatism triumphed, leaving only a coalition of Pacific Coast Canada which has strong urban influence and east central Canada which also has such interest

The problem in Canada is that its sections are too remote from one another at this stage. And the election did not change that.

Editorial Of The Day

Rural America

From The Washington Post

That the President has appointed a commission to study the problems of agriculture at the same time that he signed the farm bill is reassuring. No one ought to imagine that the four-year farm legislation, important as it is, will solve all the problems of rural America. It is to be hoped that the commission will produce in the 18 months allotted to it a real evaluation of the ills of rural life and the means of dealing with them.

It has become an urban cliche that the country has been giving the farmers a hayride at taxpayers' expense, but the truth is that city dwellers have been abundantly and cheaply fed and clothed at prices so low that rural America has deteriorated. The rising efficiency of agriculture has not reflected itself in a better life for farmers or for the non-farm residents of rural America. Those not needed to produce our food and fibers have been emigrating to the great cities at an incredible rate. Some of this emigration has contributed the vitality and growth responsible for urban development. But some of it has added to the city slums millions of disenfranchised, disinherited and dispropertied people without experience or training to fit them for urban living. Millions of them would have been better off in their rural environment if employment could have been furnished there.

It will be a good thing if the commission construes its charter broadly. We need an objective look not only at the economic problems related to farming but at the conditions of rural life.

Joint Chiefs Would Have Hanoi Bombed

WASHINGTON — While New York firemen were putting ladders up to the Queensboro bridge to bring 850 people stranded in subway trains down to safety; while other New Yorkers were spending all night in subways or climbing twenty flights of stairs to their apartments; while ambulances were running out of gas because gas station pumps were stymied by lack of electricity; while a fire because of failing water supply could have ignited the worst disaster in American history; the Joint Chiefs of Staff had been urging President Johnson to undertake a policy in North Viet Nam which could precipitate World War III.

The Joint Chiefs had long wanted Johnson to let them bomb the Hanoi-Haiphong military complex and mine Haiphong harbor in order to blow up Russian ships arriving there with military aid.

Recently they have been critical of the President because he delayed a decision.

The President has delayed because such an operation could precipitate World War III and more paralysis in American cities than New York saw this week.

In another part of the world, Paris, French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, returning from Moscow, reported to the American embassy that the Russians have been doing their best to persuade the North Vietnamese to end the war.

The Russians are telling North Vietnamese leaders that it will take more than guerrilla ambush and communist propaganda to drive the Americans out of South Viet Nam.

The French foreign minister, however, has reported to American diplomats that Soviet influence is potent, presistent, and in the end will prevail.

There's quite a backstage snafu over whether Sen. Bobby Kennedy, D-N.Y., should be invited to Venezuela to address the University of Caracas.

Two Washington columnists published a recent story that the State Department was holding up the invitation to the senator from New York whereas Venezuela was urging him to come.

Just the opposite is the fact. Ambassador Enrique Tejera-Paris in Washington has been holding back any invitation to the peppery brother of the late president, not the State Department. The latter has nothing to do with it.

Venezuelans, however, are a little nervous about what might happen if Sen. Kennedy addressed an institution which has strong communist cells, at a time when the United States has been under vigorous attack as a result of our military intervention in the Dominican Republic.

Expect Sen. Long To Head Finance

WASHINGTON — With the retirement of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, the leadership of Senate Finance Committee falls to Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana. Long, son of the late Huey, is protective of his state's oil industry but shares his father's liberal and sometimes populist tendencies on most other economic matters

Long's advancement holds out the prospect of a brisk contest for Democratic whip, a post Long won last January.

Whip speculation starts with Long's defeated rivals, Sens. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and John Pastore of Rhode Island. Monroney entered that race late after Long had collected a fat list of endorsements. Pastore was thought by some of his colleagues to be too fiery and defiant for what is essentially a job of persuasion and conciliation

Senators now moving up to the power positions on committees add the names of Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Vance Hartke of Indiana. Both represent areas of rising Democratic strength which act as a counterpoise to the once-dominant South.

The quaint tribal customs of the Senate dictate that the men who become chairmen of the major standing committees are automatically political powerhouses and wield awesome influence within their strongholds. It ain't necessarily so.

Byrd's political philosophy ran counter to the trend of American destiny from the moment he entered the Senate on March 4, 1933. Like Richard Russell of Georgia who followed him eight days later, he had been a promising young governor of his Southern state. Both men were caught in the forced draft of the depression which enabled Franklin Roosevelt to establish the New Deal.

Both were and are segregationists, but Russell managed to find much in the Roosevelt program which he could support, notably in the fields of defense and agriculture. Byrd liked no part of Roosevelt and has been a supreme favorite of unyielding conservatives.

He spoke well for them from his Finance Committee platform, but within the committee, whatever their sentiments, few cared or dared to follow him. Finance is more conservative than most Senate committees, in part because senators have preferred to let it save them from themselves when it came to voting taxes

So armed Democratic leaders, who were nearly always Southerners, happily cooperated and assigned to it more conservative members to keep up the good work. President Johnson, when leader, was not the least of these cooperators.

But the encroachment of more liberal Democrats on the Finance preserve could not be prevented because it became apparent that a too-conservative majority would only suffer reverses on the Senate floor. Byrd bore this trend with dignity and his invariable courtesy and personal generosity.

His colleagues held him in great affection, including many who rarely voted with him but respected his honesty and integrity

ON TARGET

Next week comes the Atomic Energy Commission inspection team for a look at the proposed Mead site for the big proton accelerator.

Walton

Needless to say, the inspectors will be treated like royalty.

At stake: location of the $348 million scientific prize and untold benefits in terms of payroll, prestige and economic fall-out.

Location at Mead is certainly a long shot, when you consider the quality and quantity of national competition bidding for the facility.

But the long-shots sometimes win — and only when they enter the race.

It's been a year and a week since the 1964 general election which ripped Nebraska from its one-party foundations.

How can you tell whether its sudden transformation into a two-party state was permanent, or only the temporary legacy of a man named Barry Goldwater? No absolute answer, of course, will be forthcoming for another year, until the general election of 1966.

But the mood within both parties seems to indicate a general impression that Nebraskans are likely to witness more of the former than the latter in next year's elections.

Political leaders in both parties view the expected Curtis-Morrison Senate clash as an uncomfortably close one. And if a Senate race in Nebraska is tight, that represents a considerable gain for the Democrats.

Leaders in both parties view Clair Callan as the favorite in his congressional race for re-election, and that represents a substantial plus for the Democrats—because no Democratic congressman has won re-election in Nebraska in the past three decades.

Based on that kind of political outlook, it would appear that Democrats may have made permanent advances in strength as it is applied to races for national office.

Whether such gains—or the illusion of Democratic progress—carries over into contests for state office seems less clear to leaders in both parties.

Today, Val Peterson would be rated as the favorite in a clash with Phil Sorensen. Republican leaders appear confident. Some Democratic spokesmen, but not all, rate Sorensen as a strong contender with a good chance of victory.

Actually, the question of two-party strength could be reversed in terms of the governor's race. In view of the fact that Republicans have not won since 1956, the proper query might be: Can the GOP re-establish two-party government at the state level?

A key factor in the gubernatorial scrap could be a primary contest between Sorensen and Terry Carpenter. The winner of that primary would be greatly strengthened by the race.

Surely, such a Democratic gubernatorial primary would upstage the Republican match.

But, more important is the fact that such a contest would probably be centered on the question of a state income tax. Carpenter has indicated that he would like to battle Sorensen on that issue.

Now, if Terry ran and won on the issue, he could emerge as the champion of the anti-broadened tax base voters.

But, if Sorensen ran against that issue and won, it might tend to destroy — or, at least, diminish — the income tax as a major issue in the general election.

So there are reasons why Sorensen and Carpenter might both welcome a primary fight.

The blood drive which will be undertaken on the University of Nebraska campus next month for U.S. servicemen is further evidence of strong student support for American policy in Viet Nam.

Discussion with some student leaders this week produced the estimate that at least nine out of 10 students support U.S. policy.

Protestors have been few—and they have actually served to awaken the latent supporters and to force the majority to take a position for the first time.

Yule Decorations

Bennet, Neb.

Since Christmas will be upon us within a short time, I thought the following appropriate at this time.

People go to so much work in getting their stores, yards and homes in festive moods for the Yuletide season—which is all well and good. Then on the day after Christmas, everything reminiscent of the holiday is torn down and put away in such a hurry and frenzy, as if it were evil to see these decorations after Christmas.

When I was a girl, the week between Christmas and the New Year was very unhurried and unharried. When we'd go to town to visit the relatives after Christmas, we could still admire the holiday decorations and trimmings in the stores and homes.

Why not put up the Christmas decorations in the stores and homes a week later than usual this year, and keep them up a week longer so that people can enjoy them for a few days after Christmas, also? At this time people are more relaxed and they can truly enjoy the beauty of Christmas.

I for one will have our tree lights and other holiday decorations up until New Year's Day. Anybody else with me?

MRS. J.

For some eight years and more, our community has been especially enriched by the broadcasts of Radio Station KFMQ. It is without question one of the best FM outlets in the country. Its programming has stressed two categories: quality music (from the most intricate classics to the most entertaining jazz), and public affairs (from the problems of mental health in Lincoln to the question of mass culture in the United States). The presiding genius at KFMQ — one is tempted to say "genie" has been one of Lincoln's most talented and serious citizens — Mr. Herbert Burton.

It comes as a distinct shock to learn that the station has been sold. The thousands of loyal listeners who depend on KFMQ for quality programs hope and expect that its new owner will continue in the tradition now so firmly established by its founder. I should imagine that many others join me in the hope that Herb will remain among us in some new capacity, continuing by other means to make living in Lincoln more rewarding because of his stewardship. If it is his intention to move on, we ought to wish him well. He would not soon be forgotten. He met the public need as Elijah in the guise of Gideon.

Will We Learn?

Lincoln, Neb.

We had better call it "Armistice Day" again, for this was a meaning that we could all appreciate, all, at least, who took part on that first Armistice Day. It meant that the savage slaughter had been brought to a halt, that sanity and civilization should commence again, trying to make man into something better than an irrational beast.

This year, on November 11, it was 47 years since we thought, surely in great majorities of people finally the futility of war had been learned. But the lesson faded so quickly! In less than a generation the ghastly tragedy was to be re-enacted with more inhuman refinements. And once again, after a period of excited cackling like a chicken yard after a marauder's devastating attack, we settled down to inane scratching and clucking. What else do we know?

Well, we know how to construct a mechanical thing that can carry us to the moon and far beyond, responding to fantastic controls. Still we do not understand the human mechanism well enough to keep it from destroying others of its kind.

We Need All Kinds

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia announced his retirement after more than 30 years of public service, it created quite a stir. The announcement was felt the most, perhaps, in Virginia where Byrd has long had firm control of the Democratic party. The situation might be likened to Nebraska and the Democratic party here if Gov. Frank Morrison were to retire, a development no one expects, of course.

Beyond his state of Virginia, however, Byrd has extended his influence into the nation's capital, particularly through his chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee.

Watchdog Of Senate

The Virginia Democrat has long been known as the Senate watchdog, a man with a real obsession for economy. This has not always made him popular with the administration in the White House, and those in Washington with programs that need a congressional appropriation will probably smile a little at the thought of Byrd's not returning. But whether you agreed with Byrd or not, you would have to grant that his service has been valuable to the nation.

With our form of government, we need people who present a variety of points of view. The record would not show many major programs that Byrd has defeated with his insistence upon economy. He was dedicated to economy for the sake of economy alone and was not often swayed by arguments of need. To save money was the greatest need, as he saw it.

But you can be equally sure that this nation's spending record would have been greater than it is were it not for Senator Byrd. The senator demanded that the fat be fried out of everything that came before his committee and that included the entire budget of the administration. Those who came to Congress with spending plans knew they had to tangle with Byrd on every penny they wanted.

The national budget in spite of Byrd's presence still has climbed to more than $100 billion a year but it would have been even higher without the Virginia Democrat. The Congress needs the kind of men represented by Senator Byrd, just as it needs the idealism of such men as Sen. J. William Fulbright and the understanding of such men as Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon is a thorn in the side of current U.S. foreign policy and his attitudes are not shared by us but his voice, in the end, is a constructive one.

The same thing can be said and is found on local levels of government. Sen. Terry Carpenter in the state Legislature is a thorn in just about everyone's side at some time or another but he has contributed a lot to state government. Even more than specific programs, Carpenter has demanded of others an awareness that produces better government. You don't slip anything by the Scottsbluff senator. He keeps everybody honest and that is a contribution all in itself.

Of course, such people as are mentioned here must have some ability, too, because a position outside the main stream of events is largely a waste in the hands of an incapable person. There are extremists, for instance, who have lost all effectiveness because they fail to appreciate the rules of logic, the art of politics and the power of compromise. This latter kind makes little contribution in their representation of a minority point of view.

But to be without the Byrds, Fullbrights, Dirksens, Morses, Carpenters and other like them would be to be without dissent and that would mean life in a vacuum. Most of us have no difficulty appreciating those things and people who are in agreement with us but it takes a lot of courage to welcome the other side of the picture.

When someone takes issue with you, it is difficult to smile, to let him have his say and to persist in a calm manner with your own point of view. And yet, it is at least as important to do this as it is to be right. From a practical point of view, it is important because one who cannot tolerate dissent is likely to lose perspective and his powers of reasoning. Then, he has lost his argument, whether right or wrong.

But more important, disagreement is the stimulation that man needs to keep him alert and thinking.

Impetus For Alertness

With unanimity of thought, there are no fresh ideas to bring men along the road of progress, very little chance of realizing and rectifying the shortcomings of things as they exist. This is one of the greatest weaknesses of the communist system; it doesn't allow for penetrating questioning of decisions that have been made and programs that have been inaugurated. As a result, when something is wrong, it must be lived with just the same and the loss if often viewed through time in terms of years.

This is why it is so important that no single political party in this country ever reach such eminence or success at the polls that it can afford to ignore the opposition. In resigning his public office, Senator Byrd reminds us all of the tremendous value of personal diversity that is an inherent part of our culture.

Time For New Determination

It seems as if it started only yesterday but the 1965-66 school year is already one-quarter completed. Throughout the public and private schools in Lincoln, the past week has been marked by parent-teacher visits in which the progress or lack of it on the part of students has been discussed and analyzed.

Some students by now have discovered that at their rate of achievement, they are not going to advance next year from the grade in which they are now working. Some of these students are undoubtedly giving a lot of thought to the future.

Unfortunately, one thing that might appeal to them at the moment is the thought of dropping out of school. They are old enough to get a job and can be earning money and living an adult life with a head-start on the rest of their classmates. Such a thought is a highly deceiving one.

Despite the differences in starting time, the college graduate earns nearly two-thirds more than a high school graduate. The high school graduate earns three-fourths more than those lower on the academic scales than that. The unemployment rate among current graduates age 16 to 24 is 8.2 percent while the rate for dropouts of the same age is 13.6.

Yet, during the current school year, it is estimated that 750,000 boys and girls will drop out of school without having attained a high school diploma. If you are one of them, you will be among the unfortunate. Rather than the time to quit, this is the time to change your ways, to work harder and to reach those acceptable grade levels that will mean so much to you in the years ahead.

The Canadian Election

The recent Canadian national election, now over, has all the appearance of a great and costly effort without any appreciable movement.

It was called by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson because his Liberal party lacked six votes in parliament to hold a majority, and to get anything done about its program it had to beg votes from the minority parties, which were not always forthcoming. Pearson believed that an election would give his party the majority required to give his "Great Society" program a stronger footing.

It didn't work out that way. His party gained two votes in the balloting but remained still four votes short of the minimum desired.

But at the same time former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative party picked up nine new seats to run its string to 99. The Liberals have but 129. They needs 133 for a majority in a House of 265 seats.

Curiously enough there is little difference in the programs of the Liberals and Conservatives. That was not the issue. The issue was one of which party could best fulfill the goals.

But the voting did not follow the issue. Rather it followed long standing regional lines.

In the Quebec region the French-British issue sent the people to the polls. In agricultural central Canada a natural conservatism triumphed, leaving only a coalition of Pacific Coast Canada which has strong urban influence and east central Canada which also has such interest.

The problem in Canada is that its sections are too remote from one another at this stage. And the election did not change that.

Editorial Of The Day

Rural America

From The Washington Post

That the President has appointed a commission to study the problems of agriculture at the same time that he signed the farm bill is reassuring. No one ought to imagine that the four-year farm legislation, important as it is, will solve all the problems of rural America. It is to be hoped that the commission will produce in the 18 months allotted to it a real evaluation of the ills of rural life and the means of dealing with them.

It has become an urban cliche that the country has been giving the farmers a hayride at taxpayers' expense, but the truth is that city dwellers have been abundantly and cheaply fed and clothed at prices so low that rural America has deteriorated. The rising efficiency of agriculture has not reflected itself in a better life for farmers or for the non-farm residents of rural America. Those not needed to produce our food and fibers have been emigrating to the great cities at an incredible rate. Some of this emigration has contributed the vitality and growth responsible for urban development. But some of it has added to the city slums millions of disenfranchised, disinherited and dispropertied people without experience or training to fit them for urban living. Millions of them would have been better off in their rural environment if employment could have been furnished there.

It will be a good thing if the commission construes its charter broadly. We need an objective look not only at the economic problems related to farming but at the conditions of rural life.

Joint Chiefs Would Have Hanoi Bombed

WASHINGTON — While New York firemen were putting ladders up to the Queensboro bridge to bring 850 people stranded in subway trains down to safety; while other New Yorkers were spending all night in subways or climbing twenty flights of stairs to their apartments; while ambulances were running out of gas because gas station pumps were stymied by lack of electricity; while a fire because of failing water supply could have ignited the worst disaster in American history; the Joint Chiefs of Staff had been urging President Johnson to undertake a policy in North Viet Nam which could precipitate World War III.

The Joint Chiefs had long wanted Johnson to let them bomb the Hanoi-Haiphong military complex and mine Haiphong harbor in order to blow up Russian ships arriving there with military aid.

Recently they have been critical of the President because he delayed a decision.

The President has delayed because such an operation could precipitate World War III and more paralysis in American cities than New York saw this week.

In another part of the world, Paris, French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, returning from Moscow, reported to the American embassy that the Russians have been doing their best to persuade the North Vietnamese to end the war.

The Russians are telling North Vietnamese leaders that it will take more than guerrilla ambush and communist propaganda to drive the Americans out of South Viet Nam.

The French foreign minister, however, has reported to American diplomats that Soviet influence is potent, presistent, and in the end will prevail.

There's quite a backstage snafu over whether Sen. Bobby Kennedy, D-N.Y., should be invited to Venezuela to address the University of Caracas.

Two Washington columnists published a recent story that the State Department was holding up the invitation to the senator from New York whereas Venezuela was urging him to come.

Just the opposite is the fact. Ambassador Enrique Tejera-Paris in Washington has been holding back any invitation to the peppery brother of the late president, not the State Department. The latter has nothing to do with it.

Venezuelans, however, are a little nervous about what might happen if Sen. Kennedy addressed an institution which has strong communist cells, at a time when the United States has been under vigorous attack as a result of our military intervention in the Dominican Republic.

Expect Sen. Long To Head Finance

WASHINGTON — With the retirement of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, the leadership of Senate Finance Committee falls to Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana. Long, son of the late Huey, is protective of his state's oil industry but shares his father's liberal and sometimes populist tendencies on most other economic matters.

Long's advancement holds out the prospect of a brisk contest for Democratic whip, a post Long won last January.

Whip speculation starts with Long's defeated rivals, Sens. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and John Pastore of Rhode Island. Monroney entered that race late after Long had collected a fat list of endorsements. Pastore was thought by some of his colleagues to be too fiery and defiant for what is essentially a job of persuasion and conciliation.

Senators now moving up to the power positions on committees add the names of Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Vance Hartke of Indiana. Both represent areas of rising Democratic strength which act as a counterpoise to the once-dominant South.

The quaint tribal customs of the Senate dictate that the men who become chairmen of the major standing committees are automatically political powerhouses and wield awesome influence within their strongholds. It ain't necessarily so.

Byrd's political philosophy ran counter to the trend of American destiny from the moment he entered the Senate on March 4, 1933. Like Richard Russell of Georgia who followed him eight days later, he had been a promising young governor of his Southern state. Both men were caught in the forced draft of the depression which enabled Franklin Roosevelt to establish the New Deal.

Both were and are segregationists, but Russell managed to find much in the Roosevelt program which he could support, notably in the fields of defense and agriculture. Byrd liked no part of Roosevelt and has been a supreme favorite of unyielding conservatives.

He spoke well for them from his Finance Committee platform, but within the committee, whatever their sentiments, few cared or dared to follow him. Finance is more conservative than most Senate committees, in part because senators have preferred to let it save them from themselves when it came to voting taxes.

So armed, Democratic leaders, who were nearly always Southerners, happily cooperated and assigned to it more conservative members to keep up the good work. President Johnson, when leader, was not the least of these cooperators.

But the encroachment of more liberal Democrats on the Finance preserve could not be prevented because it became apparent that a too-conservative majority would only suffer reverses on the Senate floor. Byrd bore this trend with dignity and his invariable courtesy and personal generosity.

His colleagues held him in great affection, including many who rarely voted with him but respected his honesty and integrity.

Location at Mead is certainly a long shot, when you consider the quality and quantity of national competition bidding for the facility.

It's been a year and a week since the 1964 general election which ripped Nebraska from its one-party foundations.

How can you tell whether its sudden transformation into a two-party state was permanent, or only the temporary legacy of a man named Barry Goldwater? No absolute answer, of course, will be forthcoming for another year, until the general election of 1966.

But the mood within both parties seems to indicate a general impression that Nebraskans are likely to witness more of the former than the latter in next year's elections.

Political leaders in both parties view the expected Curtis-Morrison Senate clash as an uncomfortably close one. And if a Senate race in Nebraska is tight, that represents a considerable gain for the Democrats.

Leaders in both parties view Clair Callan as the favorite in his congressional race for re-election, and that represents a substantial plus for the Democrats—because no Democratic congressman has won re-election in Nebraska in the past three decades.

Based on that kind of political outlook, it would appear that Democrats may have made permanent advances in strength as it is applied to races for national office.

Whether such gains—or the illusion of Democratic progress—carries over into contests for state office seems less clear to leaders in both parties.

Today, Val Peterson would be rated as the favorite in a clash with Phil Sorensen. Republican leaders appear confident. Some Democratic spokesmen, but not all, rate Sorensen as a strong contender with a good chance of victory.

Actually, the question of two-party strength could be reversed in terms of the governor's race. In view of the fact that Republicans have not won since 1956, the proper query might be: Can the GOP re-establish two-party government at the state level?

A key factor in the gubernatorial scrap could be a primary contest between Sorensen and Terry Carpenter. The winner of that primary would be greatly strengthened by the race.

Surely, such a Democratic gubernatorial primary would upstage the Republican match.

But, more important is the fact that such a contest would probably be centered on the question of a state income tax. Carpenter has indicated that he would like to battle Sorensen on that issue.

Now, if Terry ran and won on the issue, he could emerge as the champion of the anti-broadened tax base voters.

But, if Sorensen ran against that issue and won, it might tend to destroy — or, at least, diminish — the income tax as a major issue in the general election.

So there are reasons why Sorensen and Carpenter might both welcome a primary fight.

The blood drive which will be undertaken on the University of Nebraska campus next month for U.S. servicemen is further evidence of strong student support for American policy in Viet Nam.

Discussion with some student leaders this week produced the estimate that at least nine out of 10 students support U.S. policy.

Protestors have been few—and they have actually served to awaken the latent supporters and to force the majority to take a position for the first time.

Yule Decorations

Bennet, Neb.

Since Christmas will be upon us within a short time, I thought the following appropriate at this time.

People go to so much work in getting their stores, yards and homes in festive moods for the Yuletide season—which is all well and good. Then on the day after Christmas, everything reminiscent of the holiday is torn down and put away in such a hurry and frenzy, as if it were evil to see these decorations after Christmas.

When I was a girl, the week between Christmas and the New Year was very unhurried and unharried. When we'd go to town to visit the relatives after Christmas, we could still admire the holiday decorations and trimmings in the stores and homes.

Why not put up the Christmas decorations in the stores and homes a week later than usual this year, and keep them up a week longer so that people can enjoy them for a few days after Christmas, also? At this time people are more relaxed and they can truly enjoy the beauty of Christmas.

I for one will have our tree lights and other holiday decorations up until New Year's Day. Anybody else with me?

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Elders Will Influence Consumer Market

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "Do you think the growing numbers of older people will create new markets for certain consumer items?"

A. Yes. There'll be growing demands for heating and cooling devices since older people are more sensitive to temperature changes There'll be new demands for strained and easily digestible foods, vitamins, hearing aids and eye glasses Rug makers will find a demand for slip-proof qualities in rugs, and bathroom manufacturers will find a demand for tubs which provide seats and non-skid bottoms And the travel and hotel industries will flourish because older people love to travel This will mean new opportunities for luggage makers, souvenir manufacturers and travel agencies The possibilities are endless

Q. "My husband is 76 and still insists on working six hours a day as cashier in the restaurant he started half a century ago and which our son is now quite capable of managing If he retired today we'd have at least $600 a month to live on. I think he should quit and enjoy life What can I do about him?"

A. Stop worrying He obviously enjoys stomping around the business he created and it's unlikely that he'd find greater fun in globe-trotting or anything else He probably agrees with Oscar Mayer, late head of the meat packing firm who, on his 90th birthday, was asked why he didn't retire. He replied, "The feeling that I'm still of some use in this world is worth more to me than all the green benches in St. Petersburg, Fla "

A. "I retired last year at 66 from my work as a pharmacist. After reading a magazine article on houseboats my wife and I are thinking of selling our home, buying a houseboat, and taking up life in a quiet harbor near Miami what do you think of the idea?"

A. Sounds interesting, but as a general rule one shouldn't sell his home and embark on a totally different way of living until he has given it a trial. I suggest you close up your house, rent a houseboat for a few months, and see if you really want to play sailors the rest of your life.

Q. "It's been said that older people wield a great voting potential and could swing an election What are the facts?"

A. Folks 60 years of age and over comprise more than 20 percent of the total eligible voting population While they're not yet sufficiently well-organized to vote as a bloc they nevertheless represent a great influence on national elections Many political strategists believe that President Johnson's firm advocacy of Medicare rallied millions of Republican elders to vote for him and the Democratic ticket in the last presidential election

Q. "When is the best time to acquire a nest egg to help finance retirement?"

A. Between the ages of 40 and 65 Ideally a person should start putting aside a fixed amount each payday beginning as soon as he starts work But prior to 40 most folks find it difficult to save anything as there are heavy expenses in purchasing a home and starting a family After 40 most men receive their highest pay checks and are in the best position to save for retirement

Court Affirms New Trial In Condemnation Damages Tiff

State Supreme Court judges Friday affirmed a Chase County District Court ruling which granted a new trial for owners of a ranch on grounds the jury incorrectly assessed damages suffered when the State Roads Department took part of the land by eminent domain

The Roads Department condemned a little more than 54 acres of the 2 240-acre Blobaum ranch in Chase County for highway purposes, and the jury assessed damages at $11 612

The ranch owners, Clarence Blobaum and others, were granted a new trial after the judge rules that the jury assessment of damages was too low

The Roads Department appealed to the Supreme Court

The high court noted that the condemned land runs roughly through the middle of the ranch, with cropland on both sides although most of the ranch is pasture

The court said a real estate appraiser for the ranch owners estimated the damages at between $38 580 and $43 408, while two appraisers for the state estimated damages at $9,500 and $10 195

The Supreme Court noted it will not reverse a lower court order unless the ruling had no "tenable ground" and the court said the district court, in this case acted within its discretion

In other rulings Friday, the court

—Upheld the Douglas County District court's dismissal of an appeal in another highway condemnation case because the appeal notice was not filed within the statutory time limit

The high court said the Board of Appraisers filed its return on April 18, 1963, but the land owners Louis Weiner and others, did not file their notice of appeal until June 14 1963, after the 30 day time limit

—Ordered a new trial to determine the amount of hospital and surgical benefits due Hartmann Vackner, 71, from the Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co

The Dodge County District Court issued a summary judgment against Vackner after the insurance company cancelled his policy alleging he had incorrectly reported his medical history to the firm

The high court in effect ruled that the mistakes by Backner had been honest ones

—Affirmed the Buffalo County District Court in a dispute over the estate of Marie L Hauschild who died in February of last year

The lower court admitted the will to probate but Mrs Daisy Bays a daughter of the deceased appealed to the high court contending the will should not be admitted to probate because the deceased lacked testamentary capacity when the will was executed

—Reversed a Douglas County District Court finding in a divorce action between Mary Jean Houghton and James R Houghton

Mrs Houghton originally filed for divorce on Oct 10 1962 contending extreme cruelty on the part of her spouse She asked for custody of their one child, Alice

She subsequently became pregnant and on June 11 1963 filed an amended petition alleging that because of her husband's promises the two had resumed marital relations She asked for custody of both children child support and alimony

Houghton in a cross-petition claimed the second child was not his and asked for custody of the children on grounds of adultery

The district court ruled against Houghton but the Supreme Court in a lengthy opinion concluded that the second child was not Houghton's

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Elders Will Influence Consumer Market

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "Do you think the growing numbers of older people will create new markets for certain consumer items?"

A. Yes. There'll be growing demands for heating and cooling devices, since older people are more sensitive to temperature changes. There'll be new demands for strained and easily digestible foods, vitamins, hearing aids and eye glasses. Rug makers will find a demand for slip-proof qualities in rugs, and bathroom manufacturers will find a demand for tubs which provide seats and non-skid bottoms. And the travel and hotel industries will flourish because older people love to travel. This will mean new opportunities for luggage makers, souvenir manufacturers and travel agencies. The possibilities are endless.

Q. "My husband is 76 and still insists on working six hours a day as cashier in the restaurant he started half a century ago and which our son is now quite capable of managing. If he retired today we'd have at least $600 a month to live on. I think he should quit and enjoy life. What can I do about him?"

A. Stop worrying. He obviously enjoys stomping around the business he created and it's unlikely that he'd find greater fun in globe-trotting or anything else. He probably agrees with Oscar Mayer, late head of the meat packing firm who, on his 90th birthday, was asked why he didn't retire. He replied, "The feeling that I'm still of some use in this world is worth more to me than all the green benches in St. Petersburg, Fla."

A. "I retired last year at 66 from my work as a pharmacist. After reading a magazine article on houseboats my wife and I are thinking of selling our home, buying a houseboat, and taking up life in a quiet harbor near Miami. what do you think of the idea?"

A. Sounds interesting, but as a general rule one shouldn't sell his home and embark on a totally different way of living until he has given it a trial. I suggest you close up your house, rent a houseboat for a few months, and see if you really want to play sailors the rest of your life.

Q. "It's been said that older people wield a great voting potential and could swing an election. What are the facts?"

A. Folks 60 years of age and over comprise more than 20 percent of the total eligible voting population. While they're not yet sufficiently well-organized to vote as a bloc they nevertheless represent a great inluence on national elections. Many political strategists believe that President Johnson's firm advocacy of Medicare rallied millions of Republican elders to vote for him and the Democratic ticket in the last presidential election.

Q. "When is the best time to acquire a nest egg to help finance retirement?"

A. Between the ages of 40 and 65. Ideally, a person should start putting aside a fixed amount each payday beginning as soon as he starts work. But prior to 40 most folks find it difficult to save anything as there are heavy expenses in purchasing a home and starting a family. After 40 most men receive their highest pay checks and are in the best position to save for retirement.

If you would like a booklet "Starting a Small Retirement Business" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins At Forty," c-o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Court Affirms New Trial In Condemnation Damages Tiff

State Supreme Court judges Friday affirmed a Chase County District Court ruling which granted a new trial for owners of a ranch on grounds the jury incorrectly assessed damages suffered when the State Roads Department took part of the land by eminent domain.

The Roads Department condemned a little more than 54 acres of the 2,240-acre Blobaum ranch in Chase County for highway purposes, and the jury assessed damages at $11,612.

The ranch owners, Clarence Blobaum and others, were granted a new trial after the judge rules that the jury assessment of damages was too low.

The Roads Department appealed to the Supreme Court.

The high court noted that the condemned land runs roughly through the middle of the ranch, with cropland on both sides, although most of the ranch is pasture.

The court said a real estate appraiser for the ranch owners estimated the damages at between $38,580 and $43,408, while two appraisers for the state estimated damages at $9,500 and $10,195.

The Supreme Court noted it will not reverse a lower court order unless the ruling had no "tenable ground," and the court said the district court, in this case, acted within its discretion.

In other rulings Friday, the court:

—Upheld the Douglas County District court's dismissal of an appeal in another highway condemnation case because the appeal notice was not filed within the statutory time limit.

The high court said the Board of Appraisers filed its return on April 18, 1963, but the land owners, Louis Weiner and others, did not file their notice of appeal until June 14, 1963, after the 30-day time limit.

—Ordered a new trial to determine the amount of hospital and surgical benefits due Hartmann Vackiner, 71, from the Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co.

The Dodge County District Court issued a summary judgment against Vackiner after the insurance company cancelled his policy alleging he had incorrectly reported his medical history to the firm.

The high court in effect ruled that the mistakes by Backiner had been honest ones.

—Affirmed the Buffalo County District Court in a dispute over the estate of Marie L. Hauschild, who died in February of last year.

The lower court admitted the will to probate, but Mrs. Daisy Bays, a daughter of the deceased, appealed to the high court contending the will should not be admitted to probate because the deceased lacked testamentary capacity when the will was executed.

—Reversed a Douglas County District Court finding in a divorce action between Mary Jean Houghton and James R. Houghton.

Mrs. Houghton originally filed for divorce on Oct. 10, 1962, contending extreme cruelty on the art of her spouse. She asked for custody of their one child, Alice.

She subsequently became pregnant and on June 16, 1963, filed an amended petition alleging that because of her husband's promises the two had resumed marital relations. She asked for custody of both children, child support and alimony.

Houghton in a cross-petition claimed the second child was not his and asked for custody of the children on grounds of adultery.

The district court ruled against Houghton, but the Supreme Court in a lengthy opinion concluded that the second child was not Houghton's.

The high court granted custody of the children to their mother but reduced the lower court's alimony judgment.

Teachers' Negotiation Discussed

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Moves to obtain professional identification for teachers and precautionary measures against labor union involvement dominated discussion here Friday of a Nebraska State Education Association conference highlighting professional negotiations and teacher salaries.

Pat Churchill, field representative for the Minnesota Education Association, told more than 80 local NSEA chapter presidents and salary committee chairmen that the "teaching profession is confronted with a critical choice:

"Is it going to be collective bargaining under the labor code or cooperative determination and professional negotiation under the educational code?" he asked.

"Our committment is to children in the classroom and to our profession and the elevation of our profession through the combined efforts of both the administration and teachers," Churchill declared.

Cooperative

"Our professional concept is cooperative determination."

Churchill urged classroom teachers to seek professional negotiation agreements with local school boards "as a cooperative approach to policy development."

But policy development should not be confused with policy adoption or administration, he emphasized.

Professional negotiation agreements, requesting recognition as the representative for certified teachers in a district, is a "good way to start out" with bargaining and in seeking professional status, the Minnesota delegate pointed out.

Legislation Needed

Some state legislation is needed in Nebraska before professional negotiations can be realized here, NSEA Research Director Paul Belz explained.

Churchill went on to tell the Nebraska NSEA members that the agreements, in effect, are precautionary against a labor union gaining bargaining rights with boards of education.

He compared the labor union collective bargaining with professional negotiations, labeling the negotiations "better" because professional status removed teachers and school boards from the operation of labor laws; included all members of the profession including teachers and supervisors; and included use of regular administrative channels.

Administration Agent

Collective bargaining, Churchill reported, relegates the administration to an agent of the management (board).

However, salary consultant to the National Education Assn., Ron Daly, emphasized that negotiators should only compromise with boards of education — those who make the final decision. Proposals should be presented to the administration, he said, but not to find acceptable terms.

Daly spoke to the NSEA group on developing a strategy of negotiation, revealing tactics for presentation, compromise, preparation and record taking.

21st Nuclear Test Held In Nevada

Washington (AP)—A nuclear test of low yield—meaning equivalent to less than 20,000 tons of TNT—was conducted underground Thursday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site, the commission announced.

It was the 21st announced weapons-related test of 1965.

There have also been one "Plowshare" test aimed at peaceful uses of nuclear energy, and one test detection experiment.

High Prices Hit Mexico

Mexico City (AP)—Food prices here rose to their second highest 1965 level in October, the Chamber of Commerce reported. The index jumped 2.3 points to 119.9, a shade under the 120 for June and 2.7 over October 1964.

90 Methodist Youths Here For Parley

Ultimate motivation behind daily work is the primary concern of some 90 Nebraska youths Friday and Saturday attending the Methodist Vocational Guidance Conference here.

Dr. L. E. Mattingly, chairman of the department of religion at Nebraska Wesleyan University, keynoted the two-day meeting Friday night with an address on "The Biblical Basis of Vocation."

Saturday the high school sophomores, juniors and seniors will have a chance to interview with representatives of Christian vocations in order to determine opportunities and needs in career fields.

Several panels of counselors will lead interest groups generally divided in areas of ministry, teaching, missionary service, medicine, business and government, science, agriculture and mechanics, and social work.

Superintendent of the Omaha District of the Methodist Church, the Rev. Melvon L. Ireland, also is scheduled to address the conference.

Teachers' Negotiation Discussed

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Moves to obtain professional identification for teachers and precautionary measures against labor union involvement dominated discussion here Friday of a Nebraska State Education Association conference highlighting professional negotiations and teacher salaries.

Pat Churchill, field representative for the Minnesota Education Association, told more than 80 local NSEA chapter presidents and salary committee chairmen that the "teaching profession is confronted with a critical choice:

"Is it going to be collective bargaining under the labor code or cooperative determination and professional negotiation under the educational code?" he asked.

"Our committment is to children in the classroom and to our profession and the elevation of our profession through the combined efforts ot both the administration and teachers," Churchill declared.

Cooperative

"Our professional concept is cooperative determination."

Churchill urged classroom teachers to seek professional negotiation agreements with local school boards "as a cooperative approach to policy development."

But policy development should not be confused with policy adoption or administration, he emphasized.

Professional negotiation agreements, requesting recognition as the representative for certified teachers in a district, is a "good way to start out" with bargaining and in seeking professional status, the Minnesota delegate pointed out.

Legislation Needed

Some state legislation is needed in Nebraska before professional negotiations can be realized here, NSEA Research Director Paul Belz explained.

Churchill went on to tell the Nebraska NSEA members that the agreements, in effect, are precautionary against a labor union gaining bargaining rights with boards of education.

He compared the labor union collective bargaining with professional negotiations, labeling the negotiations "better" because professional status removed teachers and school boards from the operation of labor laws; included all members of the profession including teachers and supervisors; and included use of regular administrative channels.

Administration Agent

Collective bargaining, Churchill reported, relegates the administration to an agent of the management (board).

However, salary consultant to the National Education Assn., Ron Daly, emphasized that negotiators should only compromise with boards of education — those who make the final decision. Proposals should be presented to the administration, he said, but not to find acceptable terms.

Daly spoke to the NSEA group on developing a strategy of negotiation, revealing tactics for presentation, compromise, preparation and record taking.

21st Nuclear Test Held In Nevada

Washington (AP)—A nuclear test of low yield—meaning equivalent to less than 20,000 tons of TNT—was conducted underground Thursday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site, the commission announced.

It was the 21st announced weapons-related test of 1965. There have also been one "Plowshare" test aimed at peaceful uses of nuclear energy, and one test detection experiment.

High Prices Hit Mexico

Mexico City (AP)—Food prices here rose to their second highest 1965 level in October, the Chamber of Commerce reported. The index jumped 2.3 points to 119.9, a shade under the 120 for June and 2.7 over October 1964.

90 Methodist Youths Here For Parley

Ultimate motivation behind daily work is the primary concern of some 90 Nebraska youths Friday and Saturday attending the Methodist Vocational Guidance Conference here.

Dr. L. E. Mattingly, chairman of the department of religion at Nebraska Wesleyan University, keynoted the two-day meeting Friday night with an address on "The Biblical Basis of Vocation."

Saturday the high school sophomores, juniors and seniors will have a chance to interview with representatives of Christian vocations in order to determine opportunities and needs in career fields.

Several panels of counselors will lead interest groups generally divided in areas of ministry, teaching, missionary service, medicine, business and government, science, agriculture and mechanics, and social work.

Superintendent of the Omaha District of the Methodist Church, the Rev. Melvon L. Ireland, also is scheduled to address the conference.

Columbus Meeting Set To Organize Chapter

The State Game Commission Friday announced conservation groups will meet in Columbus Saturday to organize a Nebraska chapter of the National Wildlife Federation.

The commission said the meeting will be held at 9 a.m. in the Consumers Public Power District auditorium, and interested persons are invited to attend.

TALK of the town

There will be some eye witnesses from Nebraska at the game in Stillwater, Okla., this afternoon, but generally speaking the Cornhusker fans will be playing it by ear in cars, in offices and perhaps in a more comfortable fashion — at home. But the game play is at Stillwater, and our news this ayem is about Lincoln.

* * *

We learned, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. John S. Roberts and their three months-old daughter, Sarah, came from Littleton, Colo., last Monday to spend the current week as the guests of Mr. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walton B. Roberts.

* * *

And since Thanksgiving is but 10 days away we decided to find out who had holiday plans.

It is to be a big day down in Fredonia, Kan. — provided the weatherman is cooperative. It seems that there is to be a gathering of the Holland clan at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brian O'Brian on Thursday, and planning to go from Lincoln are Mrs. O'Brian's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holland, who will be accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Ludwick and their children, Scott, Todd and Shawn.

Joining the group in Fredonia will be Mr. and Mrs. Holland's daughter, Mrs. Lynn Wieland and her daughter, Lyle. Mrs. Wieland and her daughter will fly directly from Chicago to Kansas City, but will return to Lincoln with Mr. and Mrs. Holland to spend the remainder of the weekend in Lincoln. Also attending the Thanksgiving day family reunion will be Mr. and Mrs. Yale Holland of Omaha.

* * *

Also planning to spend Thanksgiving away from Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. White who, with their two daughters — Kathy and Beth — will go to Kewanee, Ill., where they will be the Thanksgiving weekend guests of Mrs. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt.

* * *

We have some homecoming news this morning, too—Winging her way home from Clearwater, Fla., on Thursday was Mrs. John Mason. Mrs. Mason, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Hawkins of Omaha, left a week ago for Clearwater where Mrs. Hawkins will spend the winter.

* * *

Word has come from Palo Alto, Calif., that Mr. and Mrs. Mel Goldblatt have adopted a baby son, Daniel Louis. Mrs. Goldblatt will be remembered as the former Phyllis Overman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Overman of Lincoln — and an alumna of the University of Nebraska.

Courtesies

A guest of honor Saturday evening will be Miss Arlene Johnson, whose marriage to Bradley K. Jones will be solemnized on Tuesday, Nov. 23.

Honoring the bride-to-be will be Mrs. Wayne McDermitt and Mrs Lavern Foss who will entertain a group of guests at the home of Mrs. Foss. During the party, a crystal shower will be presented to Miss Johnson.

The bride-elect also was honored last Saturday at a personal shower held at the home of Mrs. Donald Payne. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Payne were her daughter, Miss Barbara Payne, and Mrs. Ernest Isaacson.

On Saturday evening, Oct. 30, Miss Johnson shared honors with her fiance at a dinner held at the Fairbury home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Miller. Also hosts and hostesses for the dinner and one-gift shower were Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Wiebe, Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Luce and Mrs. Delores Henney

The wedding of Miss Johnson and Mr Jones will take place at a 7:30 o'clock evening service, at Southview Christian Church.

Entertaining Friday, Nov. 5, in prenuptial courtesy to November bride-elect, Miss Sheri Williamson, was Miss Linda Millstead who was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at her home.

Miss Williamson, who will become the bride of Gale Ganshorn on Wednesday, Nov. 24, also was honored recently at a bridal shower given by Miss Janet West at her home.

NEWS of the suburban areas

EASTRIDGE

The occasion—a baby shower. The honored guest—Mrs. Grayson Tuck. The time —Thursday evening. The hostesses—Mrs. Max Hulbert and Mrs. Allen Wilson. All these ingredients combined to make a delightful party, the guests agree. And especially appreciated by the ladies was a surprise—Pink Champagne.

It was a lovely party in spite of the fact that one of the co-hostesses was unable to attend. "Some people will do anything to get out of doing a few dishes," Mrs. Hulbert, the attending hostess, reports.

But Mrs. Wilson had a very good excuse for "chickening out." Thursday morning at 8:00 o'clock her new daughter Julie was born.

Can a five year old boy get along successfully with 22 girls and his sister? Yes, says John Duxbury, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duxbury. John was the lone male Thursday afternoon at his sister Amy's seventh birthday party. John went along as the party-goers made a visit to Morrill Hall and helped play host when the girls returned to the Duxbury home for a supper of hamburgers and French fries.

There are some Thanksgiving visitors already in the Lincoln area. Mr. and Mrs. John Robel have as their house guests Mrs. Roble's mother, Mrs. Mabel Brady; and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Strom, of Orange Park, Fla. and South Ponte Verte Beach, Fla., respectively.

The travelers arrived this week and will stay through the holiday. Upon leaving Lincoln the threesome will travel to Palos Verdes Estates, Calif. for a visit with Mrs. Brady's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William T Brady.

Although many visitors will be in Lincoln during the Thanksgiving holiday, several residents are planning their celebrations in other parts of the country. One young Lincoln man will be in Denver, Colo., for instance. Terry Brockmier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Brockmier, will spend the Thanksgiving weekend with his fraternity brother Steve Cogil and the Cogil family in Denver.

SKYLINE TERRACE

Saturday evening guests in the Skyline Terrace area last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Larson of Gothenburg. The Larsons came to Lincoln to attend the football game, and spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Little.

MEADOW LANE

Residents in this suburban area are busy these days getting acquainted with new families in the neighborhood.

Natives of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dreesen and their young son Scott, now make their home at 816 Carlos Dr. The Dreesen family formerly resided at 622 Eldora Lane.

Newcomers to the Lincoln area are Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Plass and their children, Richard, 13; Jim, 12; Kay, 8, and Susie, 5. The Plass family formerly resided in Marion, Va.

The Plasses, who never have lived in Nebraska before, motored into the city a week ago. On their way west they stopped in Maumee, Ohio to visit relatives.

ABBY

the snoring problem

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Apropos snoring mates. Mine snores so loud, it's separate rooms for us. When we travel, we request separate hotel rooms. Separate floors is better, adjoining rooms isn't far enough away from him. It hasn't interfered with our love life, either. A woman who doesn't get her sleep makes a poor mate. She's cranky, irritable and has no energy. Nuts to what people say. I need my sleep.

MILWAUKEE MRS.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: If you come up with a remedy for snoring, let me know. I've tried everything. The plastic ear plugs almost punctured my eardrums, and the beeswax ear plugs fell out of my ears and stuck in my hair. My doctor gave me sleeping pills but I'm afraid I'll become addicted. Believe it or not, my husband is a policeman and he is afraid to sleep alone. If I slip out and sleep on the couch, he comes looking for me. This hero is 56 years old.

BROOKLYN

DEAR ABBY: When our family decreased and there was a spare bedroom available, I took it over because my husband's snoring disturbed my sleep.

It was like closing the door on an intimacy of 31 years. Well, Abby, after five years of sleeping apart, my advice to a young bride is, "Don't, under any circumstances, take a room by yourself. Stuff your ears, put a pillow over your head, take a sleeping pill, but don't leave his bed. And don't let him leave yours."

Take it from a 58-year-old woman. Something dies when a man and his wife quit sleeping together. I can't explain it. It's not sex either. It's something more important. And you'll never get it back. I know. I've tried.

FOOLISH

DEAR ABBY: You haven't heard snoring until you've heard my little wife snore. She denied it so I had a tape recording made. We sometimes play it for laughs. She sleeps with her mouth open, so when the racket gets too bad I just reach over and pinch her nose shut and she quits.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: When our family decreased and there was a spare bedroom available, I took it over because my husband's snoring disturbed my sleep.

It was like closing the door on an intimacy of 31 years. Well, Abby, after five years of sleeping apart, my advice to a young bride is, "Don't, under any circumstances, take a room by yourself. Stuff your ears, put a pillow over your head, take a sleeping pill, but don't leave his bed. And don't let him leave yours."

Take it from a 58-year-old woman. Something dies when a man and his wife quit sleeping together. I can't explain it. It's not sex either. It's something more important. And you'll never get it back. I know. I've tried.

DEAR ABBY: You haven't heard snoring until you've heard my little wife snore. She denied it so I had a tape recording made. We sometimes play it for laughs. She sleeps with her mouth open, so when the racket gets too bad I just reach over and pinch her nose shut and she quits.

A guest of honor Saturday evening will be Miss Arlene Johnson, whose marriage to Bradley K. Jones will be solemnized on Tuesday, Nov. 23.

Honoring the bride-to-be will be Mrs. Wayne McDermitt and Mrs. Lavern Foss who will entertain a group of guests at the home of Mrs. Foss. During the party, a crystal shower will be presented to Miss Johnson.

The bride-elect also was honored last Saturday at a personal shower held at the home of Mrs. Donald Payne. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Payne were her daughter, Miss Barbara Payne, and Mrs. Ernest Isaacson.

On Saturday evening, Oct. 30, Miss Johnson shared honors with her fiance at a dinner held at the Fairbury home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Miller. Also hosts and hostesses for the dinner and one-gift shower were Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Wiebe, Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Luce and Mrs. Delores Henney

The wedding of Miss Johnson and Mr Jones will take place at a 7:30 o'clock evening service, at Southview Christian Church.

Entertaining Friday, Nov. 5, in prenuptial courtesy to November bride-elect, Miss Sheri Williamson, was Miss Linda Millstead who was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at her home.

Miss Williamson, who will become the bride of Gale Ganshorn on Wednesday, Nov. 24, also was honored recently at a bridal shower given by Miss Janet West at her home.

NEWS of the suburban areas

EASTRIDGE

The occasion—a baby shower. The honored guest—Mrs. Grayson Tuck. The time —Thursday evening. The hostesses—Mrs. Max Hulbert and Mrs. Allen Wilson. All these ingredients combined to make a delightful party, the guests agree. And especially appreciated by the ladies was a surprise—Pink Champagne.

It was a lovely party in spite of the fact that one of the co-hostesses was unable to attend. "Some people will do anything to get out of doing a few dishes," Mrs. Hulbert, the attending hostess, reports.

But Mrs. Wilson had a very good excuse for "chickening out." Thursday morning at 8:00 o'clock her new daughter Julie was born.

Can a five year old boy get along successfully with 22 girls and his sister? Yes, says John Duxbury, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duxbury. John was the lone male Thursday afternoon at his sister Amy's seventh birthday party. John went along as the party-goers made a visit to Morrill Hall and helped play host when the girls returned to the Duxbury home for a supper of hamburgers and French fries.

There are some Thanksgiving visitors already in the Lincoln area. Mr. and Mrs. John Robel have as their house guests Mrs. Roble's mother, Mrs. Mabel Brady; and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Strom, of Orange Park, Fla. and South Ponte Verte Beach, Fla., respectively.

The travelers arrived this week and will stay through the holiday. Upon leaving Lincoln the threesome will travel to Palos Verdes Estates, Calif. for a visit with Mrs. Brady's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Brady.

Although many visitors will be in Lincoln during the Thanksgiving holiday, several residents are planning their celebrations in other parts of the country. One young Lincoln man will be in Denver, Colo., for instance. Terry Brockmier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Brockmier, will spend the Thanksgiving weekend with his fraternity brother Steve Cogil and the Cogil family in Denver.

SKYLINE TERRACE

Saturday evening guests in the Skyline Terrace area last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Larson of Gothenburg. The Larsons came to Lincoln to attend the football game, and spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Little.

MEADOW LANE

Residents in this suburban area are busy these days getting acquainted with new families in the neighborhood.

Natives of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dreesen and their young son Scott, now make their home at 816 Carlos Dr. The Dreesen family formerly resided at 622 Eldora Lane.

Newcomers to the Lincoln area are Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Plass and their children, Richard, 13; Jim, 12; Kay, 8, and Susie, 5. The Plass family formerly resided in Marion, Va.

The Plasses, who never have lived in Nebraska before, motored into the city a week ago. On their way west they stopped in Maumee, Ohio to visit relatives.

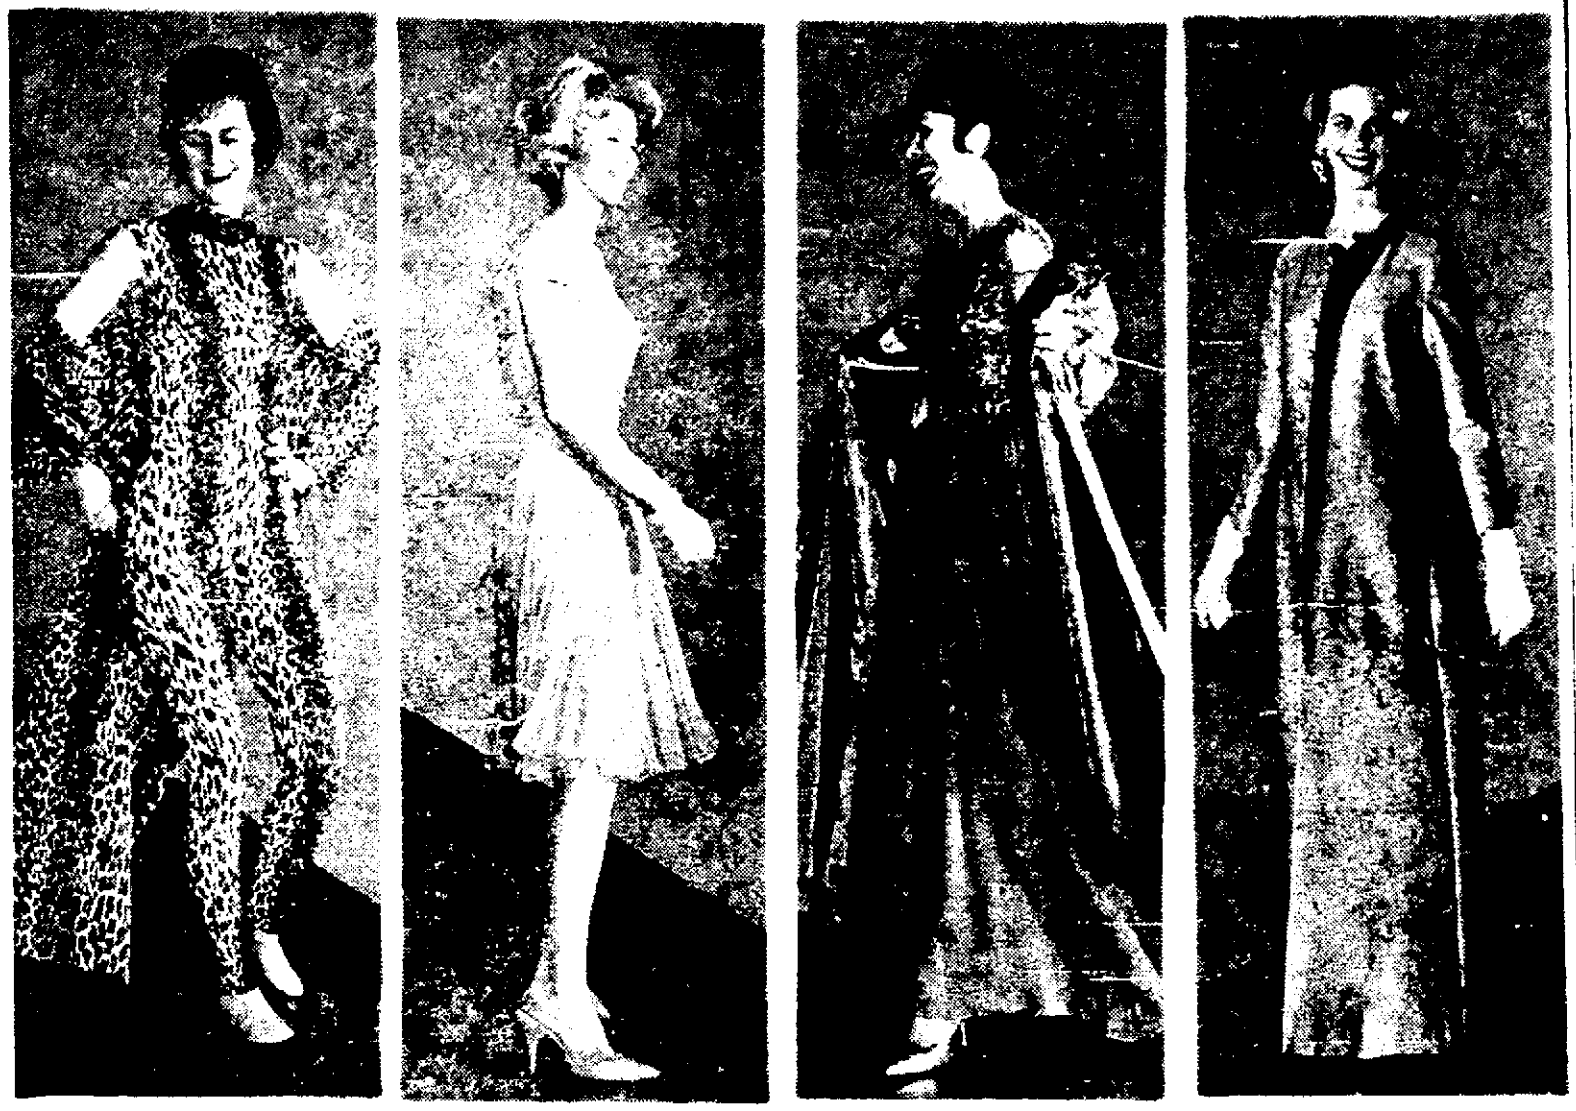
men exposed to women's wiles in fashion



Officers of the Lincoln Air Force Base who were the guests of their wives Wednesday evening at the autumn dinner-dance of the Officers Wives Club should be able to react intelligently now to such feminine fashion terms as "knife-pleating," "peignoir" and "shadow brocade."

Preceding the evening of dancing, a parade of fashions was presented by a group of the club members with commentary by Mrs. C. J. Moore. From the left are Mrs. Jack Hover wearing an at-home "jump suit" in leopard print with a matching full-length peignoir; Mrs. James C. DeLong, modeling a short dance frock of American Beauty red chiffon; Mrs. Jerry Eustace, in a sequined chiffon gown and brocade coat in blue-green; and Mrs. Joseph McLachlan, whose full-length velveteen evening coat is in "shocking" pink.

Show chairman was Mrs. Leland Schmoker, and ball co-chairmen were Mrs. A. R. Fortney and Mrs. R. J. Bryan. Others modeling were Mrs. Robert Henwood, Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. Howard Hong, Mrs. Richard Williams, Mrs. Harold Merryman, Mrs. Robert Walton, Mrs. Karol Franzychen, Mrs. John Waresh and Mrs. Don Lewis.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

You don't always get punished for bidding or playing badly. Sometimes the gods smile kindly when you goof, and reward you generously for poor bidding or play. Of course, this gives you the right to look smugly at the opponents and pretend you're actually a superior player who knew all the time what you were doing.

Take this hand where South wiggled into six diamonds. This was certainly not a good contract, though it was not helpless. The odds against making the slam were about 2 to 1, which in itself made six diamonds an undesirable contract.

The two club bid was artificial and forcing; two hearts was an ace-showing response. Two notrump by North showed a balanced hand and denied important values aside from the ace of hearts.

Probably South should now have bid three notrump, but when he bid three diamonds and North jumped to five, South was then unable to resist the temptation to bid six.

It turned out that South made the slam, which makes it rather difficult to conduct a lengthy sermon here against his bidding. But he did play the hand well and was duly rewarded for the effort.

West led a trump. South cashed the A-K, learning that he had to lose a trump trick. He was then faced with the difficult task of avoiding a spade loser.

He solved the problem by executing an elimination play. After entering dummy with a heart, he took a spade finesse. When the queen held, he cashed the ace of spades, the A-K of clubs, and the remaining hearts, West refusing to ruff. He then put West on lead with a trump.

West had only clubs left and had to play one. This permitted South to discard a spade from dummy as he ruffed in his hand, so the outcome was that South won the rubber and got a bonus of 750 points for making a slam he never should have bid.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Surprise Team In Big Eight To Try Pulling Off Major Grid Upset

. . . OKLAHOMA STATE MADE BETTER THAN EXPECTED SHOWING LAST YEAR; DID WORSE THAN EXPECTED THIS YEAR

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Stillwater, Okla.—The surprise team of the Big Eight the past two seasons will be trying to pull one of the major upsets of this football season when Oklahoma State takes on Nebraska in a 1:30 p.m. contest before 30,000 fans at Lewis Field here this afternoon.

The Cowboys have surprised Big Eight observers each of the past two seasons—last season by their better-than-expected showing and this season by their worse-than-expected performance.

Oklahoma State has won only once this season, a 17-14 victory over Tulsa, with six losses including the last four in a row. And they likely will need a lot of help in the way of Husker mistakes if they hope to come close to the nation's second-ranked team.

Nebraska tops the nation in rushing offense with 287.4 yards per game and is second in total offense with 416.4 while also standing second in scoring at 34.9 and sixth in total defense, allowing only 195.0 yards per game.

Meanwhile, coach Phil Cutchin's Cowboys can't even crack the top five in any Big Eight statistical category.

The Cowboys rank only sixth in rushing offense with 136.0 yards per contest, seventh in passing with 60.9 and seventh overall with the 196.9. Nebraska leads the Big Eight in all three phases.

And Oklahoma State doesn't stand any better when they don't have the ball. They are seventh in rushing defense, ahead of only Kansas State, sixth in passing defense and seventh in total defense.

One can argue that points, not statistics, win games. But it certainly is easier to score points if you can gain 416 yards which the Huskers are averaging than it is if you gain only 197, Oklahoma State's average.

And if you want to discuss individuals, Nebraska has nine backs averaging more yardage per carry than Oklahoma State fullback Walt Garrison, last year's Big Eight rushing champion.

Nebraska's starting backfield of quarterback Fred Duda (6.5), halfbacks Harry Wilson (5.4) and Ron Kirkland (7.2), and fullback Frank Solich (6.8) are all far above Garrison's 3.7 mark per carry.

Nebraska has been held to less than 27 points only by Missouri this season, but only two teams have scored more than 27 against the Cowboys' defense.

Arkansas in its 28-14 opening win over the Cowboys and Colorado in a 34-11 triumph are the only clubs to score more than 17 points against Oklahoma State.

Aside from Garrison, OSU's major offensive threat is quarterback Glen Baxter, who has been sidelined by injury much of the season but with an open date last weekend he is expected to be ready.

Baxter has completed 22 of 67 passes for 224 yards, but has a minus-37 yards rushing on 33 carries.

Nebraska which outmans the Cowboys in the big guy department also outdoes OSU in the little guy category, two to one.

The Huskers can offer 158-pound Frank Solich and 162-pound Larry Wachholtz in the flyweight class against Oklahoma State's 155-pound Larry Elliott.

The Cowpokes have only three players topping the 200-pound mark on offense and only three on defense.

The Huskers' bowl choice is expected to be announced immediately after this afternoon's contest.

—NU, HOGS CAN CLINCH TIE—

Spartans Can Cop Big 10 Title Today

By Associated Press

Michigan State's top-ranked Spartans can wrap up the Big Ten championship while Arkansas and Nebraska can earn at least a tie for conference titles in major games on Saturday's college football program.

The Spartans, pointing for the Nov. 20 game with Notre Dame which could decide the national championship, take on Indiana. The Fighting Hoosiers have been fighting but not winning consistently, with six loses and victories over only Kansas State and Iowa.

Michigan State, with a perfect 8-0 record including last week's smashing 35-0 conquest of Iowa, is 6-0 in the Big Ten. Ohio State and Minnesota follow at 4-1-0.

Arkansas, No. 2 in the latest Associated Press poll, faces Southern Methodist. The Razorbacks, unbeaten and untied in eight games, hold a one-game lead over Texas Tech in the Southwest Conference race. Tech meets Baylor, which has won only three of seven games.

Southern Methodist, 4-2-1 overall, has looked impressive in the past two weeks while defeating Texas 31-14 and Texas A&M 10-0.

Third-ranked Nebraska, also perfect in eight games, appears to have an easy one in Oklahoma State, 1-6-0. The Cornhuskers are one game in front of Missouri in the Big Eight. Missouri, No. 9 in the AP rankings, plays Oklahoma. The latter is in third place with 3-1-0 in the Conference and is 0-3 outside.

Notre Dame, led by Bill Wolski's five touchdowns in a 69-13 victory over Pitt last week-end, meets North Carolina. The fourth-rated Irish have rebounded to win their last five after a defeat by Purdue in their second game. North Carolina topped Clemson 17-13 last week for its fourth triumph. The Tar Heels have lost four.

Other games involving Top Ten teams match fifth-ranked Alabama, 6-1-1 and South Carolina, 4-4-0; Southern California No. 6, and Pittsburgh; UCLA, No. 7, and Stanford; Tennessee, No. 8, and Mississippi; and Kentucky, No. 10 and Houston.

Alabama, the 1964 national champion with one defeat and one tie on its record, trampled LSU 31-7 last Saturday. The Crimson Tide is runner-up in the Southeastern Conference with 5-1-1. Auburn leads with 3-0-1.

Southern Cal and UCLA, each unbeaten in the Pacific Athletic Conference, are looking toward their Nov. 20 meeting to decide which will be the host team in the Rose Bowl.

USC figures to walk over Pitt. Stanford, though, appears capable of giving UCLA a rough time. The Indians number Air FORCE, Army, and Oregon among their five victims in eight games.

Unbeaten, twice-tied Tennessee leaped into the top ten this week after beating Georgia Tech 21-7. Mississippi has won four and lost four.

Kentucky has beaten Georgia, West Virginia and Vanderbilt in its most recent games for a 6-2-0 mark and should have little trouble with Houston, 3-5.

Tulsa, which clinched the Missouri Valley Conference crown last week and seems a good bet for the Gator Bowl, plays Wichita. In the Ivy League, Princeton and Dartmouth, also girding for a Nov. 20 showdown, face Yale and Cornell, respectively. Princeton and Dartmouth are tied for the league lead with perfect 5-0 records.

Other major games match Arizona and Air Force, Army and Wyoming, Brown and Harvard, Duke and Wake Forest, Georgia Tech and Virginia, Georgia and Auburn, West Virginia and Syracuse, Wisconsin and Illinois, Washington and Oregon State, Vanderbilt and Miami, Fla., Rice and Texas A&M, Ohio State and Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan, Penn State and Navy and Oregon and California.

—PINE RIDGE BEST—

Deer Big Weekend Target

Deer hunting is the big item across outdoor Nebraska. The season is moving into its waning hours, and so far riflemen have been doing very well. In the Pine Ridge Unit alone, hunters had taken 2,259 deer by Thursday.

Nimrods report seeing plenty of deer, so the shooting should be fast and furious through the Sunday closer. Bow hunters return to the field on Monday.

According to Game Commission conservation officers, hunting pressure on upland game and waterfowl has been light. But, there are plenty of birds around, waiting to give scattergunners a run for their money.

A capsule report by area:

NORTHEAST

Pheasant hunters are generally averaging two birds per man in Wayne, Pierce, Madison, southern Cedar, and Burt counties. Duck hunting should be good over the weekend around Tekamah, Fremont, and Lewis and Clark Lake.

SAND HILLS

Pheasants are still pretty wild, and cover is heavy. However, hunters willing to work can get their share of birds. Best bets for ringnecks are Custer, Valley, and Sherman counties and around Ainsworth. For duck hunters, the Sand Hill lakes are still open, and the big flights of ducks are expected any time now.

PANHANDLE

Next to deer, ducks are the big item. Pressure is light, but waterfowlers can find plenty of shooting at Walgren Lake, Smith Lake, Lake Minatare, and the ponds and potholes in southern Sheridan County. Good migrations of ducks have started throughout the Panhandle. Pheasant hunters are scarce, but birds are not. Best areas are around Hay Springs, Alliance, Mirage Flats, and Whitney.

SOUTHWEST

Mixed bag hunting on pheasant and quail is the order of the day. The going is tough, since cover is still heavy, but working hunters can score. Duck hunting is good along the Platte and on lagoons and potholes in the area. Best spots for pheasants are corn and milo fields, and dogs are a real asset.

SOUTHEAST

Duck hunters can find their quarry on ponds and potholes in the region. Best bets for pheasants are Fillmore, Saline, Seward, and York counties. For mixed bags of pheasants and quail, try Gage, Thayer, or Jefferson counties.

Bolts' Win Led By Stephenson

. . . FINAL COUNT 21-7

Sioux City, Iowa — Dana Stephenson caught two touchdown passes for Pius X and set up the other Pius tally with a pass interception as the Thunderbolts rolled to a 21-7 victory over Sioux City Heelan in Pius' season finale here Friday night.

Stephenson first touchdown came on a 22-yard pass from John McEniry with eight minutes left in the third quarterafter Pius had taken the second-half kickoff and marched 38 yards. McEniry added the extra point to give Pius a 7-0 lead.

Stephenson set up the second Thunderbolt touchdown when he intercepted a Heelan pass at midfield and returned it to the 35-yard line. Kim Wheeler ran the ball in from the two seven plays later and McEniry came through with the PAT to give Pius a 14-0 lead with 40 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Heelan took the ensueing kickoff and drove 65 yards to score with Joe Burkhart running it over from the two for the sole Sioux City score. The extra point made it 14-7 with eight minutes left in the contest.

But Pius came through with insurance points as the Bolts took the Heelan kickoff and drove 88 yards for their third touchdown. Stephenson got his second TD of the night, this time on a 6-yard pass from Mike Bohaty. McEniry added the extra point with 1:10 left in the game to complete the scoring.

The two clubs battled to a scoreless tie in the first half with John McEniry's interception at the Pius two-yard line halting a possible Heelan touchdown with 30 seconds remaining in the half.

McEniry connected on 8 of 9 passes for Pius, including 7 for 7 in the second half. Pius aerials accounted for 69 yards to complement the 164-yard Thunderbolt rushing performance.

The Pius victory was its first in the eight-game series with the Sioux City school.

Seventeen Pius players completed their high school football careers in the contest with Keith May, defensive tackle, George Hannigan, linebacker, Bill Arth, tackle and Mike Bohaty all drawing plaudits for their outstanding defensive play.

The win gave the Thunderbolts a 7-3 season record with one loss a narrow one-point decision to Northeast and the other two one-touchdown losses to Boys Town and Creighton Prep.

Heelan's record is 4-5.

10 NWU Players In Final Game

. . . SEWARD CONCORDIA INVADES FOR LAST '65 CONTEST

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Ten senior lettermen will be playing their final game in the yellow and brown togs of the Nebraska Wesleyan football team today when the Plainsmen host the Concordia Bulldogs from Seward in a 1:30 p.m. contest at O. N. Magee Stadium. It is the final contest of the year for both teams.

Making their final appearance will be John Mullin, defensive back; Willis Weisbrook, and Dave Newlon, fullbacks; Chuck Squier, center, Ron Fox, guard, Sam Cowan, Bob Olson, and Mick Pierce, tackles, Dwight Tietjen, end, and John Ayres, quarterback.

All but Ayres have been regulars at some point in their football career at Wesleyan.

Concordia poses one of the biggest threats to the Plainsmen this season. "They've won their last four ball games and will give us one of our toughest games this season", NWU coach Ray Westover observes.

"They have good backs, good size up front and are a well disciplined ball club."

Most noteworthy of the Bulldog backs would have to be Ed Clatanoff. Clatanoff, the Concordia right halfback, is only a sophomore who got his chance to start chiefly because of his blocking ability.

But it is his running and scoring prowness which has made a big hit with Bulldog coach Ronald Harms.

"Clatanoff has shown some fine running," Harms notes. "We thought he was capable of it."

Clatanoff is the leading Concordia scorer with 54 points and has rushed for 430 yards for a 3.6-yard per carry average.

When the Bulldogs upset Yankton, S.D., at that time the Tri-State Conference leader, Clatanoff scored all the Concordia touchdowns in the 19-12 victory. His first two were plunges of three and two yards, but his third was a 23-yard jaunt.

BOB OLSON

DWIGHT TIETJEN

Against common opponents, the ledger looks pretty square. The only blemish on the Concordia side is a 20-7 loss to Midland, current Tri-State front-runner, while the Plainsmen outscored the Warriors, 19-6.

NWU stopped Doane, 13-0, in Crete, while the Bulldogs moved in a week later and blanked the Tigers, 14-0. Dana's Vikings were subdued, 27-7, by Westover's boys, and 21-0 by Concordia.

Westover's plans include nothing different, expressing satisfaction with the offensive showing of his club in last weekend's 27-20 win over Hastings.

The Plainsmen will have one extra thing going for them this week, however. Dwight Tietjen, a veteran standout at end, will be starting his first game since being injured in the St. Mary's contest early in the year.

"This may loosen up their defense a bit," Westover reasoned. "Because he is always a big threat on long passes."

Opponents have scored only 79 points against NWU, while 87 points have been given up by the Bulldogs, again indicating a fairly even match.

Tonight's encounter will be either the fifth or 10th renewal of the series between the two schools.

Wesleyan record books indicate tonight's contest to be the fifth varsity game, with the Plainsmen winning previous games in 1942 (38-7), 1958 (47-0), 1959 (20-6), and 1964 (29-14).

Concordia annuals include two "B" team games in 1934 and '41, and three games in 1946, '50, and '52, all won by Concordia. Concordia records put the series at 4-4-1.

Bill Rohrig continues to pace the Wesleyan ground-gainers this season, grinding out 497 yards thus far in 82 attempts.

The speedy left halfback also tops the Plainsmen in the scoring department with five TDs and 30 points.

Quarterback Dave Lebsack is the total offense leader with 703 yards. He has gained only 51 yards on the ground, but has amassed 652 through the airlanes in 138 plays this season.

Westover feels his Plainsmen will be at full strength for the contest, excluding tackle Bob Olson, who re-injured a knee in the Hastings game.

Colts May Have Trouble With Vikings

By JIM HACKLEMAN

New York (AP)—Baltimore might have quarterback trouble, and Minnesota has hit strike—a bit belatedly. But somehow the Colts should beat the Vikings Sunday in another crucial match in the National Football League's Western Division.

That's the prediction of a pinch hitting pro football picker, rusty from a long layoff but fearless nonetheless—particularly with someone else's batting average to play with.

The resident genius in this department had a solid 8-3 last week, making it 55-32-3 over-all for a .632 percentage.

Now for Sunday:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Baltimore 24, Minnesota 21—Johnny Unitas came out of last Sunday's key triumph over the Bears with a bad back, but Gary Cuozza is a good—if unheralded—sub quarterback and the Colts have the momentum with six straight victories.

Cleveland 31, New York 10—The Eastern Division leaders crushed the Giants 38-14 in New York three weeks ago, and although the rebuilt Giants have jelled somewhat they aren't likely to cope with Jim Brown's running and Frank Ryan's passing.

Green Bay 42, Los Angeles 10—The Packers have been stumbling, but they're due to put it all together and the last-place Rams are likely to bear the brunt of an angry Packer comeback.

Detroit 20, San Francisco 7—Lions don't have much in the way of an attack but oh, that defense. Ask the Packers, whose backfield was full of Lions all last Sunday.

Chicago 31, St. Louis 21—Bears come off the defeat by the Colts with a vengeance against an erratic Cardinal outfit.

Washington 24, Philadelphia 17—Redskins have pulled together for three victories in a row after five straight losses, showing they have a solid allround team. Eagles due to take lost fifth straight.

Dallas 35, Pittsburgh 14—It was the other way around when the two clubs met two Sundays ago, but the Cowboys will be at home this time—and probably have too much firepower for the Steelers.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

San Diego 31, Kansas City 20—The Chargers, with running star Paul Lowe happily breaking records and with all that other talent, will be eager to dispose of a threat to their Western title drive.

Oakland 14, Buffalo 10—The Raiders aren't likely to do much against the Eastern leaders' ground attack, but Oakland's passing should make the difference.

New York 24, Boston 14—After several near-misses, the Jets have learned how to win—and they like it. But the weak Patriots haven't been able to shake the losing habit, and the charged-up Jets look like too much to handle.

Houston 45, Denver 35—The Oilers do it on the ancient arm of George Blanda.

Broken Bow Hunt Draws Astronauts

Broken Bow (AP) — Broken Bow's fifth annual one-box pheasant hunt Saturday has attracted a quartet of nationally-known figures — astronauts from the U.S. space program.

Hunt officials said astronauts Walter Schirra, Tom Stafford, Neil Armstrong and Donald (Deke) Slayton will join with Denver attorney Ralph Clark to make up one of the eight teams entered.

Under rules of the competition, each five-man team is provided with one box of shells and the team bringing back the most pheasants is the winner. The bag limit is four, so should more than one team come back with 20 birds, the time factors would be used to determine the winner. Breakfast is at 5:30 a.m. and hunting ceases at sundown. Local guides escort the competitors.

For the last two years a team from the Marine base at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., has been the winner, and this year will be back in defense of its title.

Surprise Team In Big Eight To Try Pulling Off Major Grid Upset

. . . OKLAHOMA STATE MADE BETTER THAN EXPECTED SHOWING LAST YEAR; DID WORSE THAN EXPECTED THIS YEAR

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Stillwater, Okla.—The surprise team of the Big Eight the past two seasons will be trying to pull one of the major upsets of this football season when Oklahoma State takes on Nebraska in a 1:30 p.m. contest before 30,000 fans at Lewis Field here this afternoon.

The Cowboys have surprised Big Eight observers each of the past two seasons—last season by their better-than-expected showing and this season by their worse-than-expected performance.

Oklahoma State has won only once this season, a 17-14 victory over Tulsa, with six losses including the last four in a row. And they likely will need a lot of help in the way of Husker mistakes if they hope to come close to the nation's second-ranked team.

Nebraska tops the nation in rushing offense with 287.4 yards per game and is second in total offense with 416.4 while also standing second in scoring at 34.9 and sixth in total defense, allowing only 195.0 yards per game.

Meanwhile, coach Phil Cutchin's Cowboys can't even crack the top five in any Big Eight statistical category.

The Cowboys rank only sixth in rushing offense with 136.0 yards per contest, seventh in passing with 60.9 and seventh overall with the 196.9. Nebraska leads the Big Eight in all three phases.

And Oklahoma State doesn't stand any better when they don't have the ball. They are seventh in rushing defense, ahead of only Kansas State, sixth in passing defense and seventh in total defense.

One can argue that points, not statistics, win games. But it certainly is easier to score points if you can gain 416 yards which the Huskers are averaging than it is if you gain only 197, Oklahoma State's average.

And if you want to discuss individuals, Nebraska has nine backs averaging more yardage per carry than Oklahoma State fullback Walt Garrison, last year's Big Eight rushing champion.

Nebraska's starting backfield of quarterback Fred Duda (6.5), halfbacks Harry Wilson (5.4) and Ron Kirkland (7.2), and fullback Frank Solich (6.8) are all far above Garrison's 3.7 mark per carry.

Nebraska has been held to less than 27 points only by Missouri this season, but only two teams have scored more than 27 against the Cowboys' defense.

Arkansas in its 28-14 opening win over the Cowboys and Colorado in a 34-11 triumph are the only clubs to score more than 17 points against Oklahoma State.

Aside from Garrison, OSU's major offensive threat is quarterback Glen Baxter, who has been sidelined by injury much of the season but with an open date last weekend he is expected to be ready.

Baxter has completed 22 of 67 passes for 224 yards, but has a minus-37 yards rushing on 33 carries.

Nebraska which outmans the Cowboys in the big guy department also outdoes OSU in the little guy category, two to one.

The Huskers can offer 158-pound Frank Solich and 162-pound Larry Wachholtz in the flyweight class against Oklahoma State's 155-pound Larry Elliott.

The Cowpokes have only three players topping the 200-pound mark on offense and only three on defense.

The Huskers' bowl choice is expected to be announced immediately after this afternoon's contest.

—NU, HOGS CAN CLINCH TIE—

Spartans Can Cop Big 10 Title Today

By Associated Press

Michigan State's top-ranked Spartans can wrap up the Big Ten championship while Arkansas and Nebraska can earn at least a tie for conference titles in major games on Saturday's college football program.

The Spartans, pointing for the Nov. 20 game with Notre Dame which could decide the national championship, take on Indiana. The Fighting Hoosiers have been fighting but not winning consistently, with six loses and victories over only Kansas State and Iowa.

Michigan State, with a perfect 8-0 record including last week's smashing 35-0 conquest of Iowa, is 6-0 in the Big Ten. Ohio State and Minnesota follow at 4-1-0.

Arkansas, No. 2 in the latest Associated Press poll, faces Southern Methodist. The Razorbacks, unbeaten and untied in eight games, hold a one-game lead over Texas Tech in the Southwest Conference race. Tech meets Baylor, which has won only three of seven games.

Southern Methodist, 4-2-1 overall, has looked impressive in the past two weeks while defeating Texas 31-14 and Texas A&M 10-0.

Third-ranked Nebraska, also perfect in eight games, appears to have an easy one in Oklahoma State, 1-6-0. The Cornhuskers are one game in front of Missouri in the Big Eight. Missouri, No. 9 in the AP rankings, plays Oklahoma. The latter is in third place with 3-1-0 in the Conference and is 0-3 outside.

Notre Dame, led by Bill Wolski's five touchdowns in a 69-13 victory over Pitt last week-end, meets North Carolina. The fourth-rated Irish have rebounded to win their last five after a defeat by Purdue in their second game. North Carolina topped Clemson 17-13 last week for its fourth triumph. The Tar Heels have lost four.

Other games involving Top Ten teams match fifth-ranked Alabama, 6-1-1 and South Carolina, 4-4-0; Southern California No. 6, and Pittsburgh; UCLA, No. 7, and Stanford; Tennessee, No. 8, and Mississippi; and Kentucky, No. 10 and Houston.

Alabama, the 1964 national champion with one defeat and one tie on its record, trampled LSU 31-7 last Saturday. The Crimson Tide is runner-up in the Southeastern Conference with 5-1-1. Auburn leads with 3-0-1.

Southern Cal and UCLA, each unbeaten in the Pacific Athletic Conference, are looking toward their Nov. 20 meeting to decide which will be the host team in the Rose Bowl.

USC figures to walk over Pitt. Stanford, though, appears capable of giving UCLA a rough time. The Indians number Air FORCE, Army, and Oregon among their five victims in eight games.

Unbeaten, twice-tied Tennessee leaped into the top ten this week after beating Georgia Tech 21-7. Mississippi has won four and lost four.

Kentucky has beaten Georgia, West Virginia and Vanderbilt in its most recent games for a 6-2-0 mark and should have little trouble with Houston, 3-5.

Tulsa, which clinched the Missouri Valley Conference crown last week and seems a good bet for the Gator Bowl, plays Wichita. In the Ivy League, Princeton and Dartmouth, also girding for a Nov. 20 showdown, face Yale and Cornell, respectively. Princeton and Dartmouth are tied for the league lead with perfect 5-0 records.

Other major games match Arizona and Air Force, Army and Wyoming, Brown and Harvard, Duke and Wake Forest, Georgia Tech and Virginia, Georgia and Auburn, West Virginia and Syracuse, Wisconsin and Illinois, Washington and Oregon State, Vanderbilt and Miami, Fla., Rice and Texas A&M, Ohio State and Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan, Penn State and Navy and Oregon and California.

Pius X Dumps Heelan

Bolts' Win Led By Stephenson

. . . FINAL COUNT 21-7

Sioux City, Iowa — Dana Stephenson caught two touchdown passes for Pius X and set up the other Pius tally with a pass interception as the Thunderbolts rolled to a 21-7 victory over Sioux City Heelan in Pius' season finale here Friday night.

Stephenson's first touchdown came on a 22-yard pass from John McEniry with eight minutes left in the third quarter after Pius had taken the second-half kickoff and marched 38 yards. McEniry added the extra point to give Pius a 7-0 lead.

Stephenson set up the second Thunderbolt touchdown when he intercepted a Heelan pass at midfield and returned it to the 35-yard line. Kim Wheeler ran the ball in from the two seven plays later and McEniry came through with the PAT to give Pius a 14-0 lead with 40 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Heelan took the ensueing kickoff and drove 65 yards to score with Joe Burkhart running it over from the two for the sole Sioux City score. The extra point made it 14-7 with eight minutes left in the contest.

But Pius came through with insurance points as the Bolts took the Heelan kickoff and drove 88 yards for their third touchdown. Stephenson got his second TD of the night, this time on a 6-yard pass from Mike Bohaty. McEniry added the extra point with 1:10 left in the game to complete the scoring.

The two clubs battled to a scoreless tie in the first half with John McEniry's interception at the Pius two-yard line halting a possible Heelan touchdown with 30 seconds remaining in the half.

McEniry connected on 8 of 9 passes for Pius, including 7 for 7 in the second half. Pius aerials accounted for 69 yards to complement the 164-yard Thunderbolt rushing performance.

The Pius victory was its first in the eight-game series with the Sioux City school.

Seventeen Pius players completed their high school football careers in the contest with Keith May, defensive tackle, George Hannigan, linebacker, Bill Arth, tackle and Mike Bohaty all drawing plaudits for their outstanding defensive play.

The win gave the Thunderbolts a 7-3 season record with one loss a narrow one-point decision to Northeast and the other two one-touchdown losses to Boys Town and Creighton Prep.

Heelan's record is 4-5.

Pius X	0	0	14	7	—21
Heelan	0	0	0	7	— 7

Deer Big Weekend Target

Deer hunting is the big item across outdoor Nebraska. The season is moving into its waning hours, and so far riflemen have been doing very well. In the Pine Ridge Unit alone, hunters had taken 2,259 deer by Thursday.

Nimrods report seeing plenty of deer, so the shooting should be fast and furious through the Sunday closer. Bow hunters return to the field on Monday.

According to Game Commission conservation officers, hunting pressure on upland game and waterfowl has been light. But, there are plenty of birds around, waiting to give scattergunners a run for their money.

A capsule report by area:

NORTHEAST

Pheasant hunters are generally averaging two birds per man in Wayne, Pierce, Madison, southern Cedar, and Burt counties. Duck hunting should be good over the weekend around Tekamah, Fremont, and Lewis and Clark Lake.

SAND HILLS

Pheasants are still pretty wild, and cover is heavy. However, hunters willing to work can get their share of birds. Best bets for ringnecks are Custer, Valley, and Sherman counties and around Ainsworth. For duck hunters, the Sand Hill lakes are still open, and the big flights of ducks are expected any time now.

PANHANDLE

Next to deer, ducks are the big item. Pressure is light, but waterfowlers can find plenty of shooting at Walgren Lake, Smith Lake, Lake Minatare, and the ponds and potholes in southern Sheridan County. Good migrations of ducks have started throughout the Panhandle. Pheasant hunters are scarce, but birds are not. Best areas are around Hay Springs, Alliance, Mirage Flats, and Whitney.

SOUTHWEST

Mixed bag hunting on pheasant and quail is the order of the day. The going is tough, since cover is still heavy, but working hunters can score. Duck hunting is good along the Platte and on lagoons and potholes in the area. Best spots for pheasants are corn and milo fields, and dogs are a real asset.

SOUTHEAST

Duck hunters can find their quarry on ponds and potholes in the region. Best bets for pheasants are Fillmore, Saline, Seward, and York counties. For mixed bags of pheasants and quail, try Gage, Thayer, or Jefferson counties.

10 NWU Players In Final Game

. . . SEWARD CONCORDIA INVADES FOR LAST '65 CONTEST

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Ten senior lettermen will be playing their final game in the yellow and brown togs of the Nebraska Wesleyan football team today when the Plainsmen host the Concordia Bulldogs from Seward in a 1:30 p.m. contest at O. N. Magee Stadium. It is the final contest of the year for both teams.

Making their final appearance will be John Mullin, defensive back; Willis Weisbrook, and Dave Newlon, fullbacks; Chuck Squier, center, Ron Fox, guard, Sam Cowan, Bob Olson, and Mick Pierce, tackles, Dwight Tietjen, end, and John Ayres, quarterback.

All but Ayres have been regulars at some point in their football career at Wesleyan.

Concordia poses one of the biggest threats to the Plainsmen this season. "They've won their last four ball games and will give us one of our toughest games this season", NWU coach Ray Westover observes.

"They have good backs, good size up front and are a well disciplined ball club."

Most noteworthy of the Bulldog backs would have to be Ed Clatanoff. Clatanoff, the Concordia right halfback, is only a sophomore who got his chance to start chiefly because of his blocking ability.

But it is his running and scoring prowness which has made a big hit with Bulldog coach Ronald Harms.

"Clatanoff has shown some fine running," Harms notes. "We thought he was capable of it."

Clatanoff is the leading Concordia scorer with 54 points and has rushed for 430 yards for a 3.6-yard per carry average.

When the Bulldogs upset Yankton, S.D., at that time the Tri-State Conference leader, Clatanoff scored all the Concordia touchdowns in the 19-12 victory. His first two were plunges of three and two yards, but his third was a 23-yard jaunt.

BOB OLSON

DWIGHT TIETJEN

Against common opponents, the ledger looks pretty square. The only blemish on the Concordia side is a 20-7 loss to Midland, current Tri-State front-runner, while the Plainsmen outscored the Warriors, 19-6.

NWU stopped Doane, 13-0, in Crete, while the Bulldogs moved in a week later and blanked the Tigers, 14-0. Dana's Vikings were subdued, 27-7, by Westover's boys, and 21-0 by Concordia.

Westover's plans include nothing different, expressing satisfaction with the offensive showing of his club in last weekend's 27-20 win over Hastings.

The Plainsmen will have one extra thing going for them this week, however. Dwight Tietjen, a veteran standout at end, will be starting his first game since being injured in the St. Mary's contest early in the year.

"This may loosen up their defense a bit," Westover reasoned. "Because he is always a big threat on long passes."

Opponents have scored only 79 points against NWU, while 87 points have been given up by the Bulldogs, again indicating a fairly even match.

Tonight's encounter will be either the fifth or 10th renewal of the series between the two schools.

Wesleyan record books indicate tonight's contest to be the fifth varsity game, with the Plainsmen winning previous games in 1942 (38-7), 1958 (47-0), 1959 (20-6), and 1964 (29-14).

Concordia annuals include two "B" team games in 1934 and '41, and three games in 1946, '50, and '52, all won by Concordia. Concordia records put the series at 4-4-1.

Bill Rohrig continues to pace the Wesleyan ground-gainers this season, grinding out 497 yards thus far in 82 attempts.

The speedy left halfback also tops the Plainsmen in the scoring department with five TDs and 30 points.

Quarterback Dave Lebsack is the total offense leader with 703 yards. He has gained only 51 yards on the ground, but has amassed 652 through the airlanes in 138 plays this season.

Westover feels his Plainsmen will be at full strength for the contest, excluding tackle Bob Olson, who re-injured a knee in the Hastings game.

Colts May Have Trouble With Vikings

By JIM HACKLEMAN

New York (AP)—Baltimore might have quarterback trouble, and Minnesota has hit strike—a bit belatedly. But somehow the Colts should beat the Vikings Sunday in another crucial match in the National Football League's Western Division.

That's the prediction of a pinch hitting pro football picker, rusty from a long layoff but fearless nonetheless—particularly with someone else's batting average to play with.

The resident genius in this department had a solid 8-3 last week, making it 55-32-3 over-all for a .632 percentage.

Now for Sunday:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Baltimore 24, Minnesota 21—Johnny Unitas came out of last Sunday's key triumph over the Bears with a bad back, but Gary Cuozza is a good—if unheralded—sub quarterback and the Colts have the momentum with six straight victories.

Cleveland 31, New York 10—The Eastern Division leaders crushed the Giants 38-14 in New York three weeks ago, and although the rebuilt Giants have jelled somewhat they aren't likely to cope with Jim Brown's running and Frank Ryan's passing.

Green Bay 42, Los Angeles 10—The Packers have been stumbling, but they're due to put it all together and the last-place Rams are likely to bear the brunt of an angry Packer comeback.

Detroit 20, San Francisco 7—Lions don't have much in the way of an attack but oh, that defense. Ask the Packers, whose backfield was full of Lions all last Sunday.

Chicago 31, St. Louis 21—Bears come off the defeat by the Colts with a vengeance against an erratic Cardinal outfit.

Washington 24, Philadelphia 17—Redskins have pulled together for three victories in a row after five straight losses, showing they have a solid allround team. Eagles due to take lost fifth straight.

Dallas 35, Pittsburgh 14—It was the other way around when the two clubs met two Sundays ago, but the Cowboys will be at home this time—and probably have too much firepower for the Steelers.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

San Diego 31, Kansas City 20—The Chargers, with running star Paul Lowe happily breaking records and with all that other talent, will be eager to dispose of a threat to their Western title drive.

Oakland 14, Buffalo 10—The Raiders aren't likely to do much against the Eastern leaders' ground attack, but Oakland's passing should make the difference.

New York 24, Boston 14—After several near-misses, the Jets have learned how to win—and they like it. But the weak Patriots haven't been able to shake the losing habit, and the charged-up Jets look like too much to handle.

Houston 45, Denver 35—The Oilers do it on the ancient arm of George Blanda.

Broken Bow Hunt Draws Astronauts

Broken Bow (AP) — Broken Bow's fifth annual one-box pheasant hunt Saturday has attracted a quartet of nationally-known figures — astronauts from the U.S. space program.

Hunt officials said astronauts Walter Schirra, Tom Stafford, Neil Armstrong and Donald (Deke) Slayton will join with Denver attorney Ralph Clark to make up one of the eight teams entered.

Under rules of the competition, each five-man team is provided with one box of shells and the team bringing back the most pheasants is the winner. The bag limit is four, so should more than one team come back with 20 birds, the time factors would be used to determine the winner. Breakfast is at 5:30 a.m. and hunting ceases at sundown. Local guides escort the competitors.

For the last two years a team from the Marine base at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., has been the winner, and this year will be back in defense of its title.

Second Place—Maybe First—At Stake Today

. . . MISSOURI, OKLAHOMA COLLIDE

By DON FORSYTHE

Columbia, Mo. — Second place in the Big Eight race, or a possible title share should unbeaten Nebraska stumble, is at stake here Saturday as Missouri (4-1) entertains Oklahoma (3-1).

Dan Devine's Tigers, 5-2-1 for the season, are hopeful of overcoming a home field jinx which has both a current and long range background.

The three blemishes on the 1965 Missouri record — losses to Nebraska and Kentucky and a tie with UCLA—all came in front of the home folks. The Tigers have whipped only Kansas State on the Columbia turf.

The longer streak that the Tigers are hoping to end is a 20-year string of failures against Oklahoma in Columbia.

Back in 1945 Missouri handled the Sooners, 14-6. Oklahoma has won nine straight in Missouri's backyard since then.

The Sooners, who will invade Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day, have given Devine-coached teams more trouble than any other opponent. In Devine's seven previous seasons the Sooners hold a 5-1-1 series lead over the Tigers.

Both clubs may be missing standout defensive players in their 56th meeting.

Oklahoma's Carl McAdams, strong contender for all-America linebacker honors, suffered a badly sprained ankle in last week's 24-20 win over Iowa State. He's been ruled out of the Mizzou game.

Russ Washingeon, Missouri's massive sophomore end, is likely to remain on the sidelines after straining a knee in the win over Colorado last week.

The forward pass doesn't figure to be a popular mode of travel when the two ground-oriented attacks clash. Missouri (233.9) and Oklahoma (193.9) rank second and third behind Nebraska in rushing offense in Big Eight play.

The Tigers have the conference rushing leader in halfback Charlie Brown, who has gained 683 yards, and the fifth-ranking ball carrier in fullback Carl Reese (456 yards).

The Sooners are led by sophomore quarterback Gene Cagle (297) with Tom Pannell, Larry Brown and Ben Hart also over the 200-yard mark.

Cowboys Cop Playoff, 20-14, Over Bellevue

Omaha (AP) — Boys Town struck for a 54-yard aerial touchdown play in the final minute Friday night to defeat Bellevue, 20-14, in the Metropolitan Conference play off.

The win closed out an all victorious season for Boys Town, the state's No. 1 ranked high school team. The Cowboys won 10.

Bellevue scored twice in the last quarter to wipe out a 13-0 lead and took the lead itself when Roger Smith kicked the extra point after the second score.

The second Bellevue score followed a stand in which the Cowboys were halted on the Bellevue four. Then Smith passed to end Tom McGinness who raced 84 yards to the Cowboy 10 to set up the touchdown.

After the Bellevue kickoff, Pat Kenneally threw two incomplete passes before connecting with halfback Nate McKinney on the 54-yard payoff pitch.

Boys Town	0	6	0	14—20
Bellevue	0	0	0	14—14

Boys Town—McKinney (3) 70 punt return, 67 run, 54 pass from Kenneally; PAT—Kight (2).
Bellevue—Smith, 5 run; Struble, 1 run; PAT—Smith (2).

SOONERS BATTLE TIGERS WITHOUT CARL McADAMS

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's great linebacker Carl McAdams, hub of the Sooners' defense, "definitely will not play" against Missouri Saturday, Coach Gomer Jones said.

McAdams, a 215-pound senior from White Deer, Tex., was second-team All America last year and was a leading candidate for top honors this season.

He suffered a severely sprained ankle last Saturday in a 24-20 win over Iowa State and Jones said he is not sufficiently recovered to participate.

McAdams was on crutches until Thursday and Jones said he still is unable to wear a shoe on the injured foot.

Don Kindley, a 200-pound junior from Cushing, will replace McAdams.

Missouri holds down second place behind Nebraska in the Big Eight Conference race with a 4-1 mark. Oklahoma is third place at 3-1. The loser Saturday will be eliminated from title contention.

Parseghian Being Lured By AFL's Miami Dolphins?

New York (AP) — Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame might be the coach of the Miami team when it enters the American Football League next season, the New York Journal-American said Friday.

But the report was promptly denied.

Barney Kremenko wrote in the Journal-American that the Dolphins "were trying to lure Parseghian over to their side for 1966, when they go into operation."

Joe Robbie, co-owner of the Dolphins, said that his club "had not been in direct or indirect contact with Ara Parseghian or any other coach, college or pro, in regard to our head coaching job."

BAYLOR'S FREE THROW GIVES LAKERS VICTORY

Minneapolis (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers, playing catchup all the way, finally overtook New York in the final minute on Elgin Baylor's free throw for a 107-106 National Basketball Association victory Friday night.

Baylor shot over Dick Van Arsdale from point-blank range with a minute to play to tie the score at 106.

Then Baylor, jockeying for his pet fadeaway jump shot off the base line, was fouled by Walt Bellamy with 14 seconds to go.

New York (AP) — Ford Frick testified Friday that as commissioner of baseball he had no part in the decision to move the Braves' franchise from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

Frick, who is retiring this year, underwent questioning here in connection with Milwaukee County's suit against the Braves, the National League and the nine other league teams.

Milwaukee County is seeking to prevent the Braves from moving to Atlanta next season, charging the action is in violation of antitrust laws.

Rodgers was fouled as he drove for the basket with one-half second remaining and was awarded three chances to make two shots with Detroit leading 102-101.

Philadelphia Hits Celtics, 123-114

Philadelphia (AP)—The Philadelphia 76ers rallied from a 15-point first-period deficit and beat Boston 123-114 Friday night, snapping the Celtics' five-game National Basketball Association winning streak.

Trailing 33-18 in the first quarter, the 76ers, sparked by second-year pro Wally Jones, rookie Bill Cunningham and Wilt Chamberlain, finally gained the lead, 56-53, on a three-point play by Cunningham with one second left in the half.

Cunningham, from the University of North Carolina, rang up 10 points in the third quarter as the 76ers at one stage built a nine-point lead. But Boston, with Sam Jones hitting eight of 11 from the field plus a free throw for 17 points, closed the gap to 83-81 at the end of the period.

Second Place—Maybe First—At Stake Today

. . . MISSOURI, OKLAHOMA COLLIDE

By DON FORSYTHE

Columbia, Mo. — Second place in the Big Eight race, or a possible title share should unbeaten Nebraska stumble, is at stake here Saturday as Missouri (4-1) entertains Oklahoma (3-1).

Dan Devine's Tigers, 5-2-1 for the season, are hopeful of overcoming a home field jinx which has both a current and long range background.

The three blemishes on the 1965 Missouri record — losses to Nebraska and Kentucky and a tie with UCLA—all came in front of the home folks. The Tigers have whipped only Kansas State on the Columbia turf.

The longer streak that the Tigers are hoping to end is a 20-year string of failures against Oklahoma in Columbia.

Back in 1945 Missouri handled the Sooners, 14-6. Oklahoma has won nine straight in Missouri's backyard since then.

The Sooners, who will invade Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day, have given Devine-coached teams more trouble than any other opponent. In Devine's seven previous seasons the Sooners hold a 5-1-1 series lead over the Tigers.

Both clubs may be missing standout defensive players in their 56th meeting.

Oklahoma's Carl McAdams, strong contender for all-America linebacker honors, suffered a badly sprained ankle in last week's 24-20 win over Iowa State. He's been ruled out of the Mizzou game.

Russ Washingeon, Missouri's massive sophomore end, is likely to remain on the sidelines after straining a knee in the win over Colorado last week.

The forward pass doesn't figure to be a popular mode of travel when the two ground-oriented attacks clash. Missouri (233.9) and Oklahoma (193.9) rank second and third behind Nebraska in rushing offense in Big Eight play.

The Tigers have the conference rushing leader in halfback Charlie Brown, who has gained 683 yards, and the fifth-ranking ball carrier in fullback Carl Reese (456 yards).

The Sooners are led by sophomore quarterback Gene Cagle (297) with Tom Pannell, Larry Brown and Ben Hart also over the 200-yard mark.

—LATE AERIAL WINS—

Cowboys Cop Playoff, 20-14, Over Bellevue

Omaha (AP) — Boys Town struck for a 54-yard aerial touchdown play in the final minute Friday night to defeat Bellevue, 20-14, in the Metropolitan Conference play off.

The win closed out an all victorious season for Boys Town, the state's No. 1 ranked high school team. The Cowboys won 10.

Bellevue scored twice in the last quarter to wipe out a 13-0 lead and took the lead itself when Roger Smith kicked the extra point after the second score.

The second Bellevue score followed a stand in which the Cowboys were halted on the Bellevue four. Then Smith passed to end Tom McGinness who raced 84 yards to the Cowboy 10 to set up the touchdown.

After the Bellevue kickoff, Pat Kenneally threw two incomplete passes before connecting with halfback Nate McKinney on the 54-yard payoff pitch.

Boys Town	0	6	0	14—20
Bellevue	0	0	0	14—14

Boys Town—McKinney (3) 70 punt return, 67 run, 54 pass from Kenneally; PAT—Kight (2).
Bellevue—Smith, 5 run; Struble, 1 run; PAT—Smith (2).

SOONERS BATTLE TIGERS WITHOUT CARL McADAMS

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's great linebacker Carl McAdams, hub of the Sooners' defense, "definitely will not play" against Missouri Saturday, Coach Gomer Jones said.

McAdams, a 215-pound senior from White Deer, Tex., was second-team All America last year and was a leading candidate for top honors this season.

He suffered a severely sprained ankle last Saturday in a 24-20 win over Iowa State and Jones said he is not sufficiently recovered to participate.

McAdams was on crutches until Thursday and Jones said he still is unable to wear a shoe on the injured foot.

Don Kindley, a 200-pound junior from Cushing, will replace McAdams.

Missouri holds down second place behind Nebraska in the Big Eight Conference race with a 4-1 mark. Oklahoma is third place at 3-1. The loser Saturday will be eliminated from title contention.

Parseghian Being Lured By AFL's Miami Dolphins?

New York (AP) — Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame might be the coach of the Miami team when it enters the American Football League next season, the New York Journal-American said Friday.

But the report was promptly denied.

Barney Kremenko wrote in the Journal-American that the Dolphins "were trying to lure Parseghian over to their side for 1966, when they go into operation."

Joe Robbie, co-owner of the Dolphins, said that his club "had not been in direct or indirect contact with Ara Parseghian or any other coach, college or pro, in regard to our head coaching job."

Minneapolis (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers, playing catchup all the way, finally overtook New York in the final minute on Elgin Baylor's free throw for a 107-106 National Basketball Association victory Friday night.

Baylor shot over Dick Van Arsdale from point-blank range with a minute to play to tie the score at 106.

Then Baylor, jockeying for his pet fadeaway jump shot off the base line, was fouled by Walt Bellamy with 14 seconds to go.

Syracuse Bombs Ralston By 21-0

Syracuse — Syracuse used a devestating ground-game here Friday night to blank Ralston, 21-0 for the Ak-Sar-Ben Conference championship.

Syracuse, who had beaten Ralston by 14-7 earlier in the season, ended the campaign with a 8-1 record. Syracuse was ranked eighth in Class B standings before the contest.

Jews Thinking About Seeking Out Converts

San Francisco (AP) — Jews, who in the past 16 centuries have made little effort at proselyting, are thinking about a program of missions for the conversion to Judaism of "the unsynagogued and unchurched."

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations, with more than a million members, opens its 48th biennial general assembly in San Francisco Saturday.

More than 3,000 delegates from 664 Reform Jewish temples in the United States and Canada are expected for the meeting which runs through Thursday.

For the first time there will be delegates from Hawaii and Alaska.

The theme of the conference is "A Faith for Our Times." A precedent was set in inviting official observers from the National Council of Churches and the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Also, for the first time, invitations went to the Orthodox and Conservative Jewish organizations.

A spokesman for the conference defined the three branches of Judaism: the Orthodox follows strictly the traditional law in the Shulchanach — the Jewish books of law. Conservatives recognize the need for some change and adjustment of the Judaic laws, but will change only within the framework of the law. Reform Judaism respects the tradition but, the spokesman said, "makes it relevant to each generation and is not bound strictly by that law, but interprets it according to its need."

TWO KILLED

Charles H. Schmid, 23, of Tucson, Ariz., was arraigned on charges of murdering two Tucson sisters, Gretchen and Wendy Fritz. Their bodies were found on the desert near Tucson. They had been missing since August.

Japanese Solons Come To Blows

Tokyo (UPI) — Fist-fighting broke out in the lower house of the Japanese Parliament Friday over a treaty between Japan and South Korea.

Later, students and other demonstrators clashed with police. A number of persons were injured and 18 were arrested.

The treaty bill passed the lower house of the parliament, but Speaker Naka Funada, 70, center of the stormy session, collapsed and was taken to a hospital for treatment of high blood pressure and a heart ailment.

The treaty will go into effect automatically in 30 days.

As evening approached, more than 40,000 demonstrators jammed the nation's major railroad stations, combining protest against the treaty ratification bill with threats of a railroad strike.

The biggest demonstration took place in the spacious Tokyo station where nearly 25,000 members of the National Railway Workers Union, ultra-leftist Zengakuren students, and other leftist groups jammed the platform.

Some snake-danced through the terminal and others staged sitdowns despite the presence of 700 station guards who had been mobilized to keep order. As the demonstration grew in size, four platoons of steel-helmeted riot police moved in with clubs.

The rioting prevented passengers from reaching their trains, and many trains were delayed.

M.D.s Say Ike Likely To Recover

Ft. Gordon, Ga. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower definitely has had his second heart attack. But his chief physician said Friday, "I think the greatest period of danger has passed . . . His likelihood of recovery I would consider very good."

That was Dr. Thomas Mattingly of Washington speaking to a packed news conference at Ft. Gordon Army Hospital about six hours after word was passed that the 75-year-old general definitely had suffered a heart attack.

And another heart specialist, Dr. Harry Harper of Augusta, Ga., said that "Yes, I would" agree with Mattingly on recovery prospects.

Mattingly said he thinks it would be a reasonably good guess that Eisenhower might remain in the hospital here another two weeks, then probably move to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

How long the period of recuperation might take after that, Mattingly wouldn't predict. But he said it would be a good conclusion that the total period would be less than that which followed Eisenhower's major heart attack at Denver in 1955.

Both Mattingly and Harper said that the new heart attack, beginning with a series of chest pains in the early hours of Tuesday, was a gradual development and that this is a favorable sign.

Prison Inmate Stabs Guards, Killing One

Pittsburgh (UPI) — One guard was stabbed to death and another was seriously wounded Friday by an inmate at the Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary.

Clifford Grogan, 37, of Pittsburgh, was pronounced dead at the prison hospital. Lawrence Weyandt, 39, of nearby Carnegie, Pa., was hospitalized with stab wounds of the abdomen and back. His condition was listed as fair.

The suspected assailant was identified as Stanley Howard, 26, of Philadelphia County, Pa. He had been transferred recently from Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia.

An aide to Warden James F. Maroney said Weyandt was attacked first. Grogan went to his assistance, was knocked to the ground and stabbed three times. The cause of the incident was not determined.

Howard was serving 30 to 60 years for armed robbery. He was transferred from Philadelphia after an attack on another prisoner.

The prison has been the scene of several disturbances over the past 15 years. In 1951 a full-scale riot broke out and fire was set, causing more than $1 million damage.

In 1962, 13 inmates climbed a water tower to protest conditions at the prison. One of them remained aloft more than a week.

And last June 27 three prisoners took two guards as hostages, holding them for two hours before they surrendered under a tear-gas barrage.

Priceless Pieta Back Home From N.Y. Fair

Vatican City (AP)— Michelangelo's priceless Pieta got back to the Vatican Friday night after 19 months at the New York World's Fair Vatican Pavilion.

It had to spend the night under guard in the rain outside St. Peter's Basilica.

Workmen were waiting until daylight for the tricky job of getting it uncrated and back on its pedestal.

Pope Paul VI will go to the basilica Monday to see the remounted statue, Vatican sources said. He saw it in its World's Fair setting on his early October visit to New York.

Michelangelo sculpted the Pieta in 1499. It is a sensitive portrayal of Mary cradling Christ on her lap after his removal from the cross.

Underlings Battle For Top Teamster Job

By NEIL GILBRIDE

Washington (AP)—The princelings of the Teamsters Union empire are stepping up their quietly intense power struggle to determine who will ascend the throne if and when king Jimmy Hoffa goes to prison.

The stakes in the backstage maneuvering for the presidency of the giant union are tremendous, with wide implications not only for the Teamsters, but for organized labor in general and for the federal government.

With the job go not only $75,000 a year and such trappings as a plush office in the Teamsters' "marble palace" headquarters in the shadow of the nation's Capitol, but control of the world's biggest union with 1.7 million members and $1 billion in assets.

Jockeying

The jockeying among the union's 13 teamsters vice presidents has been going on in earnest ever since Hoffa's first federal conviction and eight-year prison sentence on jury tampering charges 20 months ago.

But the struggle surfaced for the first time only a few days ago when Teamsters' Vice President Einar Mohn of Los Angeles announced he'll be a candidate if Hoffa does not run for re-election at the union's convention next summer.

Translated, that means Mohn's hat is in the ring if the government wins its seven-year battle to jail Hoffa by then.

If the Supreme Court should deny Hoffa a hearing, he would be sent almost immediately to prison, and the internal fight to take over the union would break out into an open free-for-all.

Meantime, however the Teamsters' palace guard continues to regard Hoffa as a dangerous antagonist.

Vice President John B. Backhus of Philadelphia got nowhere in demanding Hoffa's resignation after his federal convictions.

Backhus was pressured into signing an agreement along with all the other teamsters vice presidents to hold off at least until Hoffa's appeals are exhausted.

Why then Mohn's public announcement as a candidate to succeed Hoffa when it's still not certain Hoffa is washed up?

Here's the way Teamsters' insiders explain it:

The fight to replace Hoffa has boiled down basically to a struggle between Mohn and Vice President Harold Gibbons, one-time close associate of Hoffa who broke with him in a bitter personal quarrel but is still secretly the No. 2 man in the Teamsters' headquarters here.

Fiefs

The rest of the vice presidents are regarded as too old, too ill or too disinterested in leaving the relative safety of their individual Teamster fiefs around the country.

Mohn, isolated on the west coast, is worried about Gibbons quietly gathering the reins of power through his role in union headquarters here. Thus, his public announcement as a candidate to succeed Hoffa.

Gibbons, whose power base is St. Louis, has been spending almost as much time here as there, acting in effect as Hoffa's top assistant in relaying policies and orders throughout the Teamsters empire.

Pakistani Diplomat Says India Must Keep Pledge

By GARY GRAUL
Star Staff Writer

"Pakistan does not say to India, 'Give Kashmir to us.' It just says, 'Abide by your promise,'" a Pakistani diplomat said Friday.

Iftikhar Ali, minister of the Pakistan embassy in the United States, made this statement in an address before a convocation audience at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Ali was referring to India's promise in 1948 to hold a plebiscite in Kashmir to determine which country it would join.

He called India's failure to fulfill this promise "a challenge to the conscience of mankind — to the conscience of the United Nations."

'Unprovoked Aggression'

Ali labelled India's actions earlier this year as "unprovoked aggression. Who crossed the cease-fire line first? Who shelled a village across international borders? Who first used the air force? Who launched an attack across international borders?"

He denied that Pakistan had aggressive tendencies, pointing out that Pakistan did not take advantage of India when it was attacked by Red China.

"If we were in collusion with the Chinese," he noted ominously, "something more serious than an ultimatum withdrawn after three days would have resulted."

Ali listed three reasons why Kashmir logically belongs to Pakistan: the religious persuasion of the people, geographical continuity and economic factors.

Communication

The economic factors are that Kashmir's lines of communication and transportation "run into the western plains of Pakistan."

"Do Indians hold onto the rest of their nation by force of arms? Is that the only way they can keep their country together? Look at your papers of the (1948) period and you will be shocked by the atrocities committed by India at that time."

Ali also attacked Indian claims of Pakistani infiltrators across the cease-fire line. "They supposedly infiltrated from hostile territory into territory that is like a fortress. How far can human credulity be stretched?"

A major portion of Ali's speech was concerned with what he called "some of the excuses" India gives for delaying the plebiscite.

According to him, India claims that "with the passage of time, their promise has elapsed."

Civilized Relations

If this were accepted, "All treaties would have no sanction. Civilized relations among nations would come to an end."

India also used Pakistan's membership in CENTO and SEATO as an excuse, he said. "We must deny the right of self-determination because Pakistan has joined the western camp — this is Indian logic."

He minimized Indian claims that Kashmir is necessary for defense against China. "Shall India also swallow Nepal and Burma because the route to China is easier? This would lead to absorption of all bordering states."

He labelled this as "a grave moment in the history of the world. . . If it is not settled soon, the Kashmir dispute might result in a larger conflagration which could threaten the peace of the world."

"Sooner or later the people of Kashmir will get their right," he predicted. "They cannot be restricted by force indifinitely."

"The future of our two countries is tied inseparably together," he emphasized. He called upon the two to cooperate "in nation-building, elimination of poverty, diseases, hunger. If we don't, the future is grim indeed."

Singapore May Mediate

New Delhi, India (AP)—Singapore offered to act as mediator in India's dispute with Red China.

Power Units To Be Quizzed On Surplus Use

The Legislative Council's public power committee Friday agreed to quiz major power districts to determine if the districts are spending surplus revenue for unnecessary legal services, lobbying and public relations.

The committee, meeting for the first time, voted to ask each district for figures on its gross revenues for last year and information on its legal, advertising, lobbying and public relations expenditures for the past two years.

The action was taken after the chairman of the committee said Nebraskans should not tolerate lawsuits by public power districts "designed solely as harassment."

"Nebraskans should not permit a power district to deliberately spend electric revenues to purposely delay litigation which needs a quick court test,' said Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City. "The best interest of all Nebraska electric users are at stake and time is of the essence."

Used to Lower Rates

He said power district revenues should be used to lower rates to consumers, not to finance unnecessary litigation.

Stryker was chief introducer of the controversial power merger bill which was passed by the last Legislature.

The bill, calling for the merger of Consumers and Loup River Public Power Districts and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District into one wholesale grid system by next July, has been challenged in Platte County District Court in Columbus.

Sen. Stryker told the legislative study group that Nebraska has had "neither the best operating efficiency at the wholesale level which we needed nor did we have the lowest rates possible" and one of the reasons is the "continual legal chaos" in the power field.

"We have been lulled to sleep by our own voices saying over and over again that we have the lowest rates," he said, but in fact Nebraska's wholesale rates are 29th from the lowest among the states.

Reduction

Sen. Stryker noted that the Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS), which is composed of the Loup and Platte districts, has announced a reduction in wholesale power rates.

"This rate reduction comes as no surprise," Stryker said, "since the rates were reviewed by the Power Review Board in 1964, and I have some figures on revenue and expenses that indicate the NPPS was collecting revenues in excess of 50% coverage" in 1963 and 1964.

This produced a surplus which may total several million dollars and which NPPS is willing to return to the customer "if the customer will succumb to certain concessions," Stryker said.

He said the committee should do everything in its power to insure that "Nebraska electric users get the lowest possible rates and the best possible service."

No 'Feathering'

"We want to see that power districts are spending the public's money to reach that goal and not to feather their own nests," he said.

Okland Sen. C. W. Holmquist was named vice chairman of the committee in charge of a study of the feasibility of taxing power district property, and North Platte Sen. Cecil Craft was named vice chairman of a study to see if power revenue has been used to lower rates.

Dunlevey Disqualifies Self In Consent Case

State Motor Vehicles Director James Dunlevey said Friday he has disqualified himself from conducting an implied consent hearing involving a state employe.

The employe is Railway Commission Secretary Michael B. McManaman, who declined to take a sobriety test after he was stopped Nov. 4 by Lincoln Police.

Later, McManaman pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a careless driving charge and was fined $25.

Dunlevey said he will appoint an examiner to hold McManaman's implied consent hearing, scheduled for Nov. 26.

Under Nebraska law, a person suspected of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcoholic liquor who refuses to submit to a chemical sobriety test may be ordered to show cause why his driver's license should not be revoked.

The motor vehicles director is empowered to revoke the license for one year if the refusal is invalid.

Eiting Out

Earlier this year, Gov. Frank Morrison asked for and received B G H Eting's resignation as motor vehicle director because of what the governor called poor administration of the law.

Dunlevey was appointed acting director by the governor last month, then was recently named director.

State's Medicare Plan Approved By U.S. Officials

State Health Director E A. Rogers Friday learned federal officials have approved Nebraska's state medicare plan, making Nebraska the first state to be cleared for participation in the sweeping health program for the elderly.

Dr. Rogers said the official notification of approval and federal funds necessary to establish a new Health Department division to implement the medicare program in Nebraska will be received later.

Dr. S. L. Larson, recently appointed state medicare director, said he will not begin certifying medical facilities until his staff is hired, and the hiring of staff must await receipt of federal funds.

Medicare hospital coverage for persons over 65 years of age is scheduled to take effect next July 1. Medicare does not cover nursing home care for the elderly until January of 1967.

Pakistani Diplomat Says India Must Keep Pledge

By GARY GRAUL
Star Staff Writer

"Pakistan does not say to India, 'Give Kashmir to us.' It just says, 'Abide by your promise,' " a Pakistani diplomat said Friday.

Iftikhar Ali, minister of the Pakistan embassy in the United States, made this statement in an address before a convocation audience at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Ali was referring to India's promise in 1948 to hold a plebiscite in Kashmir to determine which country it would join.

He called India's failure to fulfill this promise "a challenge to the conscience of mankind — to the conscience of the United Nations."

'Unprovoked Aggression'

Ali labelled India's actions earlier this year as "unprovoked aggression. Who crossed the cease-fire line first? Who shelled a village across international borders? Who first used the air force? Who launched an attack across international borders?"

He denied that Pakistan had aggressive tendencies, pointing out that Pakistan did not take advantage of India when it was attacked by Red China.

"If we were in collusion with the Chinese," he noted ominously, "something more serious than an ultimatum withdrawn after three days would have resulted."

Ali listed three reasons why Kashmir logically belongs to Pakistan: "the religious persuasion of the people, geographical continuity and economic factors."

Communication

The economic factors are that Kashmir's lines of communication and transportation "run into the western plains of Pakistan."

"Do Indians hold onto the rest of their nation by force of arms? Is that the only way they can keep their country together? Look at your papers of the (1948) period and you will be shocked by the atrocities committed by India at that time."

Ali also attacked Indian claims of Pakistani infiltrators across the cease-fire line. "They supposedly infiltrated from hostile territory into territory that is like a fortress. How far can human credulity be stretched?"

A major portion of Ali's speech was concerned with what he called "some of the excuses" India gives for delaying the plebiscite.

According to him, India claims that "with the passage of time, their promise has elapsed."

Civilized Relations

If this were accepted, "All treaties would have no sanction. Civilized relations among nations would come to an end."

India also used Pakistan's membership in CENTO and SEATO as an excuse, he said. "We must deny the right of self-determination because Pakistan has joined the western camp — this is Indian logic."

He minimized Indian claims that Kashmir is necessary for defense against China. "Shall India also swallow Nepal and Burma because the route to China is easier? This would lead to absorption of all bordering states."

He labelled this as "a grave moment in the history of the world . . If it is not settled soon, the Kashmir dispute might result in a larger conflagration which could threaten the peace of the world."

"Sooner or later the people of Kashmir will get their right," he predicted. "They cannot be restricted by force indifinitely."

"The future of our two countries is tied inseparably together," he emphasized. He called upon the two to cooperate "in nation-building, elimination of poverty, diseases, hunger. If we don't, the future is grim indeed."

Power Units To Be Quizzed On Surplus Use

The Legislative Council's public power committee Friday agreed to quiz major power districts to determine if the districts are spending surplus revenue for unnecessary legal services, lobbying and public relations.

The committee, meeting for the first time, voted to ask each district for figures on its gross revenues for last year and information on its legal, advertising, lobbying and public relations expenditures for the past two years.

The action was taken after the chairman of the committee said Nebraskans should not tolerate lawsuits by public power districts "designed solely as harassment."

"Nebraskans should not permit a power district to deliberately spend electric revenues to purposely delay litigation which needs a quick court test," said Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City. "The best interest of all Nebraska electric users are at stake and time is of the essence."

Used to Lower Rates

He said power district revenues should be used to lower rates to consumers, not to finance unnecessary litigation.

Stryker was chief introducer of the controversial power merger bill which was passed by the last Legislature.

The bill, calling for the merger of Consumers and Loup River Public Power Districts and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District into one wholesale grid system by next July, has been challenged in Platte County District Court in Columbus.

Sen. Stryker told the legislative study group that Nebraska has had "neither the best operating efficiency at the wholesale level which we needed nor did we have the lowest rates possible" and one of the reasons is the "continual legal chaos" in the power field.

"We have been lulled to sleep by our own voices saying over and over again that we have the lowest rates," he said, but in fact Nebraska's wholesale rates are 29th from the lowest among the states.

Reduction

Sen. Stryker noted that the Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS), which is composed of the Loup and Platte districts, has announced a reduction in wholesale power rates.

"This rate reduction comes as no surprise," Stryker said, "since the rates were reviewed by the Power Review Board in 1964, and I have some figures on revenue and expenses that indicate the NPPS was collecting revenues in excess of 50% coverage" in 1963 and 1964.

This produced a surplus which may total several million dollars and which NPPS is willing to return to the customer "if the customer will succumb to certain concessions," Stryker said.

He said the committee should do everything in its power to insure that "Nebraska electric users get the lowest possible rates and the best possible service."

No 'Feathering'

"We want to see that power districts are spending the public's money to reach that goal and not to feather their own nests," he said.

Okland Sen. C. W. Holmquist was named vice chairman of the committee in charge of a study of the feasibility of taxing power district property, and North Platte Sen. Cecil Craft was named vice chairman of a study to see if power revenue has been used to lower rates.

Dunlevey Disqualifies Self In Consent Case

State Motor Vehicles Director James Dunlevey said Friday he has disqualified himself from conducting an implied consent hearing involving a state employe.

The employe is Railway Commission Secretary Michael B. McManaman, who declined to take a sobriety test after he was stopped Nov. 4 by Lincoln Police.

Later, McManaman pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a careless driving charge and was fined $25.

Dunlevey said he will appoint an examiner to hold McManaman's implied consent hearing, scheduled for Nov. 26.

Under Nebraska law, a person suspected of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcoholic liquor who refuses to submit to a chemical sobriety test may be ordered to show cause why his driver's license should not be revoked.

The motor vehicles director is empowered to revoke the license for one year if the refusal is invalid.

Eiting Out

Earlier this year, Gov. Frank Morrison asked for and received B. G. H. Eting's resignation as motor vehicle director because of what the governor called poor administration of the law.

Dunlevey was appointed acting director by the governor last month, then was recently named director.

1 Of Every 14 Vietnamese May Become War Refugee

Washington (AP)—South Vietnamese torn from their homes by war may increase to a million over the next year, reports Friday night indicated. This would be about one in 14 of all the troubled country's inhabitants.

This would mean further demands on U.S. relief funds and personnel.

Officials of the Agency for International Development reported that there now are 720,000 displaced persons in South Viet Nam, although 250,000 of these have been resettled in temporary shelters. They conceded the total is bound to rise as the fighting spreads.

Estimate

The American Council of Voluntary Agencies, in a report to President Johnson, made one estimate of a million refugees before the end of 1966.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who recently completed a quick on-the-scene study of the refugee problem, estimated the original AID forecast of 100,000 refugees may be exceeded by 900,000. Kennedy heads a judiciary subcommittee on refugees and escapees and is drafting a report to be submitted to the Senate in January.

The AID is in the midst of a manpower buildup with trained personnel being assembled to deal with the problem.

"Anything they need, they will get," promised Rutherford Poats, deputy AID administrator for the Far East.

Causes

The report of the voluntary aid agencies to Johnson said that the cause of the exodus traces to terrorism and increasing pressure from the Viet Cong and the steadily increasing scale of military action.

U.S. officials acknowledged that intensification of the war effort, including increased bombing and ground action against the Viet Cong, unquestionably will magnify the refugee problem. At the same time, they feel an increase in the secure areas will facilitate the resettlement program.

The costs of the expanded refugee program have not been made known but at the rate of 10 cents a day for each of the displaced women, children and elderly persons, the bare subsistence costs could quickly mount to more than $30 million dollars in ten months.

The costs of medicines, schooling, rehabilitation, refugee centers would be in addition to that.

Freeman Takes Optimistic View Of Agricultural Future

Omaha (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman took an optimistic view Friday of the nation's agricultural future but conceded he could not foresee the time when it will not be necessary to take "substantial acreages out of production."

For the foreseeable future, he said, we will be able to produce all we need for our own use and have some left.

Freeman said the American farmer's net income in 1965 will be $14 billion, the highest since the Korean War. The average Nebraska farm will net $1,600 more this year than in 1960, he added.

Free Enterprise

The agriculture secretary, talking to newsmen following an address to the National Newspaper Association, said the government's new philosophy under the food and agricultural act of 1965 provides for "much more of a free enterprise program."

Under the four year act the government will pay farmers for not producing crops rather than pay for storing surpluses.

Speaking of soybeans, Freeman said, "I think we are going to sell as many as we produce." However, he said soybean prices might drop a little.

Freeman also said:

—He looks for a good deal more choice fed beef to be shipped to western Europe. Hopes in this area have been raised by the recent shipment of choice beef to West Germany.

Industry Problem

—The boxcar shortage is mainly a problem of the railroad industry itself. The Agriculture Department has been as "vocal as we know how" in seeking to stimulate the manufacture of more cars.

—This nation seeks dollar customers rather than relief customers in the underdeveloped nations. Therefore the U.S. would rather see these countries improve their own agriculture rather than be a continuing dumping ground for U.S. surpluses.

—Despite this nation's hopes for them, most of the underdeveloped countries have lost ground in the last five years in their agricultural production on a per capita basis. Though their production has increased their populations have increased even faster.

2 Valley Youths Plead Guilty To Disturbing Peace

Fremont (AP) — Two Valley youths have pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace growing out of a cross-burning incident.

The pair, Kirk C. Noyes, 16, and Rudy H. Smith, 17, were fined $100 and costs each in Peace Justice Daniel A. Martin's court.

Fremont police said Noyes had been fined in the same court Sept. 27 for reckless driving. Dr. L. L. Gausman, a Fremont dentist, was the complaining witness in that case. Smith had been in Noyes' car at the time of the incident, officers said.

It was in Dr. Gausman's yard that the wooden cross was burned last Sunday evening.

The youths admitted in court that the cross-burning had been an attempt to get even.

West Germans Nab Spy

Berlin (AP) — Hans Weiss, 59, a minor official in the West Berlin Criminal Affairs Office, has been arrested on a charge of spying for Communist East Germany, West Berlin police reported.

NU Regents Will Review Ataturk Relationship

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents will review the University's special relationship with Ataturk University in Turkey, it was announced Friday.

Vice-Chancellor Joseph Soshnik, who recently returned from a visit to the Turkish university, said there has been talk about extending the current contract to June 30, 1967.

Under the present agreement, Nebraska University supplies instructors to the Turkish institution and has generally aided in establishing new course study programs there. It has been in effect since 1954.

Val Peterson of Hastings, Regents president, reported last month that the Turkish schol is developing fast. He also visited the university.

Gary Crosby Asks Divorce

Los Angeles (UPI) — Gary Crosby, oldest of Bing Crosby's four adult sons, filed suit Friday to divorce his estranged wife, Barbara, on grounds of extreme cruelty.

His grounds were similar to those of Mrs. Crosby, when she sought separate maintenance in July.

Married in Las Vegas, Nev., on Sept. 6, the Crosby's had no children of their own, but Gary legally adopted his wife's son, Steven, by a previous union.

Grant To Omaha For Paunch Plant Is Withdrawn

A $168,803 federal grant to the City of Omaha for a paunch manure treatment plant Friday was withdrawn by the State Water Pollution Control Council at the city's request.

The grant was to help pay for a proposed $3.5 million plant, but plans for the unique facility were junked after contractors failed to sibmit bids for the project two months ago.

The city originally asked for $600,000 in federal money for the plant, which had been scheduled to go under construction this year, and the council had agreed to allocate more federal funds for the project as money became available.

Filipi said Omaha's withdrawal, plus some federal funds recovered from other projects, pushes to nearly $200,000 the total of federal money unappropriated for the current fiscal year.

He said letters will be sent to municipalities informing them of the surplus and suggesting they submit project applications, which will be considered at the next council meeting.

Vault Firm Will Build At Norfolk

Norfolk (AP)—The Williams Wilbert Burial Vault Co. of Des Moines, Iowa, has announced it will build a manufacturing plant in Norfolk. Construction will begin next spring.

The firm has signed a contract for purchase of a 1.9 acre building site. Spokesmen said the firm will transfer a manager to Norfolk to guide the work of six or seven employes who will be hired locally.

Kidnaping Protested

Rabat, Morocco (AP) — The kidnaping of an exiled opponent of the government resulted in strikes in Rabat and Casablanca.

Dr. Meierhenry Urges Changes In 'Self-Concept'

Washington (UPI)—A University of Nebraska authority on programmed instruction told an assembly here that changes in teacher "self-concept" must occur before the newest developments in education can be used to their full advantage.

Dr. Wesley Meierhenry, assistant dean of the Teachers College, addressed world authorities at the Conference for Strategies for Educational Change.

He said many recent developments in education, including television, programmed instruction and team teaching, require the teacher to learn to live with outside forces between herself and the learner.

Dr. Meierhenry explained that the newer developments involve fundamental re-examinations of the function and place of the classroom teacher in our society.

No Decision Yet On Lear's Bid For Beer Permit

Lancaster County Commissioners closed their Tuesday's recessed board meeting Friday without making a decision on the on-sale beer license application of Bob Lear for his steakhouse on U.S. 77.

The application drew opposition at a public hearing before the board Tuesday on grounds that Lear had previously sold a beer license he held, and that in seeking the license, he is asking for more than what he now has in his spiking operation, which becomes illegal Nov. 18 under a new law passed by the 1965 Legislature.

Lear contended he was merely trying to comply with the law in seeking the beer license and a bottle club license which was recommended for approval by the board.

Insurance Dept. To Take Over Omaha Company

Omaha (AP)—District Judge Paul J. Garrotto Friday ordered the State Department of Insurance to take over operations of the United Benefit Fire Insurance Company of Omaha.

The department moved last week to take possession of the company and said it was insolvent.

Auditors told Judge Garrotto the company was $656,512.29 in debt.

United Benefit Fire is an Omaha company which writes surety bonds and fire and casualty insurance, including automobile insurance. It is not connected with any other Omaha insurance company.

Larger Local Role In Water Plans Urged

Kansas City (AP)—A Colorado congressman warned Friday against an attitude of "let Uncle Sam do it" in water resources development. He told the National Reclamation Association that it, too, is guilty of asking a larger federal role.

Wayne N. Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said that by expanding federal participation local agencies of government "abdicate their rights to make decisions respecting their water resources."

He spoke at a luncheon on the last day of the 34th annual convention of the National Reclamation Association. Some 700 members of reclamation associations in 17 western states attended the 2-day meeting.

Aspinall said there is a prevalent view that development of water and other resources is tto big a job for local government.

Aspinall said that despite publicity about a water crisis "there is no water shortage in the northeastern United States.

"There is a shortage of usable water because of pollution and there is evidence of poor planning and bad water management by some of the municipalities," Aspinall said.

Reclamation projects improve and enhance more than they damage, Reclamation Commissioner Floyd Dominy said and added: "It is hard to understand the constant drumfire of opposition from the professional protectionist lobby."

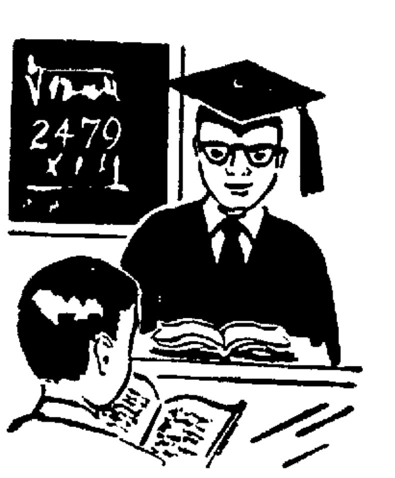
NASON ON EDUCATION:

Boy, 12, Satisfied With Mere Passing Grades

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON



Dear Dr. Nason:

My 12-year-old son barely passed the seventh grade. And there are signs that the same thing may happen this year. His teachers complain about his attitude, which appears to be that he is doing the teacher a favor just by sitting in the classroom.

When he takes an examination his goal is to pass — nothing more. I want him to raise the standards of his work, but I want to be fair and not humiliate him.

We have tried punishment—no TV, no school sports, no bicycle, no trips. Should I request that the child repeat a grade? Is this the real lesson he needs? Or should I allow him to go ahead and graduate with his class?

J.F.W., Scarsdale, N.Y.

Answer:

Punishments and restrictions will not produce the drive your son lacks. Allow him to continue with his class and engage in a reasonable number of sports. Give him back his bicycle. Along with these things, give him the responsibility of succeeding in school.

Discuss the problem with his school counselor or principal, requesting that your son be given special help in getting into the habit of learning in class. He may decide to make a greater effort when someone helps him plan his approach to schoolwork in enough detail so that he can substitute efficient procedures for his present unsatisfactory habits of behavior.

Dear Dr. Nason:

My daughter is now in the second grade. Her reading was a source of bewilderment to me all during her first year. She still can't remember simple words like should, well, things, could, would, etc. During the first grade, her teacher sent home lists of words. We went over them with her, had her write them over and over, yet she still failed to remember them.

She does well in arithmetic and spelling, but still can't read the words when she gets home.

What do you suggest?

Mrs. N.L., Tipp City, O.

Answer:

Whether your daughter's difficulty is in perception or memory — or in some other mental process essential to reading—can be determined only through a careful diagnosis by an expert.

Reading is so essential to success both in and out of school that you should not delay in getting professional help. If your local school superintendent is unable to refer you to a person skilled in the diagnosis of this type of difficulty, you should write to the head of your County Medical Association for information.

Dear Dr. Nason:

In a previous column, you stated that more women teachers are needed in junior colleges. At present I teach accounting in high school. I am, however, interested in teaching at the college level. I have my M.A., plus 20 additional credits.

Please advise me how I may receive information about, and applications for, teaching in junior colleges or four-year colleges.

Answer:

The college from which you received your degree undoubtedly has a bureau that places teachers at all levels, including college. This office would be your best source of information regarding your eligibility for such a position. They could also advise you regarding any further preparation you might require.

Lincolnite Steps Down As Dental President

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—Dr. Maynard Rine of Indianapolis, Ind., was installed as the president of the American Dental Association, succeeding Dr. Fritz A. Pierson of Lincoln, Neb.

The ceremony came at the close of the 106th annual association convention. More than 20,000 dentists and their guests attended.

Meet Star Carrier Craig Sheffert

Craig Sheffert is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sheffert of 3411 Holdrege. Craig delivers the Lincoln Star to his customers in the area from Holdrege to the railroad tracks and from 33rd to Idylwild Dr.

Craig

Craig is in the ninth grade at Whittier Junior High School. Math, science and history are a few of Craig's favorite subjects. Spare time activities include building model airplanes and boats. In the summer time Craig spends most of his spare time swimming and fishing. Craig also indicated an interest in hunting although he has never had the opportunity to do so.

Most of Craig's $29 profit is spent on model airplanes and necessities such as school supplies and clothes. The rest of his profit is put into a savings account for a college education.

In the 26 months that Craig has had the route he has proven himself a young businessman. His customers vary with the school year and Craig never fails to contact the people that move on his route year after year. Conscientious delivery and a friendly attitude along with twenty-six months of experience and a nearly perfect service record have helped Craig become the successful businessman that he is. Craig feels that his route has taught him responsibility as well as the importance of initiative and good route records in maintaining a successful business.

1 Of Every 14 Vietnamese May Become War Refugee

Washington (AP)—South Vietnamese torn from their homes by war may increase to a million over the next year, reports Friday night indicated. This would be about one in 14 of all the troubled country's inhabitants.

This would mean further demands on U.S. relief funds and personnel.

Officials of the Agency for International Development reported that there now are 720,000 displaced persons in South Viet Nam, although 250,000 of these have been resettled in temporary shelters. They conceded the total is bound to rise as the fighting spreads.

Estimate

The American Council of Voluntary Agencies, in a report to President Johnson, made one estimate of a million refugees before the end of 1966.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who recently completed a quick on-the-scene study of the refugee problem, estimated the original AID forecast of 100,000 refugees may be exceeded by 900,000. Kennedy heads a judiciary subcommittee on refugees and escapees and is drafting a report to be submitted to the Senate in January.

The AID is in the midst of a manpower buildup with trained personnel being assembled to deal with the problem.

"Anything they need, they will get," promised Rutherford Poats, deputy AID administrator for the Far East.

Causes

The report of the voluntary aid agencies to Johnson said that the cause of the exodus traces to terrorism and increasing pressure from the Viet Cong and the steadily increasing scale of military action.

U.S. officials acknowledged that intensification of the war effort, including increased bombing and ground action against the Viet Cong, unquestionably will magnify the refugee problem. At the same time, they feel an increase in the secure areas will facilitate the resettlement program.

The costs of the expanded refugee program have not been made known but at the rate of 10 cents a day for each of the displaced women, children and elderly persons, the bare subsistence costs could quickly mount to more than $30 million dollars in ten months.

The costs of medicines, schooling, rehabilitation, refugee centers would be in addition to that.

Freeman Takes Optimistic View Of Agricultural Future

Omaha (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman took an optimistic view Friday of the nation's agricultural future but conceded he could not foresee the time when it will not be necessary to take "substantial acreages out of production."

For the foreseeable future, he said, we will be able to produce all we need for our own use and have some left.

Freeman said the American farmer's net income in 1965 will be $14 billion, the highest since the Korean War. The average Nebraska farm will net $1,600 more this year than in 1960, he added.

Free Enterprise

The agriculture secretary, talking to newsmen following an address to the National Newspaper Association, said the government's new philosophy under the food and agricultural act of 1965 provides for "much more of a free enterprise program."

Under the four year act the government will pay farmers for not producing crops rather than pay for storing surpluses.

Speaking of soybeans, Freeman said, "I think we are going to sell as many as we produce." However, he said soybean prices might drop a little.

Freeman also said:

—He looks for a good deal more choice fed beef to be shipped to western Europe. Hopes in this area have been raised by the recent shipment of choice beef to West Germany.

Industry Problem

—The boxcar shortage is mainly a problem of the railroad industry itself. The Agriculture Department has been as "vocal as we know how" in seeking to stimulate the manufacture of more cars.

—This nation seeks dollar customers rather than relief customers in the underdeveloped nations. Therefore the U.S. would rather see these countries improve their own agriculture rather than be a continuing dumping ground for U.S. surpluses.

—Despite this nation's hopes for them, most of the underdeveloped countries have lost ground in the last five years in their agricultural production on a per capita basis. Though their production has increased their populations have increased even faster.

2 Valley Youths Plead Guilty To Disturbing Peace

Fremont (AP) — Two Valley youths have pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace growing out of a cross-burning incident.

The pair, Kirk C. Noyes, 16, and Rudy H. Smith, 17, were fined $100 and costs each in Peace Justice Daniel A. Martin's court.

Fremont police said Noyes had been fined in the same court Sept. 27 for reckless driving. Dr. L. L. Gausman, a Fremont dentist, was the complaining witness in that case. Smith had been in Noyes' car at the time of the incident, officers said.

It was in Dr. Gausman's yard that the wooden cross was burned last Sunday evening.

The youths admitted in court that the cross-burning had been an attempt to get even.

NU Regents Will Review Ataturk Relationship

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents will review the University's special relationship with Ataturk University in Turkey, it was announced Friday.

Vice-Chancellor Joseph Soshnik, who recently returned from a visit to the Turkish university, said there has been talk about extending the current contract to June 30, 1967.

Under the present agreement, Nebraska University supplies instructors to the Turkish institution and has generally aided in establishing new course study programs there. It has been in effect since 1954.

Val Peterson of Hastings, Regents president, reported last month that the Turkish schol is developing fast. He also visited the university.

Gary Crosby Asks Divorce

Los Angeles (UPI) — Gary Crosby, oldest of Bing Crosby's four adult sons, filed suit Friday to divorce his estranged wife, Barbara, on grounds of extreme cruelty.

His grounds were similar to those of Mrs. Crosby, when she sought separate maintenance in July.

Married in Las Vegas, Nev., on Sept. 6, the Crosby's had no children of their own, but Gary legally adopted his wife's son, Steven, by a previous union.

Grant To Omaha For Paunch Plant Is Withdrawn

A $168,803 federal grant to the City of Omaha for a paunch manure treatment plant Friday was withdrawn by the State Water Pollution Control Council at the city's request.

The grant was to help pay for a proposed $3.5 million plant, but plans for the unique facility were junked after contractors failed to sibmit bids for the project two months ago.

The city originally asked for $600,000 in federal money for the plant, which had been scheduled to go under construction this year, and the council had agreed to allocate more federal funds for the project as money became available.

Filipi said Omaha's withdrawal, plus some federal funds recovered from other projects, pushes to nearly $200,000 the total of federal money unappropriated for the current fiscal year.

He said letters will be sent to municipalities informing them of the surplus and suggesting they submit project applications, which will be considered at the next council meeting.

Vault Firm Will Build At Norfolk

Norfolk (AP)—The Williams Wilbert Burial Vault Co. of Des Moines, Iowa, has announced it will build a manufacturing plant in Norfolk. Construction will begin next spring.

The firm has signed a contract for purchase of a 1.9 acre building site. Spokesmen said the firm will transfer a manager to Norfolk to guide the work of six or seven employes who will be hired locally.

Dr. Meierhenry Urges Changes In 'Self-Concept'

Washington (UPI)—A University of Nebraska authority on programmed instruction told an assembly here that changes in teacher "self-concept" must occur before the newest developments in education can be used to their full advantage.

Dr. Wesley Meierhenry, assistant dean of the Teachers College, addressed world authorities at the Conference for Strategies for Educational Change.

He said many recent developments in education, including television, programmed instruction and team teaching, require the teacher to learn to live with outside forces between herself and the learner.

Dr. Meierhenry explained that the newer developments involve fundamental re-examinations of the function and place of the classroom teacher in our society.

No Decision Yet On Lear's Bid For Beer Permit

Lancaster County Commissioners closed their Tuesday's recessed board meeting Friday without making a decision on the on-sale beer license application of Bob Lear for his steakhouse on U.S. 77.

The application drew opposition at a public hearing before the board Tuesday on grounds that Lear had previously sold a beer license he held, and that in seeking the license, he is asking for more than what he now has in his spiking operation, which becomes illegal Nov. 18 under a new law passed by the 1965 Legislature.

Lear contended he was merely trying to comply with the law in seeking the beer license and a bottle club license which was recommended for approval by the board.

Insurance Dept. To Take Over Omaha Company

Omaha (AP)—District Judge Paul J. Garrotto Friday ordered the State Department of Insurance to take over operations of the United Benefit Fire Insurance Company of Omaha.

The department moved last week to take possession of the company and said it was insolvent.

Auditors told Judge Garrotto the company was $656,512.29 in debt.

United Benefit Fire is an Omaha company which writes surety bonds and fire and casualty insurance, including automobile insurance. It is not connected with any other Omaha insurance company.

Larger Local Role In Water Plans Urged

Kansas City (AP)—A Colorado congressman warned Friday against an attitude of "let Uncle Sam do it" in water resources development. He told the National Reclamation Association that it, too, is guilty of asking a larger federal role.

Wayne N. Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said that by expanding federal participation local agencies of government "abdicate their rights to make decisions respecting their water resources."

He spoke at a luncheon on the last day of the 34th annual convention of the National Reclamation Association. Some 700 members of reclamation associations in 17 western states attended the 3-day meeting.

Aspinall said there is a prevalent view that development of water and other resources is tto big a job for local government.

Aspinall said that despite publicity about a water crisis "there is no water shortage in the northeastern United States.

"There is a shortage of usable water because of pollution and there is evidence of poor planning and bad water management by some of the municipalities," Aspinall said.

Reclamation projects improve and enhance more than they damage, Reclamation Commissioner Floyd Dominy said and added: "It is hard to understand the constant drumfire of opposition from the professional protectionist lobby."

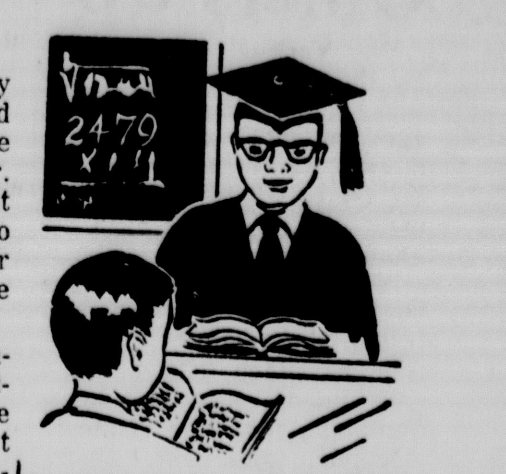
NASON ON EDUCATION:

Boy, 12, Satisfied With Mere Passing Grades

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON



Dear Dr. Nason:

My 12-year-old son barely passed the seventh grade. And there are signs that the same thing may happen this year. His teachers complain about his attitude, which appears to be that he is doing the teacher a favor just by sitting in the classroom.

When he takes an examination his goal is to pass — nothing more. I want him to raise the standards of his work, but I want to be fair and not humiliate him.

We have tried punishment —no TV, no school sports, no bicycle, no trips. Should I request that the child repeat a grade? Is this the real lesson he needs? Or should I allow him to go ahead and graduate with his class?

J.F.W., Scarsdale, N.Y.

Answer:

Punishments and restrictions will not produce the drive your son lacks. Allow him to continue with his class and engage in a reasonable number of sports. Give him back his bicycle. Along with these things, give him the responsibility of succeeding in school.

Discuss the problem with his school counselor or principal, requesting that your son be given special help in getting into the habit of learning in class. He may decide to make a greater effort when someone helps him plan his approach to schoolwork in enough detail so that he can substitute efficient procedures for his present unsatisfactory habits of behavior.

Dear Dr. Nason:

My daughter is now in the second grade. Her reading was a source of bewilderment to me all during her first year. She still can't remember simple words like should, well, things, could, would, etc. During the first grade, her teacher sent home lists of words. We went over them with her, had her write them over and over, yet she still failed to remember them.

She does well in arithmetic and spelling, but still can't read the words when she gets home.

What do you suggest?

Mrs. N.L., Tipp City, O.

Answer:

Whether your daughter's difficulty is in perception or memory — or in some other mental process essential to reading—can be determined only through a careful diagnosis by an expert.

Reading is so essential to success both in and out of school that you should not delay in getting professional help. If your local school superintendent is unable to refer you to a person skilled in the diagnosis of this type of difficulty, you should write to the head of your County Medical Association for information.

Dear Dr. Nason:

In a previous column, you stated that more women teachers are needed in junior colleges. At present I teach accounting in high school. I am, however, interested in teaching at the college level. I have my M.A., plus 20 additional credits.

Please advise me how I may receive information about, and applications for, teaching in junior colleges or four-year colleges.

Answer:

The college from which you received your degree undoubtedly has a bureau that places teachers at all levels, including college. This office would be your best source of information regarding your eligibility for such a position. They could also advise you regarding any further preparation you might require.

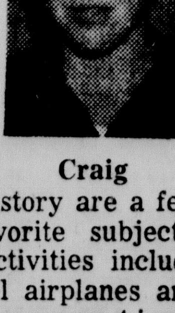
Meet Star Carrier Craig Sheffert

Craig Sheffert is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sheffert of 3411 Holdrege. Craig delivers the Lincoln Star to his customers in the area from Holdrege to the railroad tracks and from 33rd to Idylwild Dr.



Craig

Craig is in the ninth grade at Whittier Junior High School. Math, science and history are a few of Craig's favorite subjects. Spare time activities include building model airplanes and boats. In the summer time Craig spends most of his spare time swimming and fishing. Craig also indicated an interest in hunting although he has never had the opportunity to do so.

Most of Craig's $29 profit is spent on model airplanes and necessities such as school supplies and clothes. The rest of his profit is put into a savings account for a college education.

In the 26 months that Craig has had the route he has proven himself a young businessman. His customers vary with the school year and Craig never fails to contact the people that move on his route year after year. Conscientious delivery and a friendly attitude along with twenty-six months of experience and a nearly perfect service record have helped Craig become the successful businessman that he is. Craig feels that his route has taught him responsibility as well as the importance of initiative and good route records in maintaining a successful business.

Aluminum Stocks Dip; Others Up

New York (AP) — Advancing for the second straight session Friday, the stock market gave convincing evidence that it was not much upset about the quarrel between government and producers over the aluminum price increase.

While representatives of business and industry protested the aluminum price rollback which followed the government move to release aluminum from the strategic stockpile, aluminum stocks were subjected to further selling pressure.

Aluminum shares, however, cut their worst losses as the session wore on. Meanwhile, the investment community showed by its purchasing of color television stocks, other electronics, aerospace issues, office copying stocks, rails and coppers that there was no major breakdown in confidence.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 3.01 to 956.29.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which represents some 85% of the value of stock on the New York Stock Exchange, rose .44 to 92.55, topping the previous historic close of 92.51 made Oct. 27

Volume swelled to 7.79 million shares from 5.44 million Thursday, the biggest since Nov. 4 when 8.39 million shares were traded.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.8 to 355.2 with industrials up 2.8, rails up 1.9 to a new high for the year and utilities off .5.

Of 1,389 issues traded, 684 rose and 457 fell. New highs for the year totaled 107 and new lows 20.

Reynolds Metals was the most active of the aluminum stocks and it sank ⅞ to 44¾. Alcoa, the biggest producer, was off ⅞ at 69½. Kaiser Aluminum also dropped ⅞ while Olin Mathieson came out with a gain of ¾.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks advanced, two declined and commonwealth oil was unchanged.

Magnavox was the most active stock, climbing 5⅜ to 80⅜ on 179,300 shares, following news that Xerox has agreed to handle the marketing, installation and field servicing of a facsimile device made by Magnavox. Xerox added ⅝.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.28 million shares compared with 2.92 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds were slightly lower. U.S. Treasury bonds rose.

Corn, Soybeans Continue Strong

Chicago (AP)—Corn and soybean futures continued their higher trend on the Board of Trade Friday although record crops of both are being harvested.

Soybeans closed with extreme gains of almost 2 cents a bushel, corn up about a cent at best. Wheat, the only significant loser, was off major fractions in spots but up from the lows.

Brokers credited the support for corn and soybeans mainly to commercial buying.

At the close, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ⅝ lower, December $1.64-63¾; corn ½-⅞ higher, December $1.16⅝; oats ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, December 69⅛ cents; rye ⅜-½ higher, December $1.21¾; soybeans ⅝-1¾ higher, November $2.52⅝-¾.

Aluminum Stocks Dip; Others Up

New York (AP) — Advancing for the second straight session Friday, the stock market gave convincing evidence that it was not much upset about the quarrel between government and producers over the aluminum price increase.

While representatives of business and industry protested the aluminum price rollback which followed the government move to release aluminum from the strategic stockpile, aluminum stocks were subjected to further selling pressure.

Aluminum shares, however, cut their worst losses as the session wore on. Meanwhile, the investment community showed by its purchasing of color television stocks, other electronics, aerospace issues, office copying stocks, rails and coppers that there was no major breakdown in confidence.

The Dow Jones industrial average advvanced 3.01 to 956.29.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which represents some 85% of the value of stock on the New York Stock Exchange, rose .44 to 92.55, topping the previous historic close of 92.51 made Oct. 27.

Volume swelled to 7.79 million shares from 5.44 million Thursday, the biggest since Nov. 4 when 8.39 million shares were traded.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ro·e 1.8 to 355.2 with industrials up 2.8, rails up 1.9 to a new high for the year and utilities off .5.

Of 1,389 issues traded, 684 rose and 457 fell. New highs for the year totaled 107 and new lows 20.

Reynolds Metals was the most active of the aluminum stocks and it sank ⅞ to 44¾. Alcoa, the biggest producer, was off ⅞ at 69½. Kaiser Aluminum also dropped ⅞ while Olin Mathieson came out with a gain of ¾.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks advanced, two declined and commonwealth oil was unchanged.

Magnavox was the most active stock, climbing 5⅜ to 80⅜ on 179,300 shares, following news that Xerox has agreed to handle the marketing, installation and field servicing of a facsimile device made by Magnavox. Xerox added ⅝.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.28 million shares compared with 2.92 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds were slightly lower. U.S. Treasury bonds rose.

Corn, Soybeans Continue Strong

Chicago (AP)—Corn and soybean futures continued their higher trend on the Board of Trade Friday although record crops of both are being harvested.

Soybeans closed with extreme gains of almost 2 cents a bushel, corn up about a cent at best. Wheat, the only significant loser, was off major fractions in spots but up from the lows.

Brokers credited the support for corn and soybeans mainly to commercial buying.

At the close, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ⅝ lower, December $1.64-63¾; corn ½-⅞ higher, December $1.16⅝; oats ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, December 69⅛ cents; rye ⅜-½ higher, December $1.21¾; soybeans ⅝-1¾ higher, November $2.52⅝-¾.

Public Hearing To Classify Rivers Set By Pollution Control Council

The State Water Pollution Control Council Friday set Jan. 13 for the first public hearing to classify major rivers and streams in Nebraska.

The initial hearing, to be held in the Capitol, will cover the northeast Nebraska counties of Jefferson, Saline, Seward, Butler, Gage, Lancaster, Saunders, Cass, Otoe, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson.

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi said classification of waters is the first step in an effort by the health department to force all communities to treat their waste discharges.

Quality Standards

The council has adopted official water quality standards for Nebraska's waters, but the council is powerless to require conformity to the standards as long as the waters are not classified.

The January meeting principally will deal with classification of the Platte, Big Blue, Big Nemaha and Little Nemaha Rivers.

Filipi said officials of all municipalities and county governments in the 13-county area and representatives of interested groups will be specifically invited to attend the hearing, with the general public also encouraged to attend.

Filipi said nine other water classification hearings will be held in other areas of the state during the coming year.

The state's water pollution abatement program heretofore has been based on the willingness of communities to voluntarily treat their sewage so as not to violate the council's standards.

Court Action

Filipi said the council now must resort to court action if necessary to force the more than 20 "straggler" communities who do not treat their waste to conform to council standards.

Filipi informed the council that he will cooperate with environmental health officials from South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri in an extensive time flow study of the Missouri River.

"With time flow studies, we will be able to tell how long, for instance, it would take poisonious substances accidentally discharged into the river in Omaha to reach St. Joseph (Mo.)." Filipi noted. "The information will be very valuable in such emergencies."

Filipi also reported he is sending a letter to Nebraska municipalities informing them that Congress has appropriated about $250 million to aid small communities in constructing water works systems and sewers.

He said the money is available through the Housing and Home Finance Administration, the Farm Home Administration or through the Public Facilities Act, with the federal funds to be matched dollar-for-dollar by local money.

State ETV Panel Is Planning Bid For More UHF Channels

Holdrege (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will be asked to reserve 14 additional ultra high frequency (UHF) television channels for educational purposes in Nebraska.

The Nebraska ETV Commission, at a meeting here Friday, approved unanimously a motion that the FCC be petitioned to reserve the channels for possible future allocation.

The locations are Hartington, Hebron, Chadron, Scottsbluff, Kearney, Peru, Lincoln, Wayne, Grand Island, North Platte, Sidney, Beatrice, Columbus and McCook.

Jack McBride, ETV Commission manager, stressed that the petition does not represent any committment on the part of the ETV Commission or the Legislature, nor does it block future commercial station applications or other and revised ETV Commission bids for channels or locations.

McBride said the seven-station basic ETV network now being developed is being received so enthusiastically that it is "within the realm of possibilitythat the basic network system will at some time run out of hours in the broadcast day," making a second network advisable.

ETV One Of Top Achievements, Says Morrison

Holdrege (AP) — Educational television is one of the greatest achievements since the advent of printing, Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday at a dedicatory luncheon for station KLNE-TV, the channel 3 ETV station located five miles south of Holdrege. The station opened in September will cover a radius of about 80 miles.

The governor declared ETV is teaching man to communicate and more than any other thing has the capability of providing equal opportunity for all people. It puts the mysteries of outer space, of science, of mathematics, the arts and other fields of learning into every classroom in the state, he said.

Other speakers at the luncheon included Dr. Theron E. Maxon, president of Hastings College; Dr. Glenn Lundstrom, president of the Nebraska Council for Educational Television; and Mrs. W. K. Bennett of Red Cloud.

A Commission meeting followed the dedicatory luncheon.

Tornado Hits Illinois Valley, Killing One

Joliet, Ill. (AP) — A tornado smashed down the Illinois River Valley Friday.

The tornado killed one, demolished more than 150 houses and injured at least 40 persons in Preston Heights and Sugar Creek — two unincorporated areas south of Joliet.

The one fatality was reported at Channahon.

Joseph Wozniak, a traffic engineer for the city of Joliet, who was in the battered area, said that immediately afterward, "The people were crawling out of the wreckage like ants."

Joliet's two major hospitals, Silver Cross and St. Joseph's, reported their emergency rooms were jammed with injured persons.

The tornado demolished a transmission line tower and knocked out five lines from Commonwealth Edison's Dresden Nuclear Power Station at the junction of the Kankakee and Des Plaines Rivers. A large area south of Joliet was left without power, including the towns of New Lenox, Shorewood, Mokena and Channahon.

The twister skirted Joliet and later touched down in Tinley Park, 16 miles east of Joliet on the Will-Cook County line.

Public Hearing To Classify Rivers Set By Pollution Control Council

The State Water Pollution Control Council Friday set Jan. 13 for the first public hearing to classify major rivers and streams in Nebraska.

The initial hearing, to be held in the Capitol, will ocver the northeast Nebraska counties of Jefferson, Saline, Seward, Butler, Gage, Lancaster, Saunders, Cass, Otoe, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson.

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi said classification of waters is the first step in an effort by the health department to force all communities to treat their waste discharges.

Quality Standards

The council has adopted official water quality standards for Nebraska's waters, but the council is powerless to require conformity to the standards as long as the waters are not classified.

The January meeting principally will deal with classification of the Platte, Big Blue, Big Nemaha and Little Nemaha Rivers.

Filipi said officials of all municipalities and county governments in the 13-county area and representatives of interested groups will be specifically invited to attend the hearing, with the general public also encouraged to attend.

Filipi said nine other water classification hearings will be held in other areas of the state during the coming year.

The state's water pollution abatement program heretofore has been based on the willingness of communities to voluntarily treat their sewage so as not to violate the council's standards.

Court Action

Filipi said the council now must resort to court action if necessary to force the more than 20 "straggler" communities who do not treat their waste to conform to council standards.

Filipi informed the council that he will cooperate with environmental health officials from South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri in an extensive time flow study of the Missouri River.

"With time flow studies, we will be able to tell how long, for instance, it would take poisonious substances accidentally discharged into the river in Omaha to reach St. Joseph (Mo.)," Filipi noted. "The information will be very valuable in such emergencies."

Filipi also reported he is sending a letter to Nebraska municipalities informing them that Congress has appropriated about $200 million to aid small communities in constructing water works systems and sewers.

He said the money is available through the Housing and Home Finance Administration, the Farm Home Administration or through the Public Facilities Act, with the federal funds to be matched dollar-for-dollar by local money.

State ETV Panel Is Planning Bid For More UHF Channels

Holdrege (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will be asked to reserve 14 additional ultra high frequency (UHF) television channels for educational purposes in Nebraska.

The Nebraska ETV Commission, at a meeting here Friday, approved unanimously a motion that the FCC be petitioned to reserve the channels for possible future allocation.

The locations are Hartington, Hebron, Chadron, Scottsbluff, Kearney, Peru, Lincoln, Wayne, Grand Island, North Platte, Sidney, Beatrice, Columbus and McCook.

Jack McBride, ETV Commission manager, stressed that the petition does not represent any committment on the part of the ETV Commission or the Legislature, nor does it block future commercial station applications or other and revised ETV Commission bids for channels or locations.

McBride said the seven-station basic ETV network now being developed is being received so enthusiastically that it is "within the realm of possibilitythat the basic network system will at some time run out of hours in the broadcast day," making a second network advisable.

ETV One Of Top Achievements, Says Morrison

Holdrege (AP) — Educational television is one of the greatest achievements since the advent of printing, Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday at a dedicatory luncheon for station KLNE-TV, the channel 3 ETV station located five miles south of Holdrege. The station opened in September will cover a radius of about 80 miles.

The governor declared ETV is teaching man to communicate and more than any other thing has the capability of providing equal opportunity for all people. It puts the mysteries of outer space, of science, of mathematics, the arts and other fields of learning into every classroom in the state, he said.

Other speakers at the luncheon included Dr. Theron E. Maxon, president of Hastings College; Dr. Glenn Lundstrom, president of the Nebraska Council for Educational Television; and Mrs. W. K. Bennett of Red Cloud.

A Commission meeting followed the dedicatory luncheon.

500 Here For Senior Information Event

Five hundred students from 10 Nebraska high schools have registered for senior information day Saturday at the University of Nebraska.

It is designed to acquaint students with college work through attendance at classes, discussions and campus tours.

Tornado Hits Illinois Valley, Killing One

Joliet, Ill. (AP) — A tornado smashed down the Illinois River Valley Friday.

The tornado killed one, demolished more than 150 houses and injured at least 40 persons in Preston Heights and Sugar Creek — two unincorporated areas south of Joliet.

The one fatality was reported at Channahon.

Joseph Wozniak, a traffic engineer for the city of Joliet, who was in the battered area, said that immediately afterward, "The people were crawling out of the wreckage like ants."

Joliet's two major hospitals, Silver Cross and St. Joseph's, reported their emergency rooms were jammed with injured persons.

The tornado demolished a transmission line tower and knocked out five lines from Commonwealth Edison's Dresden Nuclear Power Station at the junction of the Kankakee and Des Plaines Rivers. A large area south of Joliet was left without power, including the towns of New Lenox, Shorewood, Mokena and Channahon.

The twister skirted Joliet and later touched down in Tinley Park, 16 miles east of Joliet on the Will-Cook County line.

EXPRESSION OF CONFIDENCE AND SATISFACTION:

November 5, 1965

Dear Mr. Sommerhouser,

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you and the staff of Equitable Realty Co. for their courteous attention and helpfulness during these past three weeks.

We especially want to thank Mr. Dan Dufoe for doing, we believe, far more than would be just required of a salesman.

We appreciate so very much his patience in answering our countless questions, his help here at the house, and his offer of help in the future should we ever need it, even though the final papers have been signed.

He is an excellent representative in behalf of Equitable Realty.

Mr. & Mrs. B.
Our Sincere Thanks,
